Booksellers Hit 'Fairs' Of P-TA

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

The mushrooming "business" of book fairs is proving a boon to school libraries—but is pulling the props out from under Marin County booksellers.

"The Parent-Teacher Assns. have gone into the book business," said one bookshop proprietor. "As a result, I am losing my shirt."

Book fairs are sponsored at many schools by P-TAs. Staged during the pre-Christmas season, the fairs are drastically cutting into the booksellers' business at a time when a big percentage of their yearly sales are normally made, according to the book store owners.

"My customers have all switched to the book fairs," another dealer said. "I haven't sold a child's book in weeks."

"None of the booksellers is against book fairs as such," said John Lidell, owner of the Cottage Book Shop in San Rafael. "It is only that we object to what we consider unfair competition and the fact the P-TAs are going out of the county to purchase their stock."

Originally, the booksellers reported, the groups putting on the book fairs patronized local shops. The book dealer would supply the fair with books and fill orders for additional copies, splitting profits with the P-TA.

When the fairs began to blossom into "big business," the dealers say, they were approached by the P-TA for discounts as high as 20 per cent. They refused.

"They said either give us the discount 'or else,'" said Mrs. Florence Patterson, owner of Bookshop Marin in Kentfield.

The "or else" threat was carried out, she said, when the P-TAs went directly to wholesale book houses in San Francisco and Berkeley, where they received discounts as high as 30 per cent.

Representatives of the P-TA maintain they are doing the book dealers a favor by "stimulating an interest in reading." This, they say, increases the booksellers sales throughout the year. They also point with pride to the fact their profits are donated to the schools.

At schools in Kentfield and Reed districts, for instance, many volumes have been added to school libraries as result of the book fairs. Profits from sale of Christmas gift books at the fairs are providing a wider variety of reading for school children—and saving the school budget. Thus, the taxpayer is saved money, in the view of the book fair sponsors.

The extent of the harm done the book dealers, however, was indicated by Mrs. Mark Roth, owner of the Redwood Book and Stationery Shop in Mill Valley. "At least 25 per cent of our entire year's business is done in the first three weeks of December," Mrs. Roth said.

"If they have to go into business, why don't they pick a month like June—our 'lean' period?" she asked.

The magnitude of the "take" from book fairs can be judged by the Strawberry Point P-TA's recent fair which grossed in the neighborhood of $1,200.

Mrs. Edwin C. Nilan, chairman of the event, said the group's profit was 25 per cent, all of which is being turned over to the school for improvements at the discretion of the administration.

Mrs. Nilan said her group obtained books from the Sather Gate Book Shop in Berkeley which delivers the fair "as a package," allowing a discount based on gross sales. "They gave up 25 per cent because we grossed over $1,000," Mrs. Nilan said.

U.S. Ignores Protest On Warship Patrol

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The White House brushed aside today denunciations from the Soviet Union and Cuba against President Eisenhower's action in ordering U. S. warships and planes to shield Guatemala and Nicaragua from any Communist-led attack.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty labeled Moscow's protests the kind of "Communist-type reaction" that could be expected.

"There's a very similar reaction—the words are almost the same—from Cuba," he told a news conference.

Eisenhower's move in rushing warships into the Caribbean served notice the United States will use military force to back up diplomatic protests, if need be, to stop Cuba's Fidel Castro from subverting anti-Communist countries in the Caribbean.

Top officials said movement of U. S. destroyers and an aircraft carrier into the area was a blunt warning to Castro that he will not be permitted to expert his leftwing revolution to other Latin-American nations. (See story on page 2.)

New Park Plan Prepared For '61 Legislature

Proposal Includes Developments At Forts, Angel Island

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A new five-year plan to develop the state parks of California, is being prepared by the State Division of Beaches and Parks for submission to the State Legislature in January.

The plan, still in its formative stages, is expected to picture Angel Island as almost completely a state park, with elephant trains circling it for the convenience of visitors; the forts at the Golden Gate made a part of the parks system as they become available, and some development for all other Marin parks.

NOT YET CLEAR

Although it is not clear yet whether the new state plan will include a program for Point Reyes, Gov. Edmund G. Brown has publicly expressed himself as favoring a state park there if present plans to develop a national seashore park are abandoned.

In general, a division of beaches and parks spokesman said, the multi-million dollar, five-year plan would be development of existing parks, with new acquisitions limited "mainly to rounding out existing areas."

The two exceptions in Marin County would be acquisition of all of Angel Island from the federal government, which Charles A. DeTurk, beaches and parks chief, said he hopes will take place in the next fiscal year; and acquisition of Golden Gate military properties as they become surplus.

NO DECISIONS

No definite decisions on Marin park developments have been made as yet, however, the spokesman said.

This week, Will Rogers Jr., chairman of the State Park Commission, revealed the plan for elephant trains on Angel Island. He suggested the trains could carry passengers clear around the island park.

The State Division of Beaches and Parks' requested budget for fiscal 1961-62, which will be before the legislature in

Students Score Board's Rejection Of Bias Law

The student council at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo apologized by letter to non-Caucasian students at the seminary yesterday for the Marin County Board of Supervisors' rejection of a proposed anti-discrimination ordinance.

It was signed by 30 students from the Presbyterian seminary and sent to the eight seminarians from Africa, Australia, Cuba, Japan, Korea and the Philippines.

Declared the letter:

"As Christians and as citizens of a nation which prides itself on its recognition of the equality of all men under the law, we deplore the actions reported in yesterday's two leading news stories: first, the disobedience demonstration in New Orleans . . .: second, the rejection by the Marin County Board of Supervisors of a proposed ordinance making discrimination in housing in the unincorporated areas of Marin punishable by law.

"With a deep sense of shame, we express to you our profound regret over these two incidents. At the same time, we pledge to you that we will do everything within our power both here in seminary and during our public ministries to create understanding and fair play among men of all races and creeds, and specifically to help rectify the conditions that made yesterday's actions possible."

The proposed housing ordinance, outlawing discrimination because of race by owners of more than three apartment units or more than four houses, was rejected 3-to-2 vote of the supervisors at conclusion of a public hearing late Tuesday.

STORM BRINGS SPRINKLES TO MARIN COUNTY

Rain spattered over Marin County early today, fringe of a storm that dumped 2½ inches on Crescent City, Del Norte County on the northern coast. It reached as far south as Salinas, Monterey County.

Novato received .20 of an inch of rainfall, Mill Valley reported .25, Sausalito .24, Belvedere .15, San Rafael .05 and Woodacre .14.

Generally fair skies were forecast for tomorrow but it's expected to be colder tonight. In the Siskiyous, snow flurries were predicted.

GOP Leaders Veto Recount In 7 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders in most of the 11 states where a vote recount was suggested do not plan to challenge the Nov. 8 election results.

When GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton proposed the recounts a week ago, he told Republican officials in 11 states to look into "purported vote frauds." He urged investigation and whatever follow-up action was indicated.

AWAIT CANVASSES

No recounts are planned in Michigan, South Carolina, Illinois, New Mexico, New Jersey, Pennsylvania or Delaware. Party officials in Nevada and Missouri were awaiting official state canvasses before making a decision. That was also the situation in Minnesota, but any recount move there appeared doubtful. Texas GOP leaders have said they were considering a recount bid, but have taken no action.

Reported voting irregularities were being checked in some of the states.

MARGIN CUT

The reaction of the state leaders came as John F. Kennedy's victory margin was cut further by late counts—making it almost certain that he would end up with less than a majority of all the votes cast.

With 1,549 precincts still out and many absentee ballots still to be counted, Kennedy had 33,869,208 votes to 33,684,561 for Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon. This gave Kennedy a lead of only 184,647 out of more than 67½ million votes.

Total votes: Nixon 3,230,386; Kennedy 3,213,632.

Fifty-three of the state's 58 counties were complete.

The uncounted votes were concentrated in the pro-Nixon

New Orleans School Integration Upheld

But Federal Court Will Hear Appeal

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A three-judge federal tribunal today refused to lift orders integrating New Orleans public schools, but left the door open "for consideration" of a state request.

The judges adjourned a three-hour hearing and left in effect orders that have integrated two city elementary schools for the past five days.

LONG ARGUMENT

The panel heard lengthy arguments to (1) suspend a federal court order directing integration until federal and state differences can be resolved and (2) a motion by the state of Louisiana to dismiss all federal action ending segregation in the state's schools.

The court advised attorneys for both sides that all motions presented today would be given consideration and a final decision given, but no date for such a decision was indicated.

ASKED SUSPENSION

The city's school board asked for the suspension of the integration order after near-riot conditions and demonstrations by white teen-agers exploded in all parts of the city.

The four Negro girls involved almost disappeared in the background as the hearing took the spotlight and moved slowly through the maze of legal wrangling.

The situation at the two schools involved — McDonogh No. 19 and William Frantz — was quiet.

WITH ESCORTS

The three Negro first graders at McDonogh arrived with U.S. deputy marshals just before the bell. Police and newsmen said no white child entered the school.

The marshals also escorted the one Negro girl to school at Frantz, as has been the practice for the first four days of integration. Three white children turned out for classes at Frantz.

Spectators were at both schools to jeer the Negro children and the marshals.

Dr. James F. Redmond, superintendent of schools, announced last night that there would be a school recess next week to permit teachers to attend an association meeting in Baton Rouge from Monday through Wednesday, and the Thanksgiving holidays. Classes resume Nov. 28.

The school board yesterday had asked suspension of the federal court order to integrate.

BUFANO'S ST. FRANCIS

College Offering Statue A Home

Benny Bufano's 12-ton statue of St. Francis, threatened with eviction from its San Francisco location, has been offered a home in Marin County.

College of Marin trustees last night approved an invitation to the diminutive sculptor to place the Swedish marble piece on the college campus.

The plea for the statue was introduced in a letter to Bufano from Trustee Rupert E. Kempf. "The College of Marin would deem it a great privilege to provide a place of honor . . . for one of the great works of art of this or any century," the invitation said.

Kempf was authorized by the board to deliver the invitation in person.

Placement of the statue would be subject to approval of the school's architects.

A dissenting voice was raised by Edwin Cadogan, head of the college art department, when asked what he thought of the idea.

"If you want my personal opinion," Cadogan said, "I don't want it. I don't think it is a particularly great piece of art."

The statue is now on the front steps of St. Francis of Assisi Church in San Francisco's North Beach. The pastor, Rev. John J. Currin, wants the statue moved because he says it is causing the church steps to crack.

Bufano said today he has had "dozens of offers" of homes for the 16-foot-high statue. Among them were offers from the Longshore Memorial Assn. which announced it is ready to place the statue near the longshoremen's hiring hall at Mason and Beach Streets.

An offer of a home has also come from the Reno Chamber of Commerce. Frank Bender, chairman of the chamber, said the Nevada city would be happy to have "something the tourists won't be able to carry away."

The statue has been in its present location since 1955. For 28 years it was a center of controversy and neglect, stored for a number of years in a Paris warehouse.

At one time there was a futile movement to have the statue installed in San Francisco's Civic Center.

Net Players Assured Trip By Donations

A generous donation today from the Rafael Racquet Club assured two outstanding San Rafael High School tennis players of competing in the National Indoor Championships in St. Louis next week.

Hal Wagner, professional of the new club now under construction, made the contribution this morning to complete the fund-raising drive for Steve Stockton and Harvey Klyce.

Fred G. Hines, coach of the boys and chairman of the drive, said the club's contribution and those of other organizations and individuals have put the drive over the goal.

The boys will fly to the tournament next week, Hines said.

Earlier contributions were received from the San Rafael Elks and Kiwanis clubs, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, Cerutti Brothers, Richfield Service Station, Mrs. J. Rudolph, Alice J. Woodson, Alice Schmiedell, and R. A. L. Menzies.

Castro Sees Attack In Navy Move

Plots, Uprisings Spread To Bolivia, El Salvador

HAVANA (AP)—The Fidel Castro regime charged today that U. S. naval patrols in the Caribbean were an intervention in Latin-American affairs, a grave threat to world peace and a smoke-screen for an attack on Cuba.

President Eisenhower yesterday ordered U. S. warships and planes to seek out and prevent Communist-led attacks from abroad on Guatemala and Nicaragua.

The president acted on the written request of the two governments, targets in the past week of unsuccessful uprisings which they charged were being assisted by Cubans.

The action came as plots and possible uprisings were reported in two other countries, Bolivia and El Salvador.

The U. S. State Department said warships, including five destroyers and the aircraft carrier Shangri-La, were already patroling the high seas between Cuba and the Central American coast.

The department said, however, that any action against invasion forces would be limited to the three-mile territorial waters of Guatemala and Nicaragua.

The reaction of Cuban officials and the government-controlled press and radio was indignant.

The newspaper La Calle said the president's action was an intervention in Guatemala and Nicaragua and a grave threat to world peace.

Pastorita Nunez, a high ranking Cuban official as head of the government savings and housing institute, said in a television program that the uprisings in Central America, were a smokescreen to hide plans for an invasion of Cuba.

For weeks Castro officials have been charging that "mercenaries" were being assembled and drilled in Central American countries for a U. S.-financed invasion of Cuba.

"It's a coincidence," Miss Nunez said, "that these happenings are being produced in those countries where aggressions against Cuba have been denounced, that is in Nicaragua, Guatemala and Costa Rica."

Castro predicted last August that his revolution would light a rebellion against "Yankee imperialism" thoughout Latin America.

The United States later charged that thousands of tons of Soviet arms have been shipped to Castro.

Plots and uprising were reported afoot in El Salvador and Bolivia even as the last embers of revolt appeared snuffed out in Guatemala and Nicaragua.

Troops were reported mobilized in La Paz, capital of Bolivia, as a precaution against a possible uprising.

Communications were cut between La Paz and Cochabama, the country's second largest city, where peasants opposed to President Victor Paz Estenssore clashed with police, troops and other peasants last Mnday. About 100 sants last Monday. About 100 persons were reported killed

Last Sunday U. S. Ambassador Carl Strom was stoned and jeered by a leftist mob at Cochabamba, 150 miles southeast of La Paz.

Demonstrators marched on the police station and burned transportation offices in new disturbances yesterday. Disturbances also were reported in Santa Cruz, a rubber center on the Brazilian border 330 miles southeast of La Paz.

The military junta ruling of El Salvador, southern neighbor of Guatemala, reported last night it had thwarted a revolutionary plot. It gave no details. Unofficial reports said four army colonels were placed under house arrest after the plot was discovered.

President Miguel Ydigoras of Guatemala was given an enthusiastic reception in Puerto Barrios, chief Caribbean port, after the last of 300 rebels were put to flight.

Most of the rebels apparently escaped to the hills of nearby Honduras to the north. Guatemala planned to ask for their extradition. Only one rebel officer, the second in command, was captured.

Ydigoras has charged that "dirty gold" of Castro was used to buy up officers who participated in the revolt.

Terroristic activity continued in the Guatemalan capital. Three bombs exploded last night but caused no casualties. A suspected bomber was caught. Ydigoras has threatened the execution of terrorists.

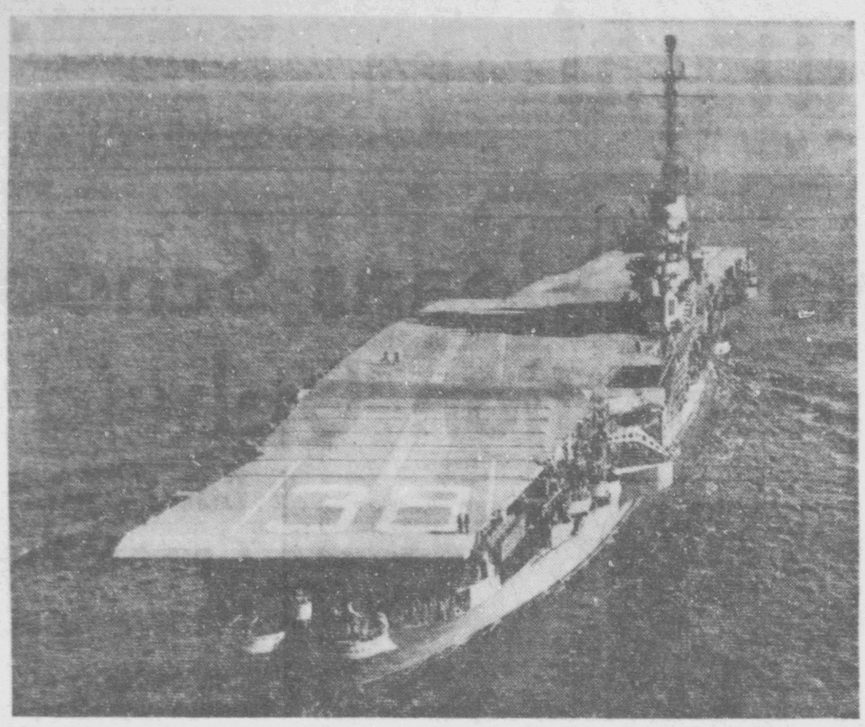

A member of Guatemala's Congress, Manuel Orellana Portilla, said he would introduce a move to declare war on Cuba if proof of Cuban meddling is presented.

The government of Costa Rica, southern neighbor of Nicaragua, said it found documents linking the revolt in Nicaragua with Castro's Cuba and communism. Costa Rica expelled a Cuban and several Nicaraguans linked with the revolt.

Nicaragua's President Luis Somoza has declared the Cuban government responsible for the uprising in which insurgents succeeded in capturing the cities of Jinotepe and Diriamba last week. They were driven out by about 1,000 national guardsmen.

Laos Premier Agrees To Reds In Cabinet

VIETIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Souvanna Phouma's neutralist government announced today it has agreed to formation of a coalition regime that will include members of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

A communique said that Laos, now largely supported by American dollars, will also accept aid from Red China and Communist North Viet Nam.

The United States has pumped about 300 million dollars into Laos since 1954 to keep the strategic Buddhist kingdom in in the anti-Communist camp. About 85 per cent of the aid has gone into the country's military and civil budget.

The communique announcing acceptance of Communist help was the first from peace talks that Souvanna opened with Pathet Lao negotiators here a month ago.

The exact composition of the coalition government "will be considered and agreed upon later," it said.

The coalition would be formed "as soon as possible," the communique said, and "must include representatives of people of all classes and patriotic qualified representatives of every political party including the Neo Lao Hak (the political arm of the Pathet Lao)."

The announcement said the Laotian government had given assurances it would "begin to accept aid from the Peoples Republic of China and the Communist Democratic Republic of North Viet Nam and will send goodwill missions to visit both countries to discuss and exchange views of economics and culture."

The agreements were the first concessions by Souvanna Phouma's government to these demands.

The Pathet Lao is led by Souvanna's half-brother, Prince Souvanna Vong. The Red Prince escaped from prison where he was held on charges of treason last May.

When Souvanna Phouma took over after a paratroop coup ousted the pro-Western Laotian government in August, he immediately made overtures to his Communist brother for a truce to end guerrilla attacks.

Souvanna Phouma's deal with the Communists came as his neutralist government was rocked by defections to rightist rebel Gen. Phoumi Nosavana, whose force controls the royal seat of Luang Prabang.

Phoumi, a staunch anti-Communist who was defense minister in the old pro-Western regime, had been offered the posts of deputy premier and interior minister by Souvanna Phouma but he refused to join the neutralist government.

Instead Phoumi started a revolt.

FRIEND HURT

Kennedy, Johnson Bag Deer

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy got two deer when he went hunting yesterday, but his friend, Rep. Terbert H. Macdonald (D-Mass.), came back with a bruised nose and no deer.

Macdonald, who was Kennedy's Harvard roommate, went hunting with Kennedy and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson on Johnson's ranch. Johnson also got two deer.

Macdonald came back from the hunt with a bandage on his nose. It was later learned that as he fired his rifle the first time the telescopic sight struck him on the nose when the rifle recoiled. He was not injured seriously.

Yanks Mistake Germans For Own, Brawl Ensues

ALTENSTEIG, Germany (UPI)—"Remember, men," said the U. S. Army captain before the start of an Army maneuver, "the other side has disguised some of its men as German civilians, so be on the alert."

The soldiers took him at his word. Half an hour later a patrol burst into a local bar and found three men drinking beer.

"On your feet," shouted the corporal. "We know who you are and you're coming with us."

They were not members of the "other side" at all. They were Germans and the ensuing brawl lasted 30 minutes with tables and chairs overturned and beer bottles sent flying. The patrol retreated.

Typewriter Stolen From LDS Church

The theft was discovered at 6:45 a.m. today by Weston L. Roe of Ignacio, who teaches a morning class at the church.

The thief entered the back door, which may have been left unlocked, forced the doors to the office of Bishop Juan J. Lynn and the library, and ransacked the rooms, Patrolman Jerry Mattos reported.

Farm Group Attacks State Labor Policy

BERKELEY (UPI)—The California Farm Bureau Federation has ended its annual convention here with an attack on federal and state labor policies and a recommendation that farmers do more to build their own farm labor force.

Official delegates from each county farm bureau included the statements in a 62-resolution policy statement yesterday that will guide the 65,000-member organization through the next session of the legislature.

The group also asked for legislation to break up labor union power, opposed a suggested surcharge on water, and called for a decrease in government control of farming.

The group suggested less dependence on the state department of employment's farm placement service, but at the same time said farmers should try to get a larger percentage of qualified workers from the agency.

Delegates said the U.S. Employment Service, which provides funds for the state agency, "is forcing agriculture to assume the burden of absorbing the unemployed, including many workers not suited for or desiring farm jobs, into productive processes of agriculture."

The farm leaders hit at proposals that the U.S. Department of Labor issue housing, transportation and wage regulations for domestic workers. They said although the issuance of such regulations was possible under the Wagner-Peyser Act, Congress did not intend it would "ever be used for the purpose of regulating domestic migratory workers."

Vehicle Stolen

Herbert W. Brown of 321 Johnson Street, Sausalito, reported to police today that his 1948 Willys station wagon, parked yesterday afternoon at Johnston Street and Bridgeway, was stolen during the night.

Dependents' Proposal Explained

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has made it clear that a new order involving dependents will not force extensive separations of military families now overseas.

Secretary of Defenses Thomas S. Gates Jr. said late yesterday a presidential order to reduce the number of overseas military dependents by about 184,000 will be carried out mainly by:

1. Having military men now overseas return to the United States with their families at the end of their normal tours of duty.

2. Returning some military men with their families before completion of their regular assignments.

3. Reducing the number of military dependents sent abroad in the future.

Gates specifically excluded from the reduction program military units in Alaska, Hawaii, the Panama Canal Zone, the Mariannas, Marshall, Midway, Samoa and Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. He said the plan should be carried out without regard to rank or station.

The reductions will start in January at the rate of at least 15,000 monthly.

Gates detailed the program after Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker implied that the dependent reduction might affect combat effectiveness. He expressed sympathy for those affected by it.

The first school for girls in Turkey was opened in Istanbul in 1858.

Gable To Be Buried Beside Third Wife

COMBINED AP & UPI

HOLLYWOOD—Clark Gable will be entombed in a crypt adjoining that of his third wife, actress Carole Lombard.

Gable, who died Wednesday of a heart attack, bought the crypt for Miss Lombard, his great love of nearly two decades ago, when she perished in 1942 in a plane crash. He also purchased one for himself at the time.

Gable was stricken by his second, and fatal, heart attack when he appeared well on the road toward full recovery.

Private funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park at nearby Glendale. Only members of the family and close personal friends will attend.

The decision to entomb him beside Miss Lombard's Forest Lawn crypt was made by his widow, Kay, who is five months pregnant with Gable's first child.

His physicians, meanwhile, gave details of the fatal illness which ended the actor's three-decade legend as king of Hollywood leading men

The physicians said Gable's death resulted from a second blood clot in an artery supplying the back of the heart.

The doctors said that heart tissue damaged in the first attack was healing well.

Organist To Present San Anselmo Recital

Ludwig Altman, whom Pierre Monteux has called "one of the greatest organists I have ever heard," will present a recital at 4 p.m. Sunday at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Altman has performed as organ soloist under Monteux and Fiedler and under the batons of Bernstein, De Sabata, Leinsdorf, Leschke, Mitropoulos, Rodzinski and Bruno Walter. He is organist at Temple Emanu-El, Ninth Church of Christ (Scientist) and for the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

During his career he has introduced new works by Schoenberg, Casella Hindemith, Kohs, Milhaud and Piston.

His recital will be at Montgomery Chapel, Bolinas Avenue and Richmond Road, San Anselmo. It is open to the public with donations taken. This will be his only Marin County peformance this season.

The program will be divided into two parts: "Music of our Time," featuring works by Bloch, Schroeder, Piet Post, Searle Wright and Paul Hindemith; the second part, entitled "The City Council of Leipzig selects a new Thomas Cantor in 1722-23," will feature compositions by Telemann, Graupner and Bach.

FARMERSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A livestock truck hit a tree off U.S. Highway 66 yesterday, killing more than 70 animals. Dead calves, hogs and sheep were scattered along the highway. The driver, Johnnie Lee Climer, 20, Grove City, Mo., escaped injury.

Can Be Excused

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The city's school board ruled yesterday that students who have parents' permission may be excused when the Bible is read in class.

Spokesmen of the American Civil Liberties Union say they are not satisfied with the ruling, however, and intend to press for a court injunction against Bible readings at city schools.

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The spinning propeller of a light plane grazed the wing of a big United Air Lines DC-6 1,500 feet over Stapleton Airfield here late yesterday.

Both planes landed safely. There were no injuries.

Radar Stolen

The officers' radar set reportedly was snatched from the roadside by alert thieves while the police were chasing a speeder.

Castro Support Wanes

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro's government was able yesterday to muster the support of only 12 of the 30 members of the supreme court for a resolution branding two refugee justices as "traitors."

Nine justices openly defied the government by voting against the resolution condemning Chief Justice Emilio Menendez and Associate Justice Jose Morell Romero. Nine others, who went into hiding Wednesday in hopes of evading the issue, were absent.

Editor Resigns

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert M. White II, president and editor of the New York Herald Tribune, has resigned, and Ambassador John Hay Whitney will take over the duties of president and publisher soon, it was announced yesterday.

White was editor and publisher of the Mexico, (Mo.) Ledger when he was named to his position at the Herald Tribune. The Herald Tribune quoted him as saying at a staff meeting yesterday that ultimately he will return to Missouri. No definite indication was made when Whitney would retire as ambassador to Britain.

Air Tanker Crashes

LIMESTONE, Me. (AP)—A big Air Force tanker plane crashed and burned on landing at Loring Air Force Base early today, killing one crewman and injuring the other 16 aboard.

The Air Force said one of the four crewmen was missing and presumed dead in the burned wreckage.

Tenement Crumbles

NEW YORK (AP)—A five-story brick tenement, in the midst of a demolition area, crumbled and collapsed with a roar last night.

All the residents escaped injury, but an 83-year-old woman had to be forcibly rescued from her fourth floor apartment.

Polaris Plan

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy will concentrate on developing a longer range Polaris submarine missile now that the last test rocket in the 1,300-mile series has been fired.

The final A-1 Polaris vehicle fizzled in flight yesterday when the second stage cut off too soon and the missile plunged into the Atlantic several miles off the Cape.

Script Writer Dies

VALHALLA, N.Y. (UPI)—Frank C. Dahm, 57, script writer in the 1930s of the "Little Orphan Annie" and "Ma Perkins" radio serials, died yesterday in a hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday in an automobile collision.

Churchill Condition

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill had a disturbed night, but his back injury is creating no anxiety, his secretary said today.

Britain's World War II prime minister, who will be 86 on Nov. 30, broke a small bone in his back when he tripped over a rug in his bedroom Tuesday.

Bombay Fire Kills 8

BOMBAY, India (AP) — A fire in a bangle factory today killed eight persons and injured 40 others, 15 critically. The flames spread through overhead tenements in the building.

Celluloid, used for the bangles, exploded in a ground floor storeroom. The blast ripped out the staircase, trapping more than 400 residents on the floors above.

Tribesmen Massacred

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Eighty Baluba tribesmen have been found massacred near the Katanga province town of Lagwe, a United Nations spokesman reported today.

The bodies were found by an Ethiopian patrol in the area which the United Nations had declared a neutral zone and had banned the carrying of arms by any but U.N. troops.

Kennedy, Dulles Confer In Florida

COMBINED AP & UPI

PALM BEACH, Fla.—President-elect John F. Kennedy conferred with Central Intelligence Agency chief Allen W. Dulles nearly three hours today on global problems, including the possible threat of a communist-led attack on Central America.

Kennedy's acting press secretary, Donald M. Wilson, told newsmen after the two-hour and 40-minute meeting that the next president and the CIA chief "discussed a wide range of matters" including tension in the Caribbean area.

Wilson said Kennedy would decline to comment on President Eisenhower's having rushed U. S. Navy units to the area in response to appeals from Guatemala and Nicaragua for help in defending against a feared "Communist-directed" attack from Fidel Castro's Cuba.

"Senator Kennedy feels it's improper for him to discuss actions of policies of the United States government at this time because he has no responsibilities until he assumes office inauguration day," Wilson said. "That is going to be his policy on all such matters between now and Inauguration Day (Jan. 20)."

Wilson made these other announcements:

1. Kennedy has deputized Paul Nitze, State Department director of policy planning during the Truman administration, to represent him at a meeting with Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Wilson said Spaak has sought a discussion of problems involving a 10-year plan for NATO which the American government proposed last December.

2. When Kennedy returns to Washington, D. C., next Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with his wife and child, he also will meet with AFL-CIO President George Meany to discuss unemployment problems.

Kennedy returned to Palm Beach late last night after a round of conferences—and several hours of successful deer hunting—with Lyndon B. Johnson, the vice president-elect.

Before leaving Johnson's LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex., Kennedy put out a statement saying they had a profitable discussion of plans and programs for the new administration which will take over from the Republicans Jan. 20.

Johnson and Kennedy plan to meet again for more planning after the vice president-elect returns from a NATO conference in Paris.

Man Burned As Blast Rips Apartments

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—An earth-shaking explosion blew an apartment dweller through a second story wall today and turned him into a human torch.

Phillip Lombardo, 41, was lifted from his bed and hurled through the wall. He struck the ground two stories below, got up and ran down an alley with his nightclothes ablaze.

Crime Czar Accardo Given 6 Years For Tax Evasion

CHICAGO (UPI)—Tony Accardo, reputed kingpin of the crime empire once ruled by Al Capone, was sentenced today to six years in federal prison and fined $15,000 for income tax evasion.

Federal Judge Julius J. Hoffman ordered "Tough Tony" to give up his life as a country gentleman on a $500,000 suburban estate for the cell of a federal penitentiary.

A federal court jury a week ago found the multi-millionaire gang czar guilty of a penny-ante tax dodge that saved him only $3,995 in taxes over a three-year period.

Judge Hoffman set Accadro's bond at $25,000 pending appeal. Attorneys for the former Capone lieutenant said he would make the bond.

Novato Council Due License Ordinance

A comprehensive business license ordinance for Novato will go before the city council Nov. 29.

The ordinance wording and the flat fees it proposes were worked out by a committee from the Novato Chamber of Commerce, a city council committee and City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. in a series of meetings which ended this morning.

The chamber committee will report to chamber directors before the city council meeting, to come up with final proposals. City councilmen Charles R. Johnson and Everett Pozzi will also present final adjustments to the council meeting. Chamber and council committees have reached general agreement on the ordinance.

The proposed ordinance sets a flat $25 a year license fee for city businesses, plus $2 yearly for each employee after the first one. It gives the city council final word on granting licenses, sets a maximum $500 fine for ordinance violations.

No licenses would be required for benefit, non-profit, fraternal, military or governmental "business," such as concerts, exhibitions, lectures. Disabled veterans who are eligible to vote are exempt from business license fees.

Other fees tentatively set up in the ordinance:

1. Non-local businesses which deliver goods or services by vehicle in the city, $35 yearly plus $15 for each additional vehicle.

2. Non-local contractors, $15 a quarter or the local rate.

3. Non-local business, not specifically covered, $25 yearly

4. Street vendors and handbill distribuors, $120 yearly or $5 daily.

5. Vehicle street advertising, $180 yearly or $10 daily.

6. Auctioneers, $200 yearly or $15 daily.

7. Coin operated machines, $2 yearly; cigarette machines, $10 yearly; juke boxes, $25 yearly.

8. Amusement arcades, pool and billiard halls, ice and roller skating rinks, $50 yearly.

9. Dance halls, $100 yearly.

10. Circuses and carnivals, for which a charge is made. $300 for the first day and $100 each additional day.

San Rafael Man Jailed For Attack

Clayton Harvey Wagner, 40, San Rafael auto agency employee, was jailed yesterday on a charge that he raped a 13-year-old girl in Reno.

Sheriff's Inspectors Marco Melovich and Bowen Bridges arrested Wagner on Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael on a warrant of arrest from Reno. The inspectors recognized Wagner from "wanted" posters distributed throughout the state. The suspect has severe scars on his face from burns.

He was held in Marin County Jail for Reno authorities in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Cranberries Get Clean Bill Of Health

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has given the 1960 cranberry crop a clean bill of health.

Secretary Arthur S. Flemming of the Health, Education and Welfare Department said yesterday that all reports of this year's crop—expected to be a record one—have been "favorable."

Flemming said the U. S. Food and Drug Administration has been watching the crop "very closely," and had found no evidence of contamination by aminotriazole, a weed killer which has caused cancer in laboratory animals.

Flemming's disclosure three weeks before Thanksgiving last year that parts of the 1958 and 1959 cranberry crops had been tainted by the weed killer dealt a severe blow to the cranberry industry.

'Dream Schools' Called Difficult To Come By

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Education that was good enough for grandpa isn't good enough for today's children—and it wasn't good enough for grandpa either.

State superintendents and commissioners of education from across the country have been wrestling with that problem at a three-day meeting that ends here today.

It's easy to talk about the "dream schools" of tomorrow, they said, the new and beefed-up courses of study and the wonderful electronic devices that will make learning easier and better.

It's something else to translate dreams into classroom action.

"The idea of changing the high school curriculum is not new," J. Lloyd Trump of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals told the Council of Chief State School Officers Thursday.

"It has been talked about for years. But of all the major proposals that have been made since World War I, only two have been generally adopted—vocational education and extra curricular activities.

"Remember radio? Once radio was going to be a great boon to education, it was going to bring great ideas to all the people. But some people saw it as a threat to the teacher. And others said it was dangerous that some mysterious 'someone' would use it to dictate what people would learn.

"And the same arguments we once heard against radio we are hearing again today against educational television, teaching machines and other new techniques."

Trump referred to proposals for stiff new courses in seven fields of study, presented by a group of experts here, and asked: "Have we learned our lesson? Are we going to doom these great ideas to failure because we are too busy, because we don't have the teachers, the buildings, or the money?"

The play presented at Ford's Theater on the night of April 14, 1865, was Tom Taylor's celebrated comedy, "Our American Cousin," with Laura Keene in the leading role. President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated during the third act.

DOGGED DEER BEDEVILS HOUSEKEEPER

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI)—Housekeeper Christine Rose was going about her chores for Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Boyle Jr. yesterday when there was a bang at the door. Guests were not expected.

She heard hoofbeats thundering down the hall.

She started out of the kitchen and caught a glimpse of a deer sliding around a corner and into the bathroom.

Two hound dogs pelted in the open door only a minute behind and began racing wildly about the living room.

"I was terrified," Mrs. Rose reported. "The deer was slipping and sliding every time he tried to get up. The dogs were yowling in the living room.

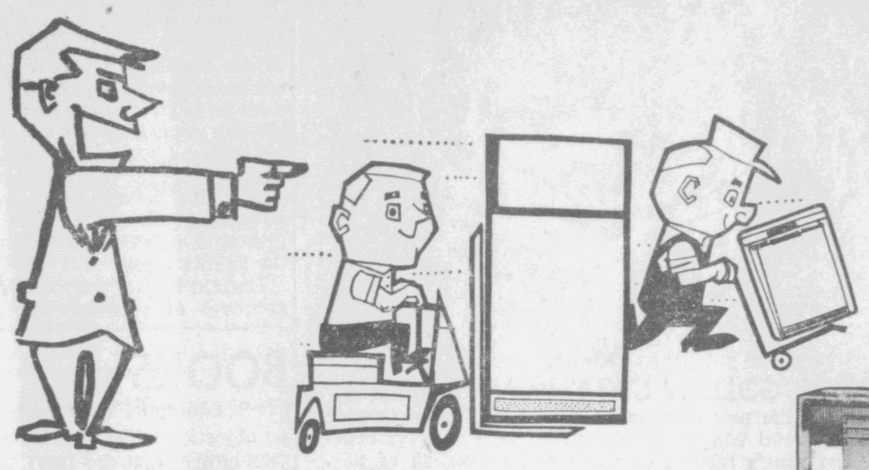

"The deer finally got his footing and came running down the hall. He ran into the living room and with one leap jumped over a chair and right through a window. He must have jumped 12 feet."

Mrs. Rose, who had sought cover during the melee, chased the dogs out a door a few minutes later.

Bank Proposal Passed By Fairfax Planners

Fairfax planning commissioners gave unanimous approval for a new Bank of America building at School Street and Broadway last night.

The eight commissioners (there is one vacancy) consider only off-street parking, which they approved. Final step is a building permit from Building Inspector Robert Roy.

Bids on construction of the one-story brick structure with peaked roof will be opened at 3 p.m., Nov. 30, by the Continental Service Co. of San Francisco, property management agents for Bank of America.

Plans call for demolishing the 39-year-old Bank of America building at Broadway and Bank Street in Fairfax.

The new building will be located on the west side of the old site. Main entrance will be from Broadway, but there will be a side entrance from School Street.

A black-topped parking area for 20 cars will cover the site of the old bank and the wooden building now housing the city council chambers.

City councilmen have been studying plans for a civic center in which the council chambers would be located in the present fire house.

Branch manager Joseph C. Crean said the plans for the new bank provide for 10 tellers' windows—twice the number in the old building.

In other action last night the planners voted to join the reactivated Marin County Planning Council for $25 per year. The council is designed to stimulate cooperation of the various planning commissions in Marin County. Daniel M. Miller, chairman of the Fairfax Planning Commission, will be the Fairfax representative.

The commissioners denied a two-lot subdivision requested by Melvin C. Bridges at 26 Redwod Road because of inadequate parking space.

NEW 'GOLDEN GATE' WING EMBLEM

This is the new emblem of the 349th Troop Carrier (Golden Gate) Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base symbolizing the wing's mission of airlift and evacuation of personnel. The bird is a mythical "wyvern," shown clutching a combat-ready paratrooper. The flames coming from the creature's nostrils represent the group's ever-ready manpower while the globe indicates worldwide scope of action. The colors in the field are black and blue, symbolizing night or day readiness. The motto means "Prepared for All Things."

Three Liquor 'Hijackers' Sentenced

Three of nine "hijackers" of a $75,000 load of whiskey stolen in Emeryville and abandoned in Fairfax in June were sentenced to prison and fined today.

They were Philip Granata, Berkeley restaurant operator, his son, Frank, and Harold Marsh of Sacramento.

The elder Granata was sentenced to four years in prison and fined $4,000 by Federal Judge Sherill Halbert in Sacramento. His son, Frank, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail and five years probation. A five-year suspended prison term also was imposed.

Marsh received a $500 fine, six months in jail, a suspended three-year prison term and three years probation.

The nine were charged with stealing the whiskey shipment from the Pacific Intermountain Express terminal in Emeryville.

The Granatas were convicted by a jury in federal court. The other seven pleaded guilty and were tried only by the judge.

PARKS

The division's requests were described as a "status quo" budget by Ronald E. Miller, deputy chief of administrative services. No major acquisition or development program for Marin County are included. An $80,000 item is listed for completion of acquisition of the two parcels of the Golden Gate military reservations already declared surplus by the federal government. The amount will be added to the $250,000 made available in this year's budget for their purchase.

More than 60 per cent of the division's eight million dollar budget is scheduled for Southern California, Miller said. He called it "a complete washout" as far as Marin County is concerned.

Actually, it includes $35,000 for a new comfort station and $7,500 for water facilities at the south end of Stinson Beach; $3,500 for 35 new picnic areas at Tomales Bay State Park, and $1,000 for minor improvements there; $14,700 for a new comfort station on the top of Mount Tamalpais, and one new state park attendant for Angel Island. Nothing is in the budget for Taylor State Park.

Miller said there also is talk in the division about the possibility of establishing a conservation camp on Angel Island for island cleanup, construction of fire trails and similar work.

counties of San Diego, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino.

Hundreds of thousands of votes for unpledged presidential electors and minor party candidates will cut further Kennedy's percentage of the national popular vote. Most states will not report votes for splinter parties until the official canvass. The last of these returns will not be in until next month.

Even if Kennedy winds up with less than a majority, he will of course still be the winner—barring an unexpected upset in the electoral vote lineup. His 300 electoral votes are 31 more than the 269 needed for election.

Sausalitan Files Assault Charge

Alan Bottarini of San Francisco was booked at the Marin County Jail early today on charges of assault and battery brought by Carl Cotton of Apartment 207, Ebbtide Apartments, on Bridgeway at Waldo Point in Sausalito.

Sausalito Police Officer Tom Zink said he was called to the apartment at 1 a.m. by Donald W. Lehman, who said he had been assaulted, and on arrival saw Cotton standing in the doorway holding a large stick of wood.

Lehman was in the living room, his clothes spattered with blood, mouth bleeding and one eye blackened. The door to the partment had been smashed in, Zink said. Chairs and tables were overturned.

Cotton told police Bottarini broke in the door, threw Cotton to the floor and smashed the furniture after a dispute that began at a party being held by Karen Hoover and Marilyn Silva in apartment 208.

4-H Club Plans Show Tomorrow

It'll be "down on the farm" tomorrow at the county courthouse.

A calf, sheep, rabbits, chickens and vegetables will be on display as part of a Novato Aggies 4-H Club project to show what club members accomplish.

The display will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Osteopaths' Suit Hits Corte Madera Ruling

Two Corte Madera osteopaths asked Marin Superior Court today to stop town officials from interfering with the practice of their profession in their home at 22 Mohawk Avenue.

The town councilmen have ordered Vernon V. Casey and his wife Gertrude, both osteopaths, to stop using their home as professional offices to treat patients.

The Caseys filed suit today against Corte Madera and William G. McBride, the zoning administrator for Corte Madera.

Before they bought the home, Mr. and Mrs. Casey allege that McBride and Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow Jr. orally assured them they could practice their profession at home as a "home occupation."

On that assurance, say the Caseys, they spent considerable money to convert the home for their practice. They charge that the town has no right to force them to stop using their home for treating patients.

Caesarean Birth Planned By Mrs. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Jackie Kennedy will enter a New York hospital in mid-December for the caesarean delivery of her second child.

It will be the second such delivery for the 31-year-old future first lady. A Washington physician said the risk involved in a caesarean delivery was "practically infinitesimal." The delivery will be made in a Manhattan hospital.

Mrs. Kennedy suffered two miscarriages before her daughter, Caroline, was born three years ago this Nov. 27 and this presumably was a factor in the decision to deliver the second child by surgery.

Del Mar Estates Open To Public

Del Mar Estates II, a 21-acre home development at 600 Tiburon Boulevard, will be open to the public starting at 10 a.m. tomorrow, Frederick C. Rowley, president of the Tiburon Development Corp., announced today.

The development includes three to five-bedroom homes in the $30,000-$35,000 bracket and features lots laid out so that all homes will have a view, unobstructed from other houses. The corporation has offices in Little Reed Heights as well as at Del Mar Estates. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Rowley said.

Marinship Planning Report Finished

Planning consultant Frederick Allen's report on his one-month study of Marinship was delivered today to Sausalito City Manager Charles A. Brown, but Brown said it will not be released for publication until he is given permission by the city council to do so.

Planner Allen told the Independent-Journal today he has suggested a zoning pattern and circulation pattern for the polyglot area in which "we leave the people alone."

He said he is recommending approval of proposals for a shopping center and office building and 75-unit garden apartment.

Allen added that he suggests a waterfront which will be "something of the nature of a Greenwich Village." His plan will have a great bearing to the waterfront of a great many communities up and down Richardson Bay, he said.

He said he has worked closely with members of the Marinship Property Owners Assn. and that "it would appear from the owners that they are content with the report."

BOOKS

est objection to the fairs is that they have progressed from the children's book business to the point where they will order any title in publication.

"Since the wholesalers give them the books on consignment and offer them discounts we cannot afford to give, their fairs obviously cut into our business," said Frank Pershina, owner of the Golden Hind Book Store in San Anselmo. "My business is far less than last year's—especially in children's books."

Book dealers are given discounts according to the number of books they buy at one time, Lidell explained. The new discount schedule of the San Francisco News Co., one of the dealers supplying the fairs with their stock, gives only 10 per cent on a single volume. The percentage increases to 37 per cent with the purchase of as many as 50 volumes of the same title.

"Obviously, this works a hardship on the smaller shops who cannot afford to stock too heavily," Lidell said. Since his is the county's largest book store, Lidell says he gets most of his books direct from the publishers. Unsold books can be returned at a slight loss, but the wholesale houses do not refund on unsold goods.

Mrs. Roth pointed out also that dealers must pay personal property tax on their inventory. "I pay the same inventory tax on my stock as I pay on a $30,000 home."

As to the legality of the P-TAs "going into business" at the schools, the activity is apparently perfectly proper, according to County Counsel E. Warren McGuire. His "offhand opinion" is that nonprofit organizations are permitted the use of tax-supported buildings under the state civic center act.

City ordinances do not require P-TAs and similar organizations to take out a business license for a book fair.

Mrs. Nilan said her organization takes out a temporary re-sale license with the State Board of Equalization and pays the required sales tax.

Weavers Exhibit Extended To Dec. 11

The Contemporary Handweavers of California textile exhibition at the M. H. De Young Museum in San Francisco has been extended until Dec. 11.

The display, which includes the work of a number of Marin weavers, was originally scheduled to close Dec. 4.

Judge Finds Man Guilty Of Assault

Robert W. Lane, 43, of Kentfield, who attacked Fairfax attorney Carl B. Shapiro and threw a typewriter at Shapiro and his wife, was found guilty today of assault and battery.

Lane, who works for a shipping company in San Francisco, sat impassively before Judge Joseph G. Wilson as Shapiro related what happened Oct. 19 at his law office in Fairfax.

Shapiro said Lane accused him of turning off the utilities at Lane's home in San Anselmo. Shapiro was attorney for Lane's landlady, who was trying to evict Lane and his family.

Shapiro testified he pushed Lane away about three times and threw a file divider to defend himself. When Mrs. Shapiro tried to call police, Lane grabbed the receiver from her. "He then picked up the typewriter and threw it like a shot put," Shapiro recalled.

Lane, who represented himself in the trial, had no witness and told the judge he had nothing to say in his defense.

Judge Wilson found him guilty and set 3 p.m. Dec. 8 for sentencing.

William V. Zahn, 25, Succumbs

An autopsy was performed today on the body of William Victor Zahn, 25-year-old San Anselmo grocery clerk who was found dead in his room yesterday.

A note in the pocket of a pair of pants hanging in the closet read, "I just can't cope with this any longer." The note was unsigned.

Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo police said that, despite the note, evidence of suicide was lacking. The body bore no mark, and no poison was found in the room, Chief Buchignani said.

Zahn, a clerk at Drake Market in San Anselmo, had been absent from work two days because of a cold. Mrs. Johnson said she talked with him at 1 p.m. yesterday when she took him a glass of orange juice. At 5:45, she went to call him for dinner. Receiving no answer, she looked in the room and found him dead.

Zahn was a son of Victor Zahn, a Berkeley psychologist. The father told police his son had been moody and depressed.

West Envoys Disturbed Over South Viet Charge

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Some strongly anti-Western overtones are emerging in South Viet Nam just one week after paratroopers tried to seize power in a thwarted coup. The United States, Britain and France are getting the blame for the uprising.

British Ambassador Harold Hohler was reliably reported to have made a strong personal protest to President Ngo Dinh Diem last night.

American diplomats were known to be equally disturbed. Diem's anti-Communist government has been bulwarked by U.S. aid poured in at the rate of 250 million dollars a year.

Hohler's protest was over a handbill distributed in the name of the powerful Citizen's Anti-Rebels and Anti-Communist Committee which said that during the coup attempt the insurgents and political opportunists had the help of colonialists and imperialists, American, French and British.

The ambassador said this was "totally false," informed soures said.

Vietnamese charges, made on various government and private levels, follow two lines—that some "foreign elements" may have had a hand in encouraging the paratroops to violence, and that over the past months there has been a "campaign of disparagement" against the government.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Novato Council Should End Rash Of Secret Meetings

It is disturbing to us when the City Council of the county's newest city takes so lightly its legal responsibility to keep the people of Novato informed.

Novato City Council held four non-public meetings to discuss the problems of putting a road through a subdivision before Tuesday night's public meeting.

It is discouraging that new public officials would so soon attempt to circumnavigate the clearly defined state law governing them.

We can only hope that the councilmen have not fully realized their responsibilities in this regard and do not yet understand the full import of the Brown Act provisions which require them to meet in public.

Of its most recent private session one member excused its secrecy by saying, "It was purely discussion." Another declared, "It was not designed for the council to take action."

They seem to be overlooking the portion of the Brown Act which says this: "It is the intent of the law that their (public agencies) actions be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly."

This portion of the law means exactly what it says. The Golden Gate Bridge directors asked their attorney if the law means that committee meetings of the bridge directors must be public meetings. He answered in the affirmative.

In an opinion handed down just last month dealing directly with city councils, the state's attorney general cited the section of the Brown Act that "deliberations be conducted openly." Then he said this: "Under the Brown Act, all meetings must be conducted publicly, with the exception of meetings considering employment or dismissal of personnel."

We hope the Novato council is just getting its feet on the ground. Certainly we hope the councilmen have not adopted the attitude of "we'll do things our way and to heck with what the people know about them."

It is important that the people know why it was decided to put a road here rather than there. It is important that they know the reasoning that led up to the decision.

If they get the idea the councilmen are talking road problems in private, why wouldn't they be talking other things privately too? the people might well ask.

Such uncertainty or even mistrust on the part of the residents of a city toward their councilmen is not healthy. The obvious way to avoid it is to follow the advice of the governor of California: "Do the government's business in a department store window."

Acorn Season

Our Marin oaks have been giving birth to multitudenous acorns the past month. Some trees we have seen would make a Miwok Indian drool with delight and hunger.

Marin's squatty, little aborigines were great acorn eaters. Except for a few live oak acorns, they had to be ground and washed to remove the tannic acid and other impurities before they were edible. This was no easy task with the primitive equipment they had.

Some folks are a bit inclined to belittle our California Indians. These plump, unaggressive, little fellows were not their idea of the Noble Redskin. But we are prone to admire them.

They were quite backward in many ways, but they were well adapted to the conditions of Nature in this region. They learned how to use the lowly acorn as a food and thrived upon it.

We always think of the Miwok in acorn season.

Jersey Devil Is A Monster Born Of Myth, People Still Believe It

By JOHN KOLESAR
(For Hal Boyle)

The screams that residents of Dorothy, N.J., have heard in the night and those big tracks in the earth they have seen are probably caused just the way the state troopers have said—by Halloween pranksters.

For the Jersey Devil is a monster born and sustained by myth, press-agentry and reporters.

The myth has it that the Jersey Devil was born in 1887 in Estellville, a little community about 15 miles west of Atlantic City and five miles east of the hamlet of Dorothy.

Supposedly a Mrs. Leeds was expecting her seventh child, didn't like the prospect, and wished that it would be a devil. When the time came, it was born a devil, and immediately flew up the chimney and out into legend.

Since then, it supposedly has been seen a number of times.

What did the devil look like? It was cloven-hoofed, long-tailed, with the head of a collie dog, the face of a horse, the body of a kangaroo, the wings of a bat, half-human, half-animal. Sometimes it had 11 feet and exhaled fire and smoke.

How about the truth? Prof. Curtis D. MacDaugall, of the journalism school at Northwestern University, seems to have the most logical explanation.

He says the Jersey Devil is the concoction of Norman Jefferies, a press agent for C. A. Brandenburg's Museum in Philadelphia in 1906.

MacDougall, in his book on hoaxes, says Jefferies ran across the story of Mrs. Leeds in an old book and decided to use it in a publicity stunt.

THEN JEFFERIES topped the whole thing by arranging capture of the beast in Hunting Park, Philadelphia.

IT WAS a kangaroo—purchased in Buffalo, N.Y.—painted green and white and harnessed with bronze wings. The leap was prompted by a small boy with a stick.

Residents recently reported hearing screams and seeing footprints around Dorothy. Police say it was only Halloween pranksters. But local folks know better—it was the Jersey Devil, they say.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Matt Graham replied to critics of his work as Golden Gate Bridge director through a letter to the supervisors refusing to admit he had squandered taxpayers' money and declaring he had tried to represent "taxpayer, merchant and commuters." Carl Spring of Sausalito's citizens council complained to the supervisors that Graham answered only questions of his own choice.

20 YEARS AGO

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District accused the State Toll Bridge Authority and the Highway Division of diverting traffic from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Carquinez Toll Bridge recently acquired by the state.

Stinson Beach residents complained that the Shoreline Highway wasn't safe, especially between Overhanging Rock and Stinson Beach.

Grateful To I-J For Music Aid

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Without your understanding and generosity, art and music could not survive or flourish.

Without space in your paper, many of Marin's artistic and cultural activities could not enjoy success.

My grateful thanks to you and to the owners and publishers of the Independent-Journal, to Mrs. Maebelle Speckmann and Don Keown, for their and your sympathetic support of Marin's musical institutions, large and small.

Must Get Back To Political Work

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I liked your editorial of Nov. 10 on the election, especially your closing line: "And now, back to work."

You are too nimble to engage in a battle of semantics, but I wonder what you mean by "work?" I guess you mean, "Let's go back and do what we were doing before we started this campaign."

For most of the workers of both parties this is not only a desirable therapy, but necessary for economical survival. Some of them might well ask just what we think they have been doing these past three months — if it wasn't work!!

May I, however, take exception to the idea that we should now lapse into political inactivity until the next campaign of 1962? The workers of both parties, as well as the electorate of Marin, turned in an object lesson for the whole nation in their performance last Tuesday—92.4 per cent of the electorate voting!

What America needs is this deep political involvement of its citizenry, people who act instead of talking, people who think instead of vegetating, people who make the two-party system really work.

The election being over, I trust you will not accuse me of self-seeking for my party if I take this occasion to give particular public praise to our Republican headquarters workers and precinct teams. These people even went into the hospitals to glean the votes of the patients, and one of them wrote this note to me on election night:

"At 6:30 this evening—one-half hour before the polls closed—my precinct had 100 per cent Republican votes cast!! One Demo had failed to show up by my quitting time—shortly after 6:30. Otherwise the Demos did pretty well too . . ."

That is a masterpiece of understatement and a stunning tribute to those of both parties who consider political activity a priceless privilege of the free man.

On this Veterans' Day 1960, it is appropriate to remember America's free men of other times have bought this privilege for us at the price of their own life blood. The least we can do is go back to work—political work—to strengthen it!

Can't Courthouse Be City Hall?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In reading the articles on the new (San Rafael) city hall, we have been left to wonder about the use of the present courthouse after the new courthouse is finished in the meadows.

People we have asked have not been able to explain why the San Rafael city administration should not simply move across A Street into what should make a commodious city hall in the ideal location.

(NOTE: One reason is that the courthouse will not be emptied by the first phase of construction at the civic center. It will probably be 10 years or more before the courts, for example, are moved out of the courthouse.)

They Don't Look As Dark Now

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I deeply and sincerely want to thank you and all the many wonderful people in Sausalito and Marin County who contributed to the Robert Borzone Fund.

My thanks also extend to the many good hearted business men and women in Sausalito, who devoted their time and property in my behalf. I'm sure that each one of you knows that the funds given are being used to their utmost medical advantage.

I'm now reassured that my hours spent in service to the people of Sausalito were used to perform an appreciated task for a majority of deserving and thoughtful people.

Because of everyone, things don't look as dark as they could have. Thanking you again.

Theaters Run Terror Movies Because People Go To See Them

My friend Don Donohue, the motion picture magnate from Novato who rides herd on the Novato and Tiburon Playhouse theaters, recently had his troubles.

It seems a group of organized, irate mothers, concerned about their children's film fare, put Don on the witness stand at a public meeting and called him to task for the generally low level of movies coming out of Hollywood.

According to reports, Don handled the situation with aplomb, common sense and reason.

When asked why the theater owners made available to children such terrifying movies as "Psycho," to name only one, and films dripping with sex, mayhem and murder, Don's reply was simple logic itself.

The answer was money.

THE REASONING behind his reply was that if patrons will stand in line to look at Gina Lollobrigidia's bosom, Marilyn's bedroom eyes and Hitchcock's terror, why should a theater owner bother with "The Life and Loves of Little Bo Peep?" After all, he is in business.

Exhibitors pay money for the films they show. They are chosen, Don tells me, on the basis of box office reports from other cities. If "Psycho" did a whopping gross in St. Louis, it stands to reason it won't fall flat on its face in Marin.

PERSONALLY, I think the mothers, many of whom call me from time to time to suggest I write a column on the evils of unacceptable films, are unduly concerned over the effect such pictures have on their small fry.

My own children, both of whom are now teen-agers, have seen their share of films I would not have chosen for them. I honestly don't feel they have had a lasting effect on their mental balance.

The few times in their lives they have waked up shouting in the dead of night were usually the result of much more mundane experiences than watching Mike Hammer scrag a lovely blonde or an invasion of earth by creatures from outer space.

When I have been able to make out the words of their loud nocturnal conversations, they were usually a replay of a healthy brawl with their classmates over a disputed football or a coloring set. My daughter also went through a period where she was terrified of owls, although I hardly think it likely Hollywood contributed to the fear.

I ALSO FEEL that the steady and seemingly unending stream of trash, both on the silver screen and over the magic lantern of TV, tends to dull the impact of a few real shockers. And, in my opinion, more grade-A harm is done children of today by the so-called "major" productions dealing with Hollywood's interpretation of American life and love than by their terror films.

I have spent far more time straightening out their warped interpretations of such pictures than I have soothing their nervous systems after they have watched something on the order of "I Was An Apprentice Bloodsucker."

In my youth, the films had much more lasting effect simply because they were so few and far between. When you saw Charlie Chaplin, W. C. Fields and Buster Keaton on an average of once a year, the enjoyment of the classic was something to remember for a long time to come.

The same holds true of the chillers. I still sit bolt upright in bed on occasion when I recall Lon Chaney in "The Phantom Of the Opera," a thriller to end all thrillers which I saw at least three times, circa 1925.

IN ANY CASE, mothers and fathers everywhere can take heart in the news that book sales are on the increase. Perhaps if the parents who are so concerned over their children's movie habits were to bother to increase their own libraries, their children might discover the joys of reading and demand less canned entertainment.

My statistics on mounting book sales, incidentally, come from Mrs. Mark Roth, owner of the Redwood Book Shop in Mill Valley. I find it hard to believe, but she tells me the national gross of books is now just slightly less than that of peanut butter.

"This is a healthy sign," Mrs. Roth opines philosophically. "Last year we were barely ahead of cranberries."

Japanese Voters Expected To Repudiate Anti-Americans

WASHINGTON—The anti-American, pro-neutralist, anti-defense treaty riots, which forced President Eisenhower to cancel his trip to Tokyo, are about to be repudiated by the Japanese people.

This is the predictable result of the Japanese general election on Nov. 20.

There are four indications of a decisive victory for pro-Western Premier Hayato Ikeda and the Liberal Democrats whose leadership is consistently anti-neutralist.

THE JAPANESE public has recoiled with displeasure and distaste at the organized violence of the Socialists and Communists.

The Liberal Democratic party of Premier Ikeda has been uniformly supported in local elections since the riots.

In recent elections for governors in rural prefectures, where the Socialists and Communists were united behind the same candidates, the voting strength of the Liberal Democrats was not even dented.

In American political terminology, the Japanese people quite literally "have never had it so good." They are going to vote accordingly.

Under the policies of the Liberal Democrats, who are conservative in their economics, the Japanese have experienced six years of unexampled prosperity and economic growth. While President-elect Kennedy aims to bring the U. S. rate of economic growth to 5 per cent, the Japanese rate of growth during the past year was a phenomenal 16 per cent.

THE EXPECTED victory of the Ikeda party, which unqualifiedly supports the Japanese-U. S. defense treaty, does not mean that the Japanese voters unqualifiedly support the treaty. There is no doubt that this election is turning more on economic policy than upon defense policy.

Premier Ikeda's program promises to double the average family income in 10 years —from $330 to $660, with a 25 per cent advance during the next four years. The record of the Liberal Democratic government has earned credit with the Japanese people and the more radical proposals of the Leftist parties, like government ownership of industry, have as little appeal in Japan as in Britain, Germany, and France.

But Premier Ikeda in nearly every speech of his campaign has made the defense treaty as a foremost commitment of his government. He is condemning the political riots of last June and he is making it clear that support for his party means rejection of the neutralist policies of the Socialists.

Premier Ikeda knows it is impossible and he is putting his pro-Western, collective-security position so prominently to the fore that the voters can have no doubt what course he will pursue.

COUNTY RUNOUT?

Jury Probe Asked In Resignations

Grand jury investigation into alleged pressures resulting in resignations of several Marin County department heads was advocated yesterday by Gibbs Lawson of Dillon Beach, a member of the county recreation commission.

Lawson, one of four speakers on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," declared he had heard "on authority" that high-level county employees had been told they would have to conform to "a new type thinking" in county government or lose their jobs.

If this is true, he said, it should be investigated by the grand jury.

The program sought to probe the reasons for recent resignations of County Administrator D. A. Jensen and County Counsel Leland H. Jordan, and the announcement of Planning Director Mary Summers that she will quit at the end of next year.

Other resignations in the courthouse are on the way, some of the panel members claimed.

One of the panelists, Mrs. Thomas McDougall of Mill Valley, said she had made a personal survey of reasons for the resignations and got answers varying from "looking for more highly paid jobs" to "rats leaving a sinking ship."

County Auditor Leon A de Lisle, a third panelist, said the officials have valid reasons for resigning. He pooh-poohed the "runout" theory.

The fourth panelist, W. J. Doll, a Dixie School District trustee, asserted bitterly, "We are turning the county over to the junior varsity."

The program will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, with Kitty Oppenheimer as moderator.

Stolen Repair Truck Found At S.F. Pier

An auto repair truck stolen from Joseph Faustine of San Rafael Wednesday was found yesterday by harbor police, parked in front of Pier 39½ in San Francisco.

Faustine, who operates at 423 Francisco Boulevard, said most of the good tools were missing from the truck. It contained about $4,000 worth of parts and tools when it was stolen from in front of the shop.

Major Leal Retiring From Army

Maj. George P. Leal of 72 Meadow Road, Mill Valley, is about to start selling Marin County real estate following retirement this week after 20 years of army service.

He has been serving as supply and logistics officer for the 40th Artillery Brigade at the Presidio. His military career began in 1940 when he joined the National Guard in La Jolla, San Diego County, accompanying his outfit to Hawaii before Pearl Harbor.

In 1942 he completed officer candidate school at Camp Davis, N.C., after which he served in anti-aircraft artillery defense until 1945 when he left the service. He was recalled to active duty the following year for service in Hawaii, the Philippines and Okinawa.

Before a 1951-2 Korea assignment, Major Leal attended officers' course at Fort Bliss, Tex. Since then he has served with the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

Salesman Freed Of Beating Charge; Wife Disappears

A San Anselmo used car salesman was freed of child beating charges yesterday because his wife, the complainant and key witness, has disappeared.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court dismissed the felony charge against Arthur Burton Norwitt, 29, of 174 Meadowcroft Drive, because the prosecution could not proceed with the preliminary hearing.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said he has reason to believe that Norwitt's wife, Carol, is deliberately avoiding the service of a summons to appear in court as chief witness. San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani and Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio have been trying to serve the summons without success.

Garety said he believes Mrs. Norwitt is avoiding service either through coercion or unlawful influence of some kind.

"If we get evidence to prove this," Garety declared, "I intend to present the case to the grand jury for possible prosecution."

Norwitt was arrested last month on a complaint by Mrs. Norwitt. At that time, she was insistent on having her husband prosecuted for mistreating 4-year-old Candice George, her daughter by a previous marriage. She told police he grabbed the girl by the hair and flung her to the bathroom floor.

Education Aide Predicts Adoption Of Statewide School Test Proposal

A state education association official predicted yesterday that California will adopt the statewide testing proposal recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee on Education.

Dr. James Corson, executive secretary of the California Assn. of School Administrators, spoke at the Tamalpais Union High School district office in Larkspur to a meeting of the North Coast section of the association.

Corson said public confidence in testing was a result of encouragement by school people. He said it could be a good thing if the state became a kind of repository of data, if abuses of the program were guarded against.

The official said he thought the program could do some good, depending on how it was administered.

Corson forecast a "real knock-down and drag-out" fight, however, if the state attempts to adopt the citizens committee recommendation for statewide standards. This would mean the state would determine what child should be promoted. Corson said a single standard could not be used to apply to all pupils.

The official said one of the big issues in the legislature this year would be a proposal to allow state employees—including teachers—to use collective bargaining in setting of wage scales.

The group of administrators also heard Dr. Kenneth Brown, professional services executive for the California Teachers Assn. Brown discussed the eight professors' report on the San Francisco city schools and the CTA statement issued on the report.

He blasted the professors for failure to qualify terms used in their report. They did not look for individual differences in children or schools and showed "no modesty at all" in their report, he said.

Brown charged that the professors exceeded "educational propriety" by firing so many broadsides at education in general. That was why the CTA decided to make a statement, he noted.

Much of what the professors said was acceptable, but there were sharp differences of opinion, the executive observed.

Brown acknowledged that perhaps the CTA response was too harsh in its choice of words (he helped compile the response.) The word "reactionary" made the professors extremely angry, but it was not inaccurate because they wanted to go backward, he said.

The professors also reacted very angrily to the statement "academically petty and snobbish." Brown said maybe the CTA should not have used such terms, but they were accurate.

In no case did the professors consult "anyone in the field of education" before they came up with their recommendations, he claimed. They did not even consult their colleagues at Stanford and the University of California who are international experts in such fields as teaching of reading, he said.

One of the major purposes of the CTA response was to tell people, "Wait a minute; don't swallow this thing whole," Brown said.

Maybe the general outcome in the long run will be good for education," "if the scars left aren't too deep," he added.

No-Compromise Stand On Napa, Litho Use

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night adopted a no-compromise stand on purchase of nine acres of waterfront area at Napa and Litho streets for recreational use.

Chairman John R. Minton said the commission, pleased that the city council had indicated it favored acquiring all or part of the area, would notify the city fathers, "If the answer is up to us, we will not accept any compromise" on purchase of the full nine acres.

For the first time the commission spelled out specific uses of the area. They are: A lagoon for sailing small boats, a small children's playground, tennis courts, benches and walkways for viewers, a moderately sized fresh water swimming pool, and offstreet parking for persons using the facilities.

The area is owned by Sausalito properties, Inc.

The recreation commission also:

1. Heard a report from commissioner Alfred M. Arenz that Mrs. Jack Woods of Sausalito has agreed to give an artist's rendering of the development of a portion of South View Park.

2. Announced that a committee has completed a working draft of the long-range recreational development program and copies will be given to commissioners in one week.

3. Was told by city manager Charles A. Brown that 48 per cent of the annual budget has been spent, leaving $5,706.

4. Also learned from Brown that the city has collected $700 from building permits in the Buena Vista Heights subdivision, which the commission will use for maintenance and development of Bayside Park. Fifty dollars is collected on each building permit issued which is to go toward park development.

Jury Indicts Confessed Slayer Of 3

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Three murder indictments charging Chester Otto Weger, 21, with slaying three Chicago area women in Starved Rock State Park were returned today by the LaSalle County Grand Jury.

The panel filed six indictments against Weger before Circuit Judge Leonard Hoffman, three accusing him of earlier crimes against victims waylaid in lonely sections of another state park nearby.

The indictments came quickly after the former park lodge kitchen helper's confession yesterday and re-enactment of the killings.

The victims, prominent Riverside, Ill., matrons, were bludgeoned in a lonely park Canyon March 14.

Weger, a dishwasher at the park lodge at the time of the triple killing, broke down early yesterday and told authorities he slew the women during a robbery attempt. The prisoner, who has a sex offense record dating back seven years, denied sex was a motive.

Foundation Plans Night To Get Funds

A Sausalito Foundation night will be held Dec. 5 at the Valhalla Inn to raise funds for the organization, which is devoted to preserving the community's natural beauty.

It will be held from 4 p. m. to 2 a. m. and will include dinner and entertainment, although patrons will be required to purchase their own refreshments, publicity chairman John Minton said.

The staff of the restaurant will contribute its time to the foundation; the restaurant, normally closed on Mondays, will be open.

Tickets for the event may be purchased from foundation treasurer Alice Williams at Post Office Box 567, Sausalito, or from any of the following firms: Eastman-Ravizza Agency, Langsam Realty, Hettrich Realty, Marin Hardware, Sausalito Hardware, The Mart, The Tides, Hans Mose Union Station, Words and Music, Bob's Market, Vogue Cleaners, Valhalla Inn, Klein TV and, during the week prior to the foundation night only, at Sausalito Drug Co.

The oldest Volkswagen in America.

© 1960 BY VOLKSWAGEN OF AMERICA, INC.

The oldest Volkswagen in America (a vintage '45 model) was found on a farm in Emerson, Nebraska. It was still working every day for Harold Kuhn, its owner. It was sought out not to put in a museum, but to prove a point: a Volkswagen may grow old, but never obsolete.

The 1945 Volkswagen was driven 1,500 miles to VW headquarters in New Jersey. It averaged about 22 miles per gallon. (Not nearly the mileage you'd get in a new VW, but not bad for a 15-year-old car.) At VW headquarters it was placed side by side with the newest Volkswagen in America (the 500,000th to come over).

You can't see too many differences in the two VWs. The new Volkswagen has: larger front and rear windows, heftier bumpers, new chrome strips and hub caps, different turn indicators. Otherwise, you might mistake the oldest Volkswagen for the newest.

If you took both cars apart, though, you'd find that almost every part has changed since '45. (Most new parts fit any older model.) Volkswagen keeps finding new ways to improve the VW to make it last even longer. Yet not one change in 15 years has made a VW obsolete. Volkswagens depreciate less than any other car.

Come in and see us for a new Volkswagen. Do it today. You'll be making a good long-term investment for tomorrow.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Kiddies Who Eat At Franchini's Get To Take Home Mask Menus

Although Halloween is several weeks past, youngsters regard it as reoccurring everytime they coax their parents into dining at Franchini's West End Villa. The animal masks you see there are actually children's menus—quite extensive ones, too, with eight different selections. Popular indeed are the small fry who've made a complete collection of bear, lion, tiger, dog, bunny and Santa Claus masks over many visits, for they are theirs to take home.

We dropped by here for crab cioppino last Friday night, this being almost a hallow'd custom which started with the late Pete Ostaggi for the crab season and has been followed by the Franchinis, father and son, who are most ideally suited, to my mind, to perpetuate West End traditions.

Give it time and one day the constant flow of diners will just naturally expand it into something much larger. Whether known then as West End Villa or Franchini's it will always be typically Marin—having a little bit of the old along with the new.

WORD from the Gambit, tiny bistro in Santa Venetia, is that chef Arthur McMillan is now serving a nightly buffet with a choice of two hot entrees, changed daily and priced very reasonably at $1.75.

Open from 3 p.m. to midnight seven days a week; meals which include short order selections are served from 6 to 10. Arthur is an expatriot from several fine San Francisco spots, so knows his cooking.

I'VE HEARD from Kirby Atterbury that he'll keep the Caprice in Tiburon open this year for Thanksgiving dinner served from 1 to 9 p.m. Last-minute reservations here will very likely be hopeless—better make them ahead of time. Regular menu and turkey dinners.

A NEW ORGAN BAR is Max Horowitz' latest innovation at his Colonel's Ranch Wagon, played nightly Sunday through Thursday by George Scrimger of Novato.

It's a Hammond with vibrachord and chimes attachments, bringing to this dinery the canorous sounds of dinner music those evenings through the week when the Gene Byrnes Trio is elsewhere engaged.

AND SPEAKING of organ bars, I've neglected to mention that Doris Gurley of Kentfield is replacing Monie Mulcahy at Sabella's Tuesdays through Saturdays since Monie left last Sunday on a six weeks holiday cruise aboard the President Cleveland.

WARMED to the point of good listening by a late hour peach flambe spiced with liberal dashings of liqueurs at Fleur d'Lys the other night, we learned of Robert Charles' inclusion among top restaurateurs of the country as set forth in "Great Restaurants of America," a new book by Holiday Magazine epicures Ted Patrick and Silas Spitzer, and an excellent guide for gastronomes to some of the outstanding eating houses from coast to coast.

It was written before Robert and Cherie Charles opened their San Anselmo spot and so dwells on their San Francisco cuisinery—else I am sure the former would have been included.

For what it is worth, and though this writer's testimony will never be spotlighted in the outside world to the extent of Patrick and Spitzer's, we'd like to add our compliments to the San Francisco Fleur d'Lys which we've tried,and of which San Anselmo's is a charming abridgement. The latter, however, has succeeded in conforming to Marin County's own standards.

May it someday receive equal recognition with its more celebrated prototype.

THE PROKUPEKS and the Nevls of Inverness Lodge have a new addition to their staff—Allen Vladimir Nevl Jr., born to Alena and "Vladya" senior this last Sunday. Mother and son are doing fine, but pop is all in a dither trying to decide where junior will best fit in—Inverness Lodge, Drake's Arms or the riding academy. We'll bet on the last named.

Grandparents Manka and Milan Prokupek are equally jubilant and dithered respectively—Milan will undoubtedly add six new cabins to the Lodge or expand the dining room — or something.

I HAVE a memo here from Harry Abras who evidently handled the transaction that Mrs. Edith Duthie, proprietor of the Coffee Office, San Anselmo has sold out to one Bob Stewart from—hmmm . . . well, I'm not going to call up this time of the night and find out. If you must know, why don't you ask him?

New Revue Opening In Sausalito

Written by Jerry De Bono and Larry Paxton, the original revue is in the tradition of new faces. It is directed by George Felker and has a cast of 15 Bay Area little theater performers, including Reta Bowen, Jean Gordon, Carla Geraghty and Ralph McGlothlen from Marin.

The play, scheduled to open off-Broadway in the spring, takes a satirical look at the '60s and an affectionate look at the '30s. It will play Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. at 668 Bridgeway.

The cast also includes Andra Wahl, Frankie Dewey, Anne Haslett, Helen Frye, Jim Levaggi, Jim Mulholland, Bill Asp, Glen Wilcox and Bill Willford. Tickets may be reserved by calling the theater.

Little Theater Slates Tryouts

Tryouts for the Sausalito little theater's first 1961 production, George Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance," will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the theater at 745 Bridgeway.

Fred Adair will direct the satire and will cast six male and three female roles for the production scheduled to open on Jan. 28.

MARIN FILMS

Good Suspense Drama Coming To Rafael

By LES DARD

RAFAEL THEATER

"Midnight Lace" (color) is a mystery melodrama starring Doris Day and Rex Harrison. It is also one of the better offerings of its type in the 1960 film season. It opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.

Miss Day portrays an American heiress happily wed to Harrison, a British industrialist. Then one day she hears a queer, high male voice calling her name in a thick London fog—and a threat to kill. At home, the phone rings — the same voice, further threats to kill.

Enter Scotland Yard as the script begins to offer suspects.

Is it Roddy McDowell, the sneaky son of the charwoman? Or John Gavin, who reminds the Yard of a "telephone crank"? Or shifty-eyed Herbert Marshall? Could it possibly be flighty aunt Myrna Loy, whose behavior seems to belie a native shrewdness?

Suffice that the production has been handsomely mounted. Miss Day fitted with splendid clothes. The solution is a surprise and the whole business quite well done.

LARK THEATER

"Carry On, Nurse" is a new British comedy which establishes that the male animal cuts a pretty sad figure when bereft of his pants.

A hospital serves as the setting for this romp, which follows the day and night activities of the patients, old and new.

Wilfred Hyde White is the best known name in the cast of this holdover feature on the Larkspur screen, where it's breaking house distance records.

SEQUOIA THEATER

The jaguar is perhaps the most beautiful—certainly it is the most deadly—of the killers of the Amazon jungle.

Two jaguars, one spotted and one black, are the stars of Walt Disney's latest True-Life Adventure, "Jungle Cat," which opens Sunday on the Mill Valley screen.

Three Disney naturalist-cameramen spent two years following these jaguars from the snarls of their mating battle to growling tenderness with their offspring. It's all in color.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"Solomon and Sheba" (color) is a gaudy spectacle, filled with big battle scenes and starring Yul Brynner and Gina Lollobrigida.

Solomon (Brynner) is portrayed as a brilliant monarch whose growing wealth alarms Egypt's pharaoh. The latter sends his ally, the Queen of Sheba (Gina) to bring him down if she can.

Plenty of battle scenes mark this "De Mille type" drama.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Anatomy of a Murder," strictly a straight talk film based on the best-seller, is the current feature. And if at times it emphasizes anatomy more than murder, it's still also one of the most engrossing courtroom dramas in many a year.

"Anatomy" tells of an Army officer (Ben Gazzara) who admits killing a man. He declares his victim had assaulted his wife (Lee Remick).

The suspense springs from the effort of defense attorney Jimmy Stewart to win freedom for his client.

NOVATO THEATER

"Let's Make Love" (CinemaScope, Deluxe Color) is a fast-paced comedy-romance which offers Marilyn Monroe (for the men) and Yves Montand (for the ladies). It opens Sunday.

Plot? Montand is a billionaire and MM is a hoofer-singer in and off-Broadway revue which plans a lampoon of Montand's many romances.

So what does Yves do? Why he drops in to see what it's all about. One look at Marilyn and he's had it. The remainder of this romp concerns the mating game.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

The reason for its excellence is Burt Lancaster as Gantry: a liar, a cheat, loud, cruel, an adulterer, sacrilegious, unscrupulous, funloving and lusty; Sinclair Lewis' 1927 Gantry in the flesh.

He is a salesman of shoddy wares who wanders into a revival meeting and learns that his fraudulent eloquence can leave the sinners hanging onto the tent poles. Roaring, slapping the Bible, hollering about "that old-time religion," he puts life into the revivals of Sister Sharon Falconer (Jean Simmons) and brings them both to the big time.

And it's in the big time that he is exposed. The finale possesses an Old Testament fury.

Estimate: Adult fare.

MOTOR MOVIES

"All the Fine Young Cannibals" (CinemaScope, Color) spins a tale of very mixed-up young people and the troubles they can get into without half trying. It opens Sunday.

It starts in a Texas town, where Natalie Wood becomes involved with Robert Wagner. When she discovers that she's "in a family way," she grabs an eastbound train and meets Yaleman George Hamilton.

Later, learning that she is pregnant and not suspecting that another may be the father, he weds Natalie, installs her in a mansion and floats off on a sea of liquor. (Everyone does).

Chances Held Slim For Higher Taxes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno) says chances are slim the 1961 legislature will go for higher taxes.

"We have just about exhausted our tax resources," commented Burns, president pro tem of the Senate, to the California Taxpayers' Assn. here next Thursday.

Sen. Burns noted additional funds could be raised through sales, ad valorem, excise and income taxes. But he said money might be saved by eliminating abuses in the state's welfare program.

'Nutcracker' Ballet Slated Dec. 11, 12

The Bay Area Ballet Company will perform the complete "Nutcracker" again this year at the San Rafael High School Auditorium, on Dec. 11 and 12 at 2:30 p.m.

Under the direction of Leona Norman of San Rafael, principal parts will be danced by Kathleen Weiss, Jody White and Helene Henderson of Marin. Ron Poindexter and Gwen Barker will be guest artists from the Pacific Ballet and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

The second act, with its choreographic demands, will be danced by members of the company. The party scene in the first act, however, will be performed by Marin County children.

Tickets for last year's performance were completely sold out 10 days before the concert. They are available this year at Hoy's, Marin Music Center, Miracle Music Store and the Tides in Sausalito.

More than 20,000 sperm whales are killed each year. A 60-foot whale yields 80 barrels of sperm oil.

'Laura' Sometimes Made The Seats Hard

By BRUCE COLEMAN

It was a perfect night for murder. The wind was blowing, rain was dripping over the old Tamalpais Valley Clubhouse and the script had the word written in.

But, for much of the presentation of the Tam Players' mystery drama "Laura," the players did not rise to the occasion.

The seats, which never seemed hard during the players' latest "Rhubarb Review," were tiring to the "Laura" viewers. Leading man Alan Burdick, as Mark McPherson, didn't seem to believe he was the inspector, although he had the part and looked the part and spoke the lines.

It was amazing, because he was the same man who took the audience by storm in his first stage part in "Taming of the Shrew." He was a swashbuckler of the first swash.

New to the valley, Mike Geisler, playing Waldo Lydecker, was quite strong in his part, that of the smooth-tongued jealous lover.

There were other moments when the chair softened. When Burdick got angry, he showed the most promise. When the attractive Laura (Harrie Batz) and her real-life husband playing Shelby Carpenter (Morrie Batz) fell into a diatribe, it seemed right real.

Hangdog boy lover Danny Dorgan (Lance Week) smarted under the mother-son relationship Laura meted out to him.

The two players supplying the laughs were welcome—Bessie the maid (Margot Reynolds) and Mrs. Dorgan (Lois Snow). Bessie, wearing grapes on her hat, got a lot of laughs, Mrs. Dorgan was funny when she drawled out her lines in the way you suspect a landlady should.

As for Olsen (Dan Mulcahy), his brief moment on the stage was not enough to get much of an idea of his prowess.

Directed by Jay Irving, the play will be presented again at 8:30 p.m. today, tomorrow and again next weekend.

Housing Starts Below Last Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department reports housing starts picked up in October but still lagged well below last year's level.

The department estimated yesterday that work was begun on 107,000 housing units. This represented an annual rate of 1,231,000, or 15 per cent more than the September rate of 1,066,000.

The improvement, however, failed to erase all of the decline from August to September, and left housing starts last month 11 per cent lower than a year ago.

Look For Levy, Curtice To Come Up With Surprise Play Tomorrow

HANLEY

Both Jack Curtice and Marv Levy may be expected to use one or two "new" plays in tomorrow's Big Game, just as Stanford and California coaches have been doing since 1892 when the west's oldest football rivalry started.

Actually they will not be completely original plays, unless Curtice or Levy is struck with a revolutionary gridiron idea such as Knute Rockne's forward pass concept that changed football from a battering-ran contest to a game combining both skill and strength.

The "new" plays introduced in the 63rd Big Game will be novel only in the sense that Cal or Stanford will be using them for the first time this season. Such plays, with their element of surprise, must work the first time they are used or their value is lost.

FACE RACED to his right in what had all the earmarks of a simple reverse which suddenly turned into a double reverse as he handed off to right half John Bond going the other way. Nothing new in that, but the innovation Curtice added to the double reverse surprised Cal's defensive right half who came up to cover, guessing wrong on Irv Nikolai's role in the play.

The Cal defensive half figured Nikolai merely was a decoy end since Bond was not noted for passing. This time, however, Bond uncorked a 40-yarder to Nikolai to the Cal three-yard line and a moment later Face scored on an end sweep.

THAT WAS the only pass Bond threw in that Big Game, but he practiced it for a week. It succeeded partly because of its surprise element, but chiefly because the entire Stanford team executed it perfectly, particularly the Indian line with magnificent blocking while the double reverse was forming behind the fullback's fake smash.

Success of all plays, "new" or routine, depend upon execution. There was never anything secret about Rockne's Notre Dame practice sessions. His biographer, Francis Wallace, relates that once Rockne put up a sign in South Bend reading: "Secret Practice. Come and bring your notebooks."

ON ANOTHER occasion, Wallace writes, Rockne sent an Army scout the plays he planned to use against the Cadets when he learned that the scout missed a Notre Dame game he was to cover. Notre Dame won with the exact same plays Rockne sent the scout but Army, misinterpreting Rockne's generosity as a ruse, prepared to meet different plays.

"It isn't the plays that win," Rockne said, "it's the execution."

Bears Four-Point Favorites Over Injuns; Game On TV

Stanford and California, coming off the most miserable combined football seasons in their long and illustrious grid careers, battle tomorrow in the 63rd "Big Game"—with nothing at stake except a bit of history.

The Golden Bears, coached by young Marvin Levy, are established as four-point favorites on the basis that they won a game this year (against Oregon State) and also had a tie (with Washington State) for a 1-7-1 mark. Stanford, without a single victory, is 0-9.

The game is a complete sell-out with 76,780 expected—despite the fact that it will be televised (ABC) in the western half of United States; and also will be on two network radio shows with 17 stations participating.

The coaches are keeping their strategy secret. But the best guess is that Stanford, with Dick Norman passing and Dale Ostrander on the receiving end, will take to the air for most of its yardage.

California, with a stronger running attack, featuring fullback George Pierovich and halfbacks Billy Patton and Steve Bates, will stay on the ground and attempt ball control. However, quarterback Randy Gold can both pass and run and is expected to mix 'em up.

This is the second instance in modern times that Stanford has gone into the Big Game without a victory. The last occasion was in 1947 when Marchie Schwartz sent a club into battle with an 8-0 record. But for all except the final two minutes of the game, the Indians were in front.

Then came a freak play. California was on its own 20. Quarterback Dick Erickson took the ball from center and handed off to fullback Jackie Jensen, later to gain fame as a baseball star. Jensen fumbled the ball, picked it up and passed 15 yards to Paul Keckley, who then rambled 65 yards for the touchdown that gave the Golden Bears a 21-18 triumph. And the Bears were in the Rose Bowl with a 9-1 record.

No such honor can go to the winner this time.

In the 62 previous games, California has won 27, Stanford 25 and 10 have ended in ties.

Traditional Games Spice Coast Gridirons Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traditional football battles spice the West Coast football menu this week with the Washington Huskies aiming for additional prestige at the expense of Washington State.

Coach Jim Owens' powerful club, with an 8-1 record and ranked fifth in the Associated Press national poll, already has won the Big Five Conference title and wrapped up the Rose Bowl bid.

On the other hand, the California Bears and Stanford Indians have won just one game between them—the 14-6 triumph of California over Oregon State. Yet proving the pull of tradition, a capacity throng of 80,000 is expected to watch the two clubs in Berkeley.

UCLA, with only a 10-8 loss to Washington and a tie with Purdue blemishing its record, will be favored to trip cross-town rival Southern California at the Los Angeles Coliseum. UCLA counts on speed and the all around capabilities of tailback Bill Kilmer who can boost his bid for All-America.

Oregon has the speed for its traditional meeting with Oregon State at Corvallis. Quarterback Dave Grosz and halfbacks Cleveland Jones and Dave Grayson have been instrumental in giving the Ducks a 7-2 record.

Oregon State at 6-3 has two great tailbacks — sophomore Terry Baker and junior Don Kasso. The latter led the assault against Stanford last week while the former had been the national leader in total offense. No one will forget last year when OSC lost four in a row but came on to capture the finale from Oregon 15-7, after the Ducks had been 8-1.

Idaho and San Jose State start activities tonight at San Jose as Idaho aims for its second victory of 1960 and the Spartans hope to snap a three-game losing string.

Saturday night in an intersectional at Stockton, the College of the Pacific Tigers battle the Iowa State Cyclones. The Midwesterners are heavy favorites with tailback Dave Hoppman and fullback Tom Watkins the dual big guns.

USC Prexy Denies Anti-A. L. Quote

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of the University of Southern California has denied saying he doesn't want the American Baseball League to move into Los Angeles.

Dr. Norman Topping was quoted yesterday as saying he hoped to lodge a protest against such a move with Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, but was unable to keep a date with Frick.

Dr. Topping said later he is concerned about the future of intercollegiate athletics, as the disputed story said, but has not opposed establishment of an American League team here.

Topping denied he had an appointment to discuss the matter with Frick. He said he never asked for such an appointment.

Missing Ax Touches Off College Feud

BERKELEY (UPI)—The ax, traditional victory trophy of the big game between Stanford and California, was missing today from its resting place here.

Police said they were told the Stanford Union had received a call from the "fearsome five" who claimed to have stolen the ax. It was not known whether the group was made up of California or Stanford students, or whether it even existed.

California students assumed that Stanford men were the culprits and retaliation was swift. One squad from Berkeley set loose 175 dyed blue mice in a women's dormitory. Another plastered the Stanford campus with gold C's and a third bombed the Farm with propaganda leaflets from a low-flying plane.

ON THE WARPATH

A group of students at California then announced that they had somehow come into possession of the huge Stanford banner—a 10 by 35 foot strip of bunting which usually hangs behind the Indian rooting section during grid contests. They suggested the banner might be traded for the ax.

Money was also in the safe where the ax resided, but was not touched, according to the police.

Sausalitan To Pilot Boat In Internat'l

John Scarborough of Sausalito will skipper the St. Francis Yacht Club's entry in the International Starboat Races at Rio De Janiero next month.

Drop Football? No! Say COM Students

College of Marin students last night gave a flat "no" answer to the proposal that football be dropped at the college.

In a letter signed by Barry McGough, president of the Associated Students, the student council said "the showing made on the field by Coach Harry Peiper and his team was something to be proud of."

The suggestion to discontinue football was made at the last board meeting by Trustee George G. Washburn.

"The opinion expressed at that time was a minority opinion, and did not reflect the feelings of the rest of the board," Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy said last night. "The majority of the board wholeheartedly supports football in its proper perspective as we do all other college activities."

This season, the college lost six of its games and cancelled the remaining games on the schedule because of injuries and eligibilities.

"It matters not who won the contest," the student council said, "but how the contestants conducted themselves."

The two other trustees present at last night's meeting, Kent O. Seymour and Rupert E. Kempf, concurred with Mrs. Deedy in her expressed opinion.

The student council letter added that a committee of students was now studying the college athletic situation and would have recommendations for board action in the near future.

"The spirit and enthusiasm this semester have shown a magnificent increase," the letter added. "At no time has students' personal pride in the college been higher."

Ex-Fairfax Pro Leads Almaden

SAN JOSE (AP)—Eddie Joseph, former professional at the Meadow Club in Fairfax, racked up seven birdies for a 5-under-par 67 yesterday to take a two-strok lead in the opening round of the $7,500 Almaden Open Golf Tournament.

Joseph, now a pro in Oroville, is two strokes ahead of Joe Greer of Yakima, Wash. and Gary Loustalot of Sacramento.

Two of Joseph's successors at the Fairfax Club are five strokes behind him at 72. They are Bob Moore, now a pro in Salinas, and Leroy Silva, the current Meadow Club pro.

Star Is Suspended

DETROIT (AP)—Jeanne Omelenchuk, Detroit speedskating star, has been suspended from competition in 1960-61 by the Amateur Skating Union.

Season's Climactic Weekend; Only Two Games Worth Shouting About

CONNOLLY

Comes it now the climactic weekend of the football season with "Big Games" a dime a dozen. All across our fair land the oversized representatives of the bloom of youth will be knocking heads in traditional battles.

From the Harvards and the Yales to the Stanfords and the Californians, this is the time to do or die for dear old Alma. Some of the hardest doing and dying will be done by the old grads the night before and the night after the game.

This mass psychiatric treatment will release enough frustrated inhibitions to put half the brain shrinkers out of work. Unless the good wife piles 'em back on again on Sunday morning by pointing out what a fool you made of yourself.

From where I sit there are only two games worth shouting about. The first involves the U. of Kansas and the U. of Missouri, a game which will make or break the Mo. Tigers as the nation's top team. It has been Kansas' tough luck to run into Syracuse, Minnesota and Missouri on weekends when each of those three teams has been ranked number one in the national polls.

Even Veep Nixon didn't run into tougher competition than that.

THE OTHER important game involves our own Bears and Indians fighting it out in Berkeley for the bottom rung of the Big Five ladder.

Let Washington have the top spot. ANYONE can WIN. This Big Game will determine the Egghead Championship of the West. Loser take all.

Off the record, California should lose hands down. It boils down to a contest between coaches. Certainly Phi Beta Kappa Marv Levy of California should have no trouble losing to a Stanford coach with the disgustingly plebian name of "Cactus Jack." On the other hand, Coach Curtice of Stanford has done a remarkable job of running up a perfect string of nine straight losses this year.

THAT'S HARD to beat, and will probably put Cactus Jack in line for an honorary degree if he should pull through a loser.

What the Bay Area teams need is a quarterback like the one who won the Big Game by calling for "Play 13," a little used strategem. After receiving congratulations, the puzzled coach asked his quarterback how in the world he had come up with that particular play.

"Nothing to it, coach. I just looked around, saw two of my linemen standing there, and added up the numbers on their backs. Eight and six. Thirteen. Nothing to it."

"You nincompoop!" sputtered the coach. Eight and six are fourteen."

"Hell, coach," said the quarterback. "The way you do arithmetic, we'd NEVER win a game!"

ALMOST LOST in the shuffle is the come-back game of the San Francisco 49ers with the hapless Texans at Dallas on Sunday. After two weeks off the locals should move better than in their last outing and should have a chance to try their "new" offensive weapons, Ray Norton, Abe Woodson and C. R. Roberts.

Don't be surprised if the 49ers find they have their hands full. The Texans have not won a game this year, and you can bet that they have picked the San Franciscans as their best bet for a win. No team, not even Stanford, WANTS to lose 'em all. Look out for an "up" Texas team against a "down" and overconfident bunch of 49ers.

Humboldt Rooters Zaniest Of 'Em All

EUREKA (UPI)—It's a little late for politics, but if they could vote here today, Humboldt State's football coach Phil Sarboe could be elected president of everything in the area except the corner bank.

The populace of this Northern California lumbering and fishing community is ga-ga over Phil since his football team has posted a 9-0 record this season and a string of 18 wins in a row. One battle remains on the regular slate—against Lewis and Clark on Thanksgiving Day.

If Phil was popular before, the thing that has made the people love him all the more is the "slight" he received from the Northern California Football Writers Assn. Monday.

That organization named Joe Verducci of San Francisco State the region's "coach of the year." This despite the fact that Sarboe's team defeated the 'Gators.

"We wouldn't have minded if the writers had chosen Cecil Coleman of Fresno State as the top coach of the area," said one of the Humboldt State athletes who helped burn San Francisco sportswriters in effigy. "We wouldn't have a beef in the world. Fresno State has a fine football team and an unbeaten record, too. But to name Verducci after he lost to us is hard to believe."

Everywhere in Eureka and in neighboring suburbs of Arcata, where Humboldt State is located, the talk is about the Lumberjacks' football in general and Sarboe in particular.

Yesterday, for instance, Mayor Dalee M. Dolson proclaimed a "Phil Sarboe Day." And a special assembly was called at the college to name Sarboe "Coach of the Year."

This, by all odds, probably is the zaniest, mixed-up town in the country when it comes to college football.

Caravans of 500 fans plus the band travel by car and bus 300 or 400 miles each weekend to see the team play when it has an out of town engagement.

In a time when most college football attendance is down in the west, the Lumberjacks turn 'em away at the gate. They play in a stadium that seats about 6,500—but regularly show before seven to eight thousand per game.

And that isn't all. The game itself is played a bit differently here. For instance, all practices are held indoors in a huge field house—because the fall weather up here is unpredictable.

The makeup of the team is different than you might find at Harvard. For instance, one of the linemen—Manuel Simas—a 5-foot-10, 230-pounder, is a 27-year-old bartender and has seven children.

And what more could any fan ask?

JV GRID SCHEDULE

Terra Linda's First Season Big Success

While the varsity high school football teams in the Marin County Athletic League roared to a seasonal halt last week with everything from winless to unbeaten records, brand new Terra Linda High, fielding only a junior varsity squad, proudly and quietly brought its first season to an end with a commendable 5-2 won-lost record.

The pioneer club, headed by mathematics instructor and former San Rafael High line coach Pete Limm, went undefeated in the last four tilts, scoring its widest margin with a 33 to 6 victory over Lowell High School's sophomore team of San Francisco. In the final game on Terra Linda's schedule, the Marin gridders nailed down their highest point total in any one game by smashing Lincoln High School Junior Varsity, 38 to 20.

It is believed Terra Linda will continue a junior varsity schedule until 1962 when it can enter official Marin League competition with upper classmen on the squad. This year's team was made up of sophs.

Starting an athletic program at a new school presented some problems, but Coach Limm pointed out, "We're coming along as fast as can be expected."

In its first season Terra Linda was handicapped by the lack of some facilities. For the first three weeks of practice the players, after tackling, blocking, etc., on a dirt field, had no showers to look forward to, at least until they got home. There were no lockers either.

"It was a little confusing those first few weeks," said the personable coach.

The players are now provided with lockers and hot showers, which they welcome because they still practice on dirt field.

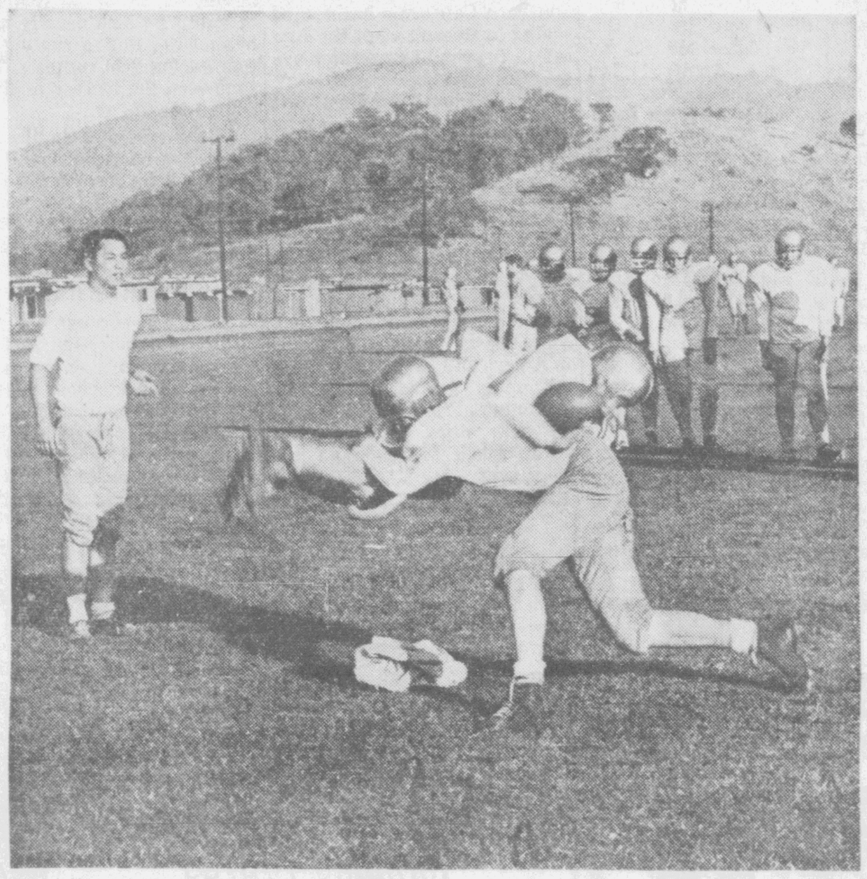

Whether these rugged conditions had something to do with the team's fine 5-2 record would be only for speculators. Limm, during his college days at San Francisco State, was a first-string linebacker under the two-platoon system, and firmly believes that what makes tough teams is blocking and tackling.

"We are a balanced club with no special phase of attack; so training next season, as it was this season, will be in fundamentals," said Limm.

For a brand new team and school with the responsibility of attempting to initiate what may be a tradition of 5-2 records or better, Terra Linda High is well on its way if the Vacaville game is any example of a future trend.

Almost half of the 400 students in the school, including some faculty members, attended the game against the Vacaville Junior Varsity at Concord. Terra Linda not only had more fans than the home team, but won a 14-13 thriller over the home bodies.

Terra Linda's games and scores for 1960 were as follows: Lost to Del Valle J.V. at Concord, 33-to-6; beat Marin Catholic J.V. at Kentfield, 34 to 14; lost to Novato at San Rafael stadium, 25-6; beat Lowell High J.V. at Terra Linda, 33-6; beat San Rafael sophomores, 37-14; beat Vacaville J.V. at Vacaville, 14-13; and beat Lincoln High J.V. at Terra Linda 38-20.

Fred Haney Resigns From Television Job

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fred Haney, ex-manager of the Milwaukee Braves, says he is not rejoining NBC-TV on its baseball "Game of the Week" series next season.

Haney said his announcing job will be taken over by Joe Garagiola, who has been an announcer for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Haney resigned as the Milwaukee pilot after the 1958 season so he could spend his time with his family here. He said he is not interested in another managerial job.

Smith, Roberts To Start For 49ers Against Dallas

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—San Francisco's 49ers stick to the usual starting alignments when they play the Cowboys at Dallas on Sunday.

One exception, previously announced by Coach Red Hickey, will have J. D. Smith at halfback and C. R. Roberts at fullback.

The switch became necessary with the ankle injury suffered by veteran Hugh McElhenny two weeks ago. Smith moves from fullback into Mac's halfback spot, with Roberts, former Southern California star, moving into the starting alignment.

John Brodie starts at quarterback, although the veteran Y. A. Tittle was reported sufficiently recovered from a groin injury to see action if needed. R. C. Owens opens at the flanker.

Hickey made no changes in his defensive platoon.

Perkins Vs. Santos

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Eddie Perkins of Chicago and Chico Santos of Oakland, former Portuguese lightweight champion, meet here tonight in a 10-round boxing match. Perkins is favored.

Glasses are being developed to protect the eyes of space travelers from sudden brightness outside the earth's suffused atmosphere.

Pittman Leader In Cajun Classic

The 23-year-old Pittman had a two-stroke edge on the pack by virtue of a 6-under-par 34-31—65 round over the flat, 6,531-yard Oakburne Country Club course yesterday.

Tied in the runnerup spot at 67 were Frank Boynton, Orlando, Fla.; Jon Gustin, Gladwyne, Pa.; Jay Hebert, Lafayette; Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif., and veteran Frank Stranahan, Crystal River, Fla.

Jacques Plante of the Montreal Canadians has won the Vezina Trophy for goal tending five times.

PRO CAGER JUST RESTING

Raiders May Play Final Home Games At Candlestick

The Oakland Raiders now hope to play their final three home games in December at San Francisco's Candlestick Park instead of Kezar Stadium.

Approval of the move is expected to be granted next Wednesday by San Francisco's Park and Recreation Commission.

"If the Raiders meet the conditions, we very likely would have no objection," Commission President Walter A. Hass Sr. said yesterday.

If it is permitted to play at Candlestick, the American Football League club would pay 10 per cent of its net receipts and a $2,500 minimum — the same rent paid at Kezar.

Raider President Chet Soda said the move would enable Oakland to avoid a Dec. 16 night game at Kezar against Denver and a chewed up field for another game that otherwise would follow a 49er game by 24 hours.

Oakland's revised schedule would be: Dec. 4, Sunday, Los Angeles Chargers; Dec. 11, Sunday, New York Titans; Dec. 17, Saturday, Denver Broncos. All would be day games.

The Raiders would be the first football team to use Candlestick Park, the stadium the city built to accommodate the Giants when the baseball club moved here from New York.

The football club, without a home base in Oakland, was recently considering use of a high school field in San Leandro in a move to draw a larger following among fans on the east shore of San Francisco Bay.

Tournament Postponed

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Rain caused postponement until Sunday of today's play in the New South Wales Tennis Championships.

The delay will not affect American plans to travel to Brisbane Sunday to prepare for the first Davis Cup interzone final against the Philippines starting Dec. 22.

STEVENS

In case you happen to talk to a pessimist and he insists that bass fishing in the local areas is over for this year, (and if he is smaller than you), grab him, hold him and wash out his mouth with soap. He's lying.

I venture an opinion that more fish are being taken in more sectors of the San Pablo Bay and the Suisun Bay at the present writing than for many, many years at this time of the year.

The storms of Saturday and Sunday kept a great many avid anglers at home—or chased them back to the harbors. But—get this! On Saturday, with the wind howling, the boat bobbing up and down like a cork, and the white-crested waves hammering away at the hull, the Dowrelio No. 6 managed to stick it out until after noon. Results: 16 limits of striped bass.

ON SUNDAY, also a miserable day for fishing, Bill Esmond and his Happy Days No. 4 netted 12 bass to 14 pounds, the Happy Days No. 3 came in with 22 bass to eight pounds and the Dowrielio No. 5 took eight fish to five pounds. All the above catches were made in the Suisun Bay.

The Suisun Bay has been a steady producer of nice bass for a long time. Charlie Souza of the Sportsmen's Center reported George Cabral, Dick Silva and Lou Silva limiting out in that area on Thursday of last week, and George Cabral with Jim Romero repeated the next day. On Thursday the fish ran from nine to 12 pounds and on Friday from 10 to 14 pounds.

FRIDAY WAS good to almost everyone fishing in the San Pablo and Suisun bays, the Napa River and off McAvoy. For example: Happy Days No 3 netted 28 bass to 13 pounds, Dowrelio No. 5 had 18 fish to six pounds on the morning trip; the No. 6 boat took 29 bass to six pounds, the Jackpot had 48 stripers and the Little Caesar came in with 23.

Then came the stormy weather. No skiffs ventured out and several party boats were forced to return to port. No rowboats out of China Camp over the weekend and the same on Monday. On Tuesday, Alice Quan told me that five new skiffs went out and five skiffs returned with limits for each angler aboard. Nice fish, seven and eight pounders and taken off the Sisters, the Black Buoy and the Pump House.

Also on Tuesday, the Dowrelio No. 5 accounted for 10 limits to six pounds for the morning trip alone, off Buoy 10. The Jackpot tried farther downstream, around Buoy 5, and collected 13 bass to 11½ pounds.

THE McAVOY sector was hot last week until the storms, and picked up where it had left off, beginning on Monday.

Bullheads seem to have landed the larger fish in the Suisun Bay and off McAvoy, but some mighty fine results have been made with sardines and clams. (It's been a long time since I have heard of anyone using clams. Used to be the best bet of all before the sardines took over as bait).

SCORING KING ELGIN BAYLOR IN TV GAME

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Red-hot Elgin Baylor, record scoring star for Los Angeles in the National Basketball Association, leads the Lakers into action against the Detroit Pistons in a nationally-televised game tomorrow.

It goes on at 11 a.m. in the new Los Angeles State College gymnasium, with this area blacked out.

Detroit has had a big week, twice defeating the Cincinnati Royals and then the champion Boston Celtics.

California Deer Kill Heading Toward A Record

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's 1960 deer kill is climbing closer to an all-time state record.

Already, tags have been returned for 74,450 bucks taken during the season ended Nov. 6 with a month remaining before the deadline.

That bests the 1959 total of 73,483—previously the second highest in history—and it should reach above the 1954 record of 75,602 by the time counting ends Dec. 15, the State Fish and Game Department says.

ALBERT THE WALRUS FREED

Artist Arthur Kraft contemplates the problem of Albert, the walrus, a 400-pound plaster figure he made too big to get out the door of his studio in Kansas City. So he had a window and a partition removed. The figure is for a shopping center in Cleveland, but will be sent first to a New York foundry to be cast in bronze. (AP Wirephoto)

Jr. Statesmen Start Annual Convention

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A group of teen-age "lawmakers" meets here today to discuss abolition of foreign aid, the electoral college, the presidential interregnum, professional boxing, billboards, trading stamps and a host of other controversial matters.

Debating the issues will be some 600 students representing more than 50 high schools at the annual convention of the Junior Statesmen of California.

Among other proposals presented by Junior Statesmen chapters to the organization's mock legislature are measures calling for repeal of the Conally Amendment, which keeps the United States from submitting to all orders of the International Court of Justice.

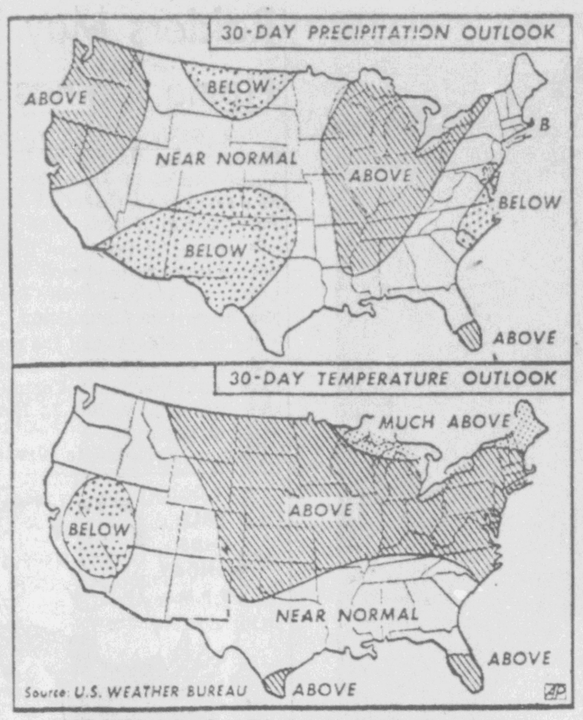

Others oppose "socialized medicine," water fluoridation, government subsidies to airlines, and the state bounty on wildcats.

Still others would increase immigration quotas for Asians and Africans; would allow former presidents, vice presidents and speakers of the house to serve but not to vote in congress; and would tighten drunk driving penalties and policies against Cuba.

Closer to home, resolutions call for allowing 18-year-old boys to vote; prohibiting use of student teachers in science, mathematics and language courses; providing high school courses in comparative religions and parliamentary procedure, and starting language instruction in the third grade.

They also would conduct an educational campaign to show "that the Communist Party is taking an active part in fomenting juvenile crimes."

The account of a student at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., showed that her expenses for the year 1843-4, including tuition, transportation to Weymouth, Mass., and a trip to Boston, amounted to $97.96.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR 30 DAYS

Fluoridation Lost In 13 Other Areas

Fluoridation went down the drain in 13 other communities besides Marin County in last week's elections, an Associated Press survey disclosed today.

The largest city defeating fluoridation at the polls was Cincinnati, where the measure failed 107,782 to 83,685. It was the second rejection in seven years. Fluoridation also failed of approval across the river in Kenton County, Ky., 17,690 to 10,621.

As of Aug. 2 this year, public health officials reported nearly 44½ million persons were drinking fluoridated water in 3,835 communities, compared with about one and one-half million in 100 communities 10 years earlier.

Fluorides had been added to the water in 1,932 communities serving 37½ million persons, while the rest had naturally fluoridated water.

In the 10 years, 100 communities have dropped fluoridation once it was begun, with 13 later resuming again.

Fluoridation usually has been begun at directive of city health and other officials, without submission to popular vote.

Other communities rejecting fluoridation last week:

Sacramento, 40,529 to 31,868.

Saginaw,, Mich., 15,632 to 11,842 with 12,000 not voting. Saginaw had begun fluoridation in 1951 by directives of the city council, but it was defeated at the polls in 1954 by 226 votes.

Joplin, Mo., 8,251 to 6,742.

Mapleshade, N.J., 2,450 to 2,278.

Freeport, Ill., 6:586 to 5,203, the third time fluoridation was rejected.

Faribault, Minn., 3,073 to 2,418. Faribault had previously fluoridated water by city council vote.

Willmar, Minn., 2,921 to 2,038.

Waukesha, Wis., 5,712 to 3,612.

Antigo, Wis., 2,076 to 1,473.

Montello, Wis., 293 to 258.

Word Omitted In Housing Story

Speaking before the Marin County Board of Supervisors on the proposed ordinance to prevent discrimination in housing, Leonard Cornell said, "Time and again we have found real estate values do NOT drop when minorities move into white neighborhoods."

The word "not" was omitted as the story appeared in print.

Master Plan Ordered By College Board

College of Marin trustees last night instructed the college administration to draw up a contract for the services of Falk and Booth, San Francisco architectural firm, to begin a master plan for the college.

The decision to hire the architects, whose services also include engineering, was reached after interviewing several firms, the trustees said. Mark Falk, Corwin Booth and two of their staff members appeared at a previous board meeting with samples of their work. The board also visited their architectural plant last week, president Elizabeth M. Deedy said.

The first job of the architects will be to draw up a general plan, taking into consideration the use value of existing buildings and projecting the college needs in accord with the expected increase in students.

The trustees read a memorandum from the county counsel saying that, in general, district employees acting as student chaperones would be covered by the school's public liability policy in cases of damage or accidents caused by students under their jurisdiction.

A report by Charles D. Mastin, college librarian, noted that books are now arranged by subject for the first time.

1. Approved attendance of Irwin Diamond, dean of students, Calvin Reimcke, basketball coach and Mrs. Lorna Blair, mathematics teacher, at conferences at district expense.
2. Approved remodeling of a frame building near the science building into a practice room for the music department at cost estimated at $1,700.
3. Introduced Herbert Blanchett, newly-hired coordinator of publications, who will start work Dec. 1.
4. Adjourned until Dec. 13 at 8 p.m.

Jailer Injured By Screwdriver

A jailer at the county jail suffered a minor injury early yesterday when a screwdriver he was using to take apart a shotgun reamed into his hand.

Deputy Sheriff Edwin Koehn was preparing to clean the weapon at 2 a.m. while on duty at the jail, when the screwdriver slipped. He was patched up at San Rafael General Hospital and returned to duty.

College Board Grants $40,000 In Pay Hikes

Salary increases totaling $40,436, to be granted over a two-year period, were approved for teachers, administrators and non-teaching employees at College of Marin last night by the board of trustees.

The raises will be retroactive to July 1.

The present salary of each employee will be raised by one-half the difference between his present salary and the salary the revised schedule calls for. The remainder of the increase would be granted next year.

The new pay schedule was drawn up by a sub-committee of the board made up of Trustees Elizabeth M. Deedy and Kent O. Seymour.

Although Trustees George G. Washburn and Robert E. Oliver were absent when the board approved the increases, Mrs. Deedy said the full board had been appraised of the new schedule and their suggestions or objections had been requested by the committee.

No replies were received from either of the absent members, Mrs. Deedy said.

The board noted that $43,022 is available in the present budget for salary increases "or other purposes" without reducing reserves below the $250,000 estimated for operating expenses between July 1 and Dec. 31, 1960.

Teacher increases would represent a 5.89 per cent hike and would total $23,500 over the two-year period. Non-teaching salaries would be raised by $13,556, a 10 per cent increase.

Administrators' salaries would be upped $3,380 and would include the vice president, dean of instruction, dean of students and principal of the adult school.

No increases were recommended for the director, business manager or counselor since they had been hired after July 1.

The trustees also submitted a schedule of other junior colleges throughout the state showing the new College of Marin salaries to be on a par with other institutions.

Injury Suit Asks For $100,000

A Kentfield housewife, hit by a car one year ago, is suing for $100,000 damages in Marin Superior Court for injuries suffered in the accident.

Helen Austin Lowengart, 42, of 27 Spring Road, Kentfield, charges carelessness and negligence on the part of Miss Jantje Johanna Bos, 17, driver of the car, and her parents, Hylke and Greta Bos of 73 Magnolia Avenue, San Anselmo.

Mrs. Lowengart was unloading furniture from her parked car near 20 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo, when struck by Miss Bos' vehicle on Nov. 27 of last year. The victim says she suffered concussion, and injuries from head to foot.

Richmond Woman Injured Near Bridge

Ellen Raye Aeschliman, 49, of Richmond, was in fair condition at San Rafael General Hospital today after driving into an abutment below an underpass as she approached the Richmond Bridge eastbound yesterday afternoon. She suffered injuries of the back and left arm.

A California Highway Patrol investigation was continuing as the driver was alone and no reason for the accident could be determined.

Fair Plan Dumped

PARIS (UPI)—The bureau of international expositions today turned thumbs down on New York City's plans to hold a world's fair in 1964-65.

The bureau announced it recommended to its member countries that they abstain from taking part in any exposition in the "American Zone" during the next 10 years other than the fair to be held in Seattle in 1962.

Corinthian Yacht Auxiliary Organized

The first monthly luncheon of the newly organized Women's Auxiliary to the Corinthian Yacht Club was held Wednesday at the clubhouse. Lunch was preceded by a cocktail hour and members and their guests heard a discussion and demonstration on the art of Japanese floral arrangements by Mrs. Winston Jones of Tiburon.

And as will be true of all future luncheons those who wished remained for cards. Mesdames M.S. Green and Edwin A. Gratonik were chairmen for the event.

The auxiliary will be composed of the wives of the members of the club. Endorsement and acceptance of the group was granted by the board of directors of the club at their October meeting and since then a steering committee has been working to write the bylaws and organize the group. On this committee has been Mesdames Robert Evans, Belvedere, chairman; Edwin Kingsland of Novato, secretary; William Spindler of Belvedere, publicity and membership; James Rear of Belvedere, entertainment; John R. Malone, treasurer and Rampton Harvey.

Purpose of the auxiliary will be to help in getting the wives of new members acquainted with the facilities of the club and to meet other wives. The group will also plan many of the club's parties and assume other jobs designated by the board of directors of the club.

Among the plans for the coming year are a Tom and Jerry-Egg Nog dinner party on Friday, Dec. 9 from 6 to 8:30 for members only. The auxiliary is already working on the arrangements for this affair which the women hope will be an annual event.

Other plans include the annual Easter Brunch and Easter egg hunt for the children, decorating the clubhouse for the various holidays and the monthly luncheons which will be open to members and guests. These will be held the third Wednesday of each month and will feature fashion shows and speakers.

The steering committee hopes to have the by-laws completed by the first of the year so that formal organization of the group can then take place.

'Treated Like Honored Friends' Say Marin Visitors To Japan

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Samuel Newsoms of Mill Valley and the George Wheelwrights of the Green Gulch Ranch in Southern Marin have just returned from Japan where they had the fascinating experience of living in Japanese inns like the Japanese themselves.

At the end of October the foursome left San Francisco on a Japanese freighter and arrived in Yokohama. Since Newsom had lived in Japan five years and can speak and write the language, he was able to guide the group to the most interesting spots, where they saw and experienced what isn't usually available to tourists.

"And making it much easier," said Wheelwright, "was the fact that Sam has a great talent for getting along with the Japanese."

An authority on Japanese gardens and oriental art objects, Newsom wrote the first of his three books, "Japanese Gardens," when he lived in Japan, and he and his wife now have the "Greenwood Tree" in Mill Valley.

In view of this interest the high point of the trip for the Newsoms was Kyoto—according to Mrs. Newsom, "The centuries old cultural center of Japan." It was of such world-wide reknown, she said, that during World War II pressure was successfully brought to bear on the military to take extra precautions against bombing, and it suffered no damage at all.

Another high point of the trip, Mrs. Newsom said, was staying in an ancient Buddhist temple at Koyasan on top of a mountain, which they reached by cable car.

For the Wheelwrights the loveliest spot was Amanahashidate, literally "The bridge that reaches to heaven." The "bridge," Wheelwright explained, is a string of little islands across a bay. There were no English or American people there at all.

But all four of the travelers agreed that living in the Japanese inns was especially delightful.

HONORED FRIENDS

"On entering one of these inns you are given wooden shoes to replace your own, and if you arrive in the evening, the first procedure is the hot bath. They take your clothes away, and you may not see them again until you leave the inn.

"Everyone washes first—for cleanliness—before going into the hot bath, which is really for the effect of the heat. On coming out of the bath you are given a light inner kimono and an outer heavier one, and that is what you wear from then on even if you go out shopping or walking in the garden or on the streets.

"When you go to your room, you are greeted by your personal maid, who prepares and serves dinner in your room. While she removes the dinner things, you are supposed to go walking, either in your private garden—every room in many Japanese hotels has its own garden—or in the streets.

"Japanese streets are likely to be dull, for the people don't believe in exposing beauty publicly, but inside everything is considered from the artistic standpoint.

"Even the food is so beautiful you hate to spoil it with your chopsticks.

"While the guests are out walking the maid lays the bedding on the floor, and when you return, you go to bed in your inner kimono, lying on the mats and pillows stuffed with rice hulls and covered by quilts, one sometimes of silk with a sheet sewn over it, and a feather one on top of that.

EYE APPEAL

"In the morning," Wheelwright continued, "the first thing the eye sees is the exquisitely grained wood in the roof. Everything is selected according to eye appeal.

"To some this way of life might sound primitive, but it's actually very sophisticated."

Above all the Wheelwrights and Newsoms were impressed with the good will of the people. "Japan and America must get together and be good friends," was the feeling often expressed Mrs. Newsom said.

Before returning to this country the Wheelwrights went to Hong Kong and returned home a week earlier than the Newsoms.

Newsom hopes to have his latest book on "Bonsai for Westerners" off the press by Christmas. It will describe procedures for producing the famous dwarf trees, based on Japanese methods but using short cuts.

While the Newsoms were gone their eight-year-old daughter Chipps and five-year-old son, Sambo stayed with the family of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Aird in Mill Valley.

GOING OVER the program for the special presentation of a color movie-lecture series "The World Around Us" to begin on Nov. 29 sponsored by the Junior Museum of Marin are Mrs. Ragnar Thaning, president of the Marin Junior Museum Service League and Nicholas Gravem of the Museum Board of Trustees. The series will continue Nov. 29 through April 17.

Junior Museum Movie Lecture Series To Begin On Nov. 29

Do you have that secret or not so secret desire to travel? Merely because of the nature of our organized lives it is next to impossible to see all the faraway places of our dreams. The Junior Museum of Marin will give you a chance to enjoy all the pleasures of travel through the special presentation of a color movie-lecture series featuring authorities in their field to take you on these visual trips.

The "World Around Us" Series will begin Nov. 29 and will include five special programs, one each month through April 17. Blumenfeld Theaters have donated the use of the Fairfax Theater for this Junior Museum project.

Tuesday, Nov. 29 — "Mysterious Yucatan; For Countless Centuries the Home of the Gifted Maya Indians," presented by James W. Metcalf.

"Nepal is no longer 'Forbidden,' but it is still remote . . . still off the beaten path . . . and still has a ring of mystery. Earl Brink's color camera has captured this strange and primitive land in all its living glory."

Monday, Feb. 13 — "Polynesian Paradise," presented by Arthur Dewey.

"Alice and Arthur Dewey filmed this paradise in the glowing colors of Gauguin's oils and Michener's words—all recorded against an authentic background of lovely island music."

Monday, March 20—"The Penguin Egg and IGY," presented by Dr. Carl Eklund.

All performances begin at 8 p. m.

Season tickets for the five showings will be available for the entire series. Frank George of Redwood Travel Agency, a tour guide and lecturer, will handle the tickets exclusively at the agency office on Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Glamor Prevails At Style Show, Luncheon Of St. Rita's Guild

Glamor took over when St. Rita's Women's Guild of Fairfax held its fashion show and luncheon Wednesday at the Meadow Club. Attractive members paraded gowns which would be wonderful for any holiday party. Shown also were luxurious house coats and lounging attire and some coats and suits. Smart hats and exotic jewelry complemented the outfits.

Mrs. George Genis appeared on the runway in a black matte jersey dress. The low cut bodice had rows and rows of ruffled organdie. Mrs. Louis Ardito was dashing in a three piece red jersey knit. Her overblouse was a leopard print. A camel wool jersey dress with long and full chiffon sleeves of the same color were the sports coordinates modeled by Mrs. Donald Stader.

Lovely and feminine was the white chiffon evening gown worn by Mrs. Leo Tormanen and her red crystal necklace and earrings were a delightful accent. Perfect for a formal party was the luscious purple satin short evening dress, with interesting slit sleeve detail and bows on the shoulders. The full skirt emphasized the slender waist of Mrs. Robert MacLean, the model. A "Golden Girl" cocktail dress of gold brocade was modeled by Mrs. Warren McGuire. The high neckline had its one "built in" jewelry, beading and rhinestones. Rust accessories were worn by Mrs. Armand Pelleriti with a wool plaid in green and beige. Her jewelry was gold. A brass tweed shade was the coat of Mrs. Daniel Kelly, which had a dyed to match beaver collar. Mrs. Daniel Miller, who gave a lively and informative commentary said, "When in doubt, dye to match."

Mrs. F. M. Lara was a show stopper in a stunning gold brocade sheath and slightly fitted matching long coat. Mrs. Edward Chouinard was all ready for a dancing party in a red satin gown which had a softly rounded neckline and full skirt. Petite Mrs. Robert Stout modeled a pumpkin colored bulky knit sweater with gold and green plaid tapered pants. Designed for the holidays was the gown of Mrs. William Kessel, solid gold sequined bodice and gold chiffon skirt. She carried a long satin fringed stole in a shade of spice. Mrs. Arthur O'Leary was models chairman and Mrs. Jack Herrero, fashion coordinator.

Under the direction of Mrs. Edward Monaghan, decorations chairman, the club was colorful with glittering Christmas ornaments. The members also made decorations for the home. These varied and attractive wares sold at a table in the lounge.

Frilly white net Christmas trees decorated the tables in the dining room where luncheon was served before the style showing. Mrs. Edwin Ezekiel was chairman of the waitress contingent and Mrs. Charles Donnellan, co-chairman. The waitresses, all members of the guild, had gay holiday aprons of net.

Members and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Lawrence McCormick, president, Mrs. Keith Yetter, general chairman, and committee members including those on the hostess committee headed by Mrs. John Courter.

Old Cook Books Sought For Display

A call for old cook books was issued today. They are wanted for a display at San Rafael Hospital to mark the re-publication of the hospital recipe collection, "Favorite Fare," under auspices of the Women's Auxiliary.

"We are interested in all old cook books," said Bell, "and particularly those published in the various Marin County towns. We have as a starter copies of the 1898 and 1906 San Rafael Cook Books, loaned by Miss Edythe Foster."

Marin residents who are willing to lend their old cook books for the display are asked to see or telephone Bell at the hospital, where he is senior laboratory technologist.

Jr. High Camp Fire Girls Dry Ski Lesson Set Tonight

All Junior High Camp Fire Girls of District 2 are invited to attend a dry land ski lesson tonight from 7:30 until 9 at the E Street School in San Rafael.

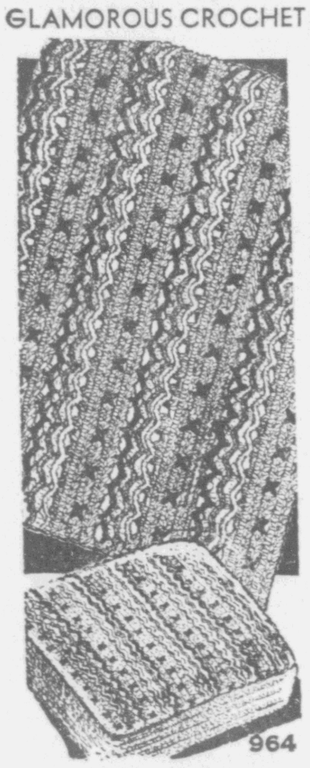

The lesson precedes a ski trip which is planned for this winter, and is essential for all girls who plan to go. Instructor for the lesson will be the Austrian skiier, Johnnie Yankow.

Other activities of Junior High Camp Fire Girls by individual groups have been a trip to the opera and a camping trip to Kilowana. Mrs. Thomas E. Gilboy of Kentfield is leader of both a seventh and an eighth grade group, with co-leaders Mrs. Richard Williams, and Mrs. Andrew Stockton. They purchased a block of tickets to the opera and took both groups of girls, with several other guests to hear "Gianni Schiiei" and the ballet, "Con Amore," with Sally Bailey. They had box seats to the matinee performance, which was given in English, making it a memorable occasion for 20 Camp Fire Girls and leaders.

Those who attended were Lois Richert, Laura Klein, Beth Voorhees, Kathy Magruder, Melanie Lines, Pamela Myers, Wendy Williams, Alexis Arnold, Marian Gilboy, Josette Sommers, Andrea Stockton, Joan Kimball, Janice Van Gutman, Kathy Mullen, Cindy Doherty, Ann Woodhull, Lynn and Kathy Schmitz, Joan Weiners, Karen Brainerd, Cherilyn Gilboy.

Many of these same girls spent the weekend of Nov. 11 and 12 at Camp Kilowana, earning requirements for Torch-Bearer and Fire Maker Ranks. Between storms the girls blazed a trail to show their ability in woodsmanship. While it rained, they helped prepare Kilowana for winter by cleaning and painting.

Mother Wants Mink For Christmas Gift

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new study of our shopping habits shows that mamma overwhelmingly wants mink for Christmas.

But the same study shows the average American family spends $147 on Christmas giving, which just about rules out mink for mamma unless it's third hand or just a set of collars and cuffs instead of a coat.

What women listed first in their preferences for Christmas presents ran—quite naturally, I'd say—to costly items—mink coats and fur pieces and jewelry and perfumes, a new car, even a trip.

But those surveyed apparently held slim hope of getting their number one choices, because they very practically listed a bunch of other welcome gifts—mostly items for the home. Twenty-six per cent would be pleased with household goods, 24 per cent listed some item of clothing with sweaters high in the ratings, and five per cent asked for a sewing machine — the one household item most often mentioned.

Major appliance choices ran to refrigerators and dishwashers. In small appliances, the electric mixer was mentioned most frequently.

Other household items on the wanted list included hurricane lamps, furniture covers, records, tablecloths, stereo equipment and electric blankets.

Only two per cent of the women asked for money.

The study, which the makers believe is the first large-scale one in the gift buying field, was done by the Market Facts Research Organization, for the Chicago Printed Spring Co., which makes gift wrappings.

Market Facts talked with 149 housewives in each of three major markets — urban and suburban areas of Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia. The average age of the women, all married, was 40. The average family size was 3.67 members. Average family income was $6,550 yearly.

Projecting its findings, the researchers predicted an exchange of 1.5 billion Christmas presents this year, costing $7.35 billion. Non-Christmas purchases (for mother's and father's days, for weddings, showers, birthdays and so on) add up to more than Christmas spending—an estimated $10.5 billion annually.

The researchers found the average price paid for a non-Christmas gift was $7.48; the average price paid for a Christmas gift is $4.91.

The lady of the house does most of the Christmas shopping for the whole family — 83 per cent of all purchases, says the survey.

The women were pretty positive of what they wanted for Christmas, but 42 per cent did not know what they would give their husbands.

Music Topic Set For Park P-TA

"The Eternal Triangle and Instrumental Music" will be the topic of discussion at Park School auditorium Monday evening starting at 8 p.m.

All parents of children enrolled in the instrumental music program of the Mill Valley Elementary School District have been urged to attend.

David Reed, instrumental music teacher for the district, will discuss the importance of communication and cooperation among parent, student and teacher in order to have a successful music program.

Band Box Guild And Juniors Plan Future Events At Meets

Divided by age but united in spirit is the newly reorganized Band Box Club composed of students and former students of the John Robert Powers School in San Rafael.

By popular consent Band Box was divided into two clubs: the Band Box Guild, which is composed of women 21 years of age and over, and the Junior Auxiliary Band Box, which includes teens to 20-year-olds.

Separate meetings were held recently to schedule events for the holidays and the coming year. Both groups decided to provide activities for members which will be both social and community service in nature.

The first meeting of the Junior Auxiliary Band Box was held at 1000 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. Members present were Charlotte Huebner, Gail Barnett, Susan Brown, Dianne Rogers, Gail Sanders, Marilyn Kascel and Margo Moulton.

Among events scheduled by this group was a Band Box Revue to be held at the Marin Jewish Community Center Monday night, Dec. 5, which will include a fashion show presented by the beginning and professional classes, and a play entitled "The Ring of Enchantment," performed by the professional drama class.

Other future events will be an open house on Dec. 27 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stansell, Christmas carols at the Cedars home in Ross, an ice-skating party at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco, a fashion show at the Napa Hospital, a hayride, a party to attend the "Nutcracker Suite" ballet, and a spring fashion show for the professional graduating class.

Officers were elected and committees set up for the coming year and hostesses were selected to assist in the Band Box Revue, which will be a joint venture of the two groups.

Instead of an admission charge for the revue donations will be accepted to be given to the Family Service Agency to use in any way the agency considers most beneficial.

The Band Box Guild also agreed to assume aid to retarded children as its project for the coming year, with special emphasis on the Point 2 retarded children's school in Mill Valley.

On Dec. 8 Guild members plan to attend the fashion show and luncheon at Ondine's in Sausalito.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHMOND BARBOUR, Ph. D.
Guidance Counsellor

Child's Confidence Wanes When He's Not Important To Parents

Do you have a timid child, or baby who is afraid, shy and worried? He needn't stay that way. Self-confidence can be built.

The job starts at birth.

The way you treat your baby gives him his image of himself. Does he know he's important to you? Does he sense your love for him? Does he feel safe? If he does, then his image of himself is good and he is secure.

Weaning and toilet training have much to do with self-confidence. Do you yell, scold, punish and expect the impossible? Then his anxieties grow. He feels inadequate and unworthy. You should take it easy. Show pleasure at his progress; don't punish his unavoidable slips.

The third difficult period comes when he starts school. Is he rushed into reading too fast? Does he fail, and fail again? Then he decides he's dumb and his shyness increases. Does he succeed and enjoy school? Then he gains self-confidence.

His health matters greatly. If he has allergies take him to the right doctor. If he doesn't get enough sleep rearrange his schedule. If he lacks muscular coordination give him corrective exercises. If he lacks the skills boys need on the playground help him acquire them.

Your present attitude will either help or hinder him. Are you sarcastic? Do you make him feel foolish? Do you punish him more heavily than needed? Then his fears continue.

Do you support him, let him know you're always on his side, give him opportunities to prove he's growing up? Then his doubts recede.

Is Part Of An

EICHLER HOME

We've never won an award for making children happy (although we HAVE won more awards than any home builder anywhere). And we can't promise that your children will be happy and laughing, EVERY DAY of the year—but this we do know: YOUR children will have more freedom and fun in an EICHLER than any other home built today.

WHY? Because EICHLER homes in sunny, charming Terra Linda Valley were architect designed especially for today's young families. 4 and 5 bedrooms, always 2 or 3 baths, radiant heated floors that children can play on in the middle of winter. Phillipine mahogany paneled walls everywhere that will withstand even the fiercest onslaughts of the young ones. Patented kitchen cabinet doors that are removable for easy cleaning and no hardwood for the children to smudge.

ROOM galore inside and out for play. And every home has a delightful private play area for the children. More freedom for the children, less work for you and more time to enjoy EICHLER'S exclusive inner court . . . Complete privacy and open to the sky.

If you're looking for the car that's one-in-a-million, then see this one before you do anything else.
Original couple bought it new from local Olds. dealer in '55 and traded on new Electra Buick.
It's all Arctic white without so much as a scratch on the original paint. The blue interior is absolutely as clean as the cars on our floor.
Has all the extras including power steering, power brakes, hydramatic, radio, heater, w/w tires and the works.
It's so clean you'll have to call the original owner, to make sure it's real.

Gallery Show To Continue

With 112 Marin artists represented, the Rental Gallery Show presented by the Marin Society of Artists will continue until Dec. 6 at the Frances Young Gallery in Ross.

More than 200 patrons attended the opening of the show Nov. 13, buying or renting 45 paintings or mosaics to decorate their homes and offices.

The gallery is open from to to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays.

The gallery offers a wide selection of crafts, which are for sale, and paintings and mosaics rent for fees varying from $5 to $11 for three months. A work may be rented for one year maximum.

Judging the works for the show were Winifred Kock of San Rafael, Warren Brandon and Nat Levy of San Francisco, Frederick Herschleb of Ross, and Robert Carleton, Corte Madera.

Soviet Film To Be Shown In Novato

The Soviet film, "The Stone Flower," will be presented next Wednesday at 7:30 in the Novato High School gymnasium by the Novato Community Ambassadors to raise funds for the American Field Service program.

"The Stone Flower" is based on a volume of Russian folk legends by Pavel Bazhov. It is the tale of a young stone carver and travels into a dream realm of artistic ideals, with unusual use of a new color process.

A short film, "Bayaderka Ballet," showing the traditional Russian ballet performed by the ensemble of the Leningrad State Academy Theater of Opera and Ballet, will also be shown.

The American Field Service provides exchange of high school students between the U. S. and other countries.

Chrysler Ready To End Production Of De Soto Cars

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. will halt all production of its De Soto line next month and there will be no car with the De Soto name plate for at least another year.

Chrysler said the halt of production will end that name on cars of the size and description of the current models.

The corporation is considering introducing a small sports car in 1962, and using the De Soto name, but the De Soto passenger car will come to an end.

Dodge and Chrysler divisions of Chrysler already are signing up dealers who carry De Soto.

Decorations To Be Sold At Center

Made by members of the Center's Decorations Guild, sponsor of the annual event, the decorations will be appropriate for use on buffet tables or for formal dinners and luncheons over the Christmas holidays.

Each arrangement will be an original creation of one of the Guild members, according to Mrs. Marion F. Ludlow of San Rafael, Greens Sale chairman.

Mrs. Guy Manuel of San Anselmo is table arrangements chairman for the Greens Sale.

Currently on display and available to pre-sale shoppers are many other articles from the Guild work rooms, where a dozen or more members of the group meet every day to prepare for the mid-December event. These articles include wreaths of varying sizes, miniature trees ranging in height from six inches up, door swags, wall plaques, and novelty items.

Games Planned For Club Funds

A game party will be held at 8 p. m. today by the Stinson Beach Parent-Teacher Club at the Stinson Beach Community Center, in an effort to raise funds for youth activities.

At the club's meeting Tuesday members voted unanimously to sponsor the newly formed boys' club being directed by Deputy Sheriff Peter A. Lampros.

Parent-Teacher Club volunteers, according to President Adelaide McCready, will assist the Stinson Beach Progressive Club at a general meeting to be held at 8 p. m. Dec. 7 at the center to discuss unionization of Stinson Beach and Bolinas School Districts.

Yank To Join Russ Scientists

PALO ALTO (UPI)—C. Stewart Gillmor, 22, Stanford University student, will soon join Russian scientists in the Antarctic for a year's study, the university announced yesterday.

Gillmor of Kansas City, Mo., will conduct a study of ionospheric effects for the National Bureau of Standards laboratory at Boulder, Colo.

The trip was being sponsored under the auspices of the 12-nation Antarctic treaty, which provides freedom of study for scientists invited to any of the bases on the frozen continent.

BENEFIT FROM BOOK FAIR—Mrs. Donna Sealey helps five youngsters at Bel Aire School in Reed District select books from school library. A book fair given by the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club last year netted $600 profit; this year's fair was even bigger. The money was divided among the district's four schools for purchase of library books. Children in photo are (from left) Bill Norris, Kimberley Madson, Kristine Andre, Janice Crawford and Jack Bohn. 'BIG BUSINESS'

Booksellers Hit 'Fairs' Of P-TA

By CARLETON WILLIAMS

The mushrooming "business" of book fairs is proving a boon to school libraries—but is pulling the props out from under Marin County booksellers.

"The Parent-Teacher Assns. have gone into the book business," said one bookshop proprietor. "As a result, I am losing my shirt."

Book fairs are sponsored at many schools by P-TAs. Staged during the pre-Christmas season, the fairs are drastically cutting into the booksellers' business at a time when a big percentage of their yearly sales are normally made, according to the book store owners.

"My customers have all switched to the book fairs," another dealer said. "I haven't sold a child's book in weeks."

"None of the booksellers is against book fairs as such," said John Lidell, owner of the Cottage Book Shop in San Rafael. "It is only that we object to what we consider unfair competition and the fact the P-TAs are going out of the county to purchase their stock."

Originally, the booksellers reported, the groups putting on the book fairs patronized local shops. The book dealer would supply the fair with books and fill orders for additional copies, splitting profits with the P-TA.

When the fairs began to blossom into "big business," the dealers say, they were approached by the P-TA for discounts as high as 20 per cent. They refused.

"They said either give us the discount 'or else,'" said Mrs. Florence Patterson, owner of Bookshop Marin in Kentfield.

The "or else" threat was carried out, she said, when the P-TAs went directly to wholesale book houses in San Francisco and Berkeley, where they received discounts as high as 30 per cent.

Representatives of the P-TA maintain they are doing the book dealers a favor by "stimulating an interest in reading." This, they say, increases the booksellers sales throughout the year. They also point with pride to the fact their profits are donated to the schools.

At schools in Kentfield and Reed districts, for instance, many volumes have been added to school libraries as result of the book fairs. Profits from sale of Christmas gift books at the fairs are providing a wider variety of reading for school children—and saving the school budget. Thus, the taxpayer is saved money, in the view of the book fair sponsors.

The extent of the harm done the book dealers, however, was indicated by Mrs. Mark Roth, owner of the Redwood Book and Stationery Shop in Mill Valley. "At least 25 per cent of our entire year's business is done in the first three weeks of December," Mrs. Roth said.

"If they have to go into business, why don't they pick a month like June—our 'lean' period?" she asked.

The magnitude of the "take" from book fairs can be judged by the Strawberry Point P-TA's recent fair which grossed in the neighborhood of $1,200.

Mrs. Edwin C. Nilan, chairman of the event, said the group's profit was 25 per cent, all of which is being turned over to the school for improvements at the discretion of the administration.

Mrs. Nilan said her group obtained books from the Sather Gate Book Shop in Berkeley which delivers the fair "as a package," allowing a discount based on gross sales. "They gave up 25 per cent because we grossed over $1,000," Mrs. Nilan said.

U.S. Ignores Protest On Warship Patrol

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The White House brushed aside today denunciations from the Soviet Union and Cuba against President Eisenhower's action in ordering U. S. warships and planes to shield Guatemala and Nicaragua from any Communist-led attack.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty labeled Moscow's protests the kind of "Communist-type reaction" that could be expected.

"There's a very similar reaction—the words are almost the same—from Cuba," he told a news conference.

Eisenhower's move in rushing warships into the Caribbean served notice the United States will use military force to back up diplomatic protests, if need be, to stop Cuba's Fidel Castro from subverting anti-Communist countries in the Caribbean.

Top officials said movement of U. S. destroyers and an aircraft carrier into the area was a blunt warning to Castro that he will not be permitted to expert his leftwing revolution to other Latin-American nations. (See story on page 2.)

New Park Plan Prepared For '61 Legislature

Proposal Includes Developments At Forts, Angel Island

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A new five-year plan to develop the state parks of California, is being prepared by the State Division of Beaches and Parks for submission to the State Legislature in January.

The plan, still in its formative stages, is expected to picture Angel Island as almost completely a state park, with elephant trains circling it for the convenience of visitors; the forts at the Golden Gate made a part of the parks system as they become available, and some development for all other Marin parks.

NOT YET CLEAR

Although it is not clear yet whether the new state plan will include a program for Point Reyes, Gov. Edmund G. Brown has publicly expressed himself as favoring a state park there if present plans to develop a national seashore park are abandoned.

In general, a division of beaches and parks spokesman said, the multi-million dollar, five-year plan would be development of existing parks, with new acquisitions limited "mainly to rounding out existing areas."

The two exceptions in Marin County would be acquisition of all of Angel Island from the federal government, which Charles A. DeTurk, beaches and parks chief, said he hopes will take place in the next fiscal year; and acquisition of Golden Gate military properties as they become surplus.

NO DECISIONS

No definite decisions on Marin park developments have been made as yet, however, the spokesman said.

This week, Will Rogers Jr., chairman of the State Park Commission, revealed the plan for elephant trains on Angel Island. He suggested the trains could carry passengers clear around the island park.

The State Division of Beaches and Parks' requested budget for fiscal 1961-62, which will be before the legislature in

Students Score Board's Rejection Of Bias Law

The student council at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo apologized by letter to non-Caucasian students at the seminary yesterday for the Marin County Board of Supervisors' rejection of a proposed anti-discrimination ordinance.

It was signed by 30 students from the Presbyterian seminary and sent to the eight seminarians from Africa, Australia, Cuba, Japan, Korea and the Philippines.

Declared the letter:

"As Christians and as citizens of a nation which prides itself on its recognition of the equality of all men under the law, we deplore the actions reported in yesterday's two leading news stories: first, the disobedience demonstration in New Orleans . . .; second, the rejection by the Marin County Board of Supervisors of a proposed ordinance making discrimination in housing in the unincorporated areas of Marin punishable by law.

"With a deep sense of shame, we express to you our profound regret over these two incidents. At the same time, we pledge to you that we will do everything within our power both here in seminary and during our public ministries to create understanding and fair play among men of all races and creeds, and specifically to help rectify the conditions that made yesterday's actions possible."

The proposed housing ordinance, outlawing discrimination because of race by owners of more than three apartment units or more than four houses, was rejected 3-to-2 vote of the supervisors at conclusion of a public hearing late Tuesday.

STORM BRINGS SPRINKLES TO MARIN COUNTY

Generally fair skies were forecast for tomorrow but it's expected to be colder tonight. In the Siskiyous, snow flurries were predicted.

GOP Leaders Veto Recount In 7 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders in most of the 11 states where a vote recount was suggested do not plan to challenge the Nov. 8 election results.

When GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton proposed the recounts a week ago, he told Republican officials in 11 states to look into "purported vote frauds." He urged investigation and whatever follow-up action was indicated.

AWAIT CANVASSES

No recounts are planned in Michigan, South Carolina, Illinois, New Mexico, New Jersey, Pennsylvania or Delaware. Party officials in Nevada and Missouri were awaiting official state canvasses before making a decision. That was also the situation in Minnesota, but any recount move there appeared doubtful. Texas GOP leaders have said they were considering a recount bid, but have taken no action.

Reported voting irregularities were being checked in some of the states.

MARGIN CUT

The reaction of the state leaders came as John F. Kennedy's victory margin was cut further by late counts—making it almost certain that he would end up with less than a majority of all the votes cast.

With 1,549 precincts still out and many absentee ballots still to be counted, Kennedy had 33,869,208 votes to 33,684,561 for Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon. This gave Kennedy a lead of only 184,647 out of more than 67½ million votes.

Nixon's lead: 16,754.

Total votes: Nixon 3,230,386; Kennedy 3,213,632.

Fifty-three of the state's 58 counties were complete.

New Orleans School Integration Upheld

But Federal Court Will Hear Appeal

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A three-judge federal tribunal today refused to lift orders integrating New Orleans public schools, but left the door open "for consideration" of a state request.

The judges adjourned a three-hour hearing and left in effect orders that have integrated two city elementary schools for the past five days.

LONG ARGUMENT

The panel heard lengthy arguments to (1) suspend a federal court order directing integration until federal and state differences can be resolved and (2) a motion by the state of Louisiana to dismiss all federal action ending segregation in the state's schools.

The court advised attorneys for both sides that all motions presented today would be given consideration and a final decision given, but no date for such a decision was indicated.

ASKED SUSPENSION

The city's school board asked for the suspension of the integration order after near-riot conditions and demonstrations by white teen-agers exploded in all parts of the city.

The four Negro girls involved almost disappeared in the background as the hearing took the spotlight and moved slowly through the maze of legal wrangling.

The situation at the two schools involved — McDonogh No. 19 and William Frantz — was quiet.

WITH ESCORTS

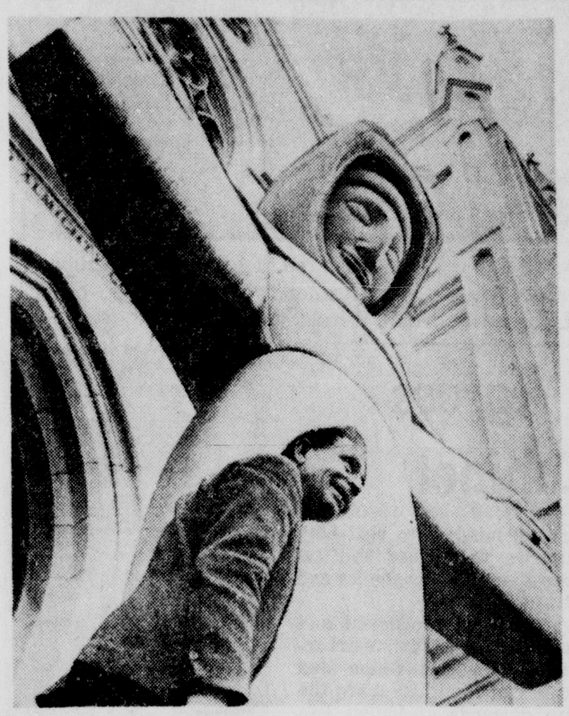

The three Negro first graders at McDonogh arrived with U.S. deputy marshals just before the bell. Police and newsmen said no white child entered the school.

The marshals also escorted the one Negro girl to school at Frantz, as has been the practice for the first four days of integration. Three white children turned out for classes at Frantz.

Spectators were at both schools to jeer the Negro children and the marshals.

Dr. James F. Redmond, superintendent of schools, announced last night that there would be a school recess next week to permit teachers to attend an association meeting in Baton Rouge from Monday through Wednesday, and the Thanksgiving holidays. Classes resume Nov. 28.

The school board yesterday had asked suspension of the federal court order to integrate.

BUFANO'S ST. FRANCIS

College Offering Statue A Home

Benny Bufano's 12-ton statue of St. Francis, threatened with eviction from its San Francisco location, has been offered a home in Marin County.

College of Marin trustees last night approved an invitation to the diminutive sculptor to place the Swedish marble piece on the college campus.

The plea for the statue was introduced in a letter to Bufano from Trustee Rupert E. Kempf. "The College of Marin would deem it a great privilege to provide a place of honor . . . for one of the great works of art of this or any century," the invitation said.

Kempf was authorized by the board to deliver the invitation in person.

Placement of the statue would be subject to approval of the school's architects.

A dissenting voice was raised by Edwin Cadogan, head of the college art department, when asked what he thought of the idea.

"If you want my personal opinion," Cadogan said, "I don't want it. I don't think it is a particularly great piece of art."

The statue is now on the front steps of St. Francis of Assisi Church in San Francisco's North Beach. The pastor, Rev. John J. Currin, wants the statue moved because he says it is causing the church steps to crack.

Bufano said today he has had "dozens of offers" of homes for the 16-foot-high statue. Among them were offers from the Longshore Memorial Assn. which announced it is ready to place the statue near the longshoremen's hiring hall at Mason and Beach Streets.

An offer of a home has also come from the Reno Chamber of Commerce. Frank Bender, chairman of the chamber, said the Nevada city would be happy to have "something the tourists won't be able to carry away."

The statue has been in its present location since 1955. For 28 years it was a center of controversy and neglect, stored for a number of years in a Paris warehouse.

At one time there was a futile movement to have the statue installed in San Francisco's Civic Center.

Net Players Assured Trip By Donations

A generous donation today from the Rafael Racquet Club assured two outstanding San Rafael High School tennis players of competing in the National Indoor Championships in St. Louis next week.

Hal Wagner, professional of the new club now under construction, made the contribution this morning to complete the fund-raising drive for Steve Stockton and Harvey Klyce.

Fred G. Hines, coach of the boys and chairman of the drive, said the club's contribution and those of other organizations and individuals have put the drive over the goal.

The boys will fly to the tournament next week, Hines said.

Earlier contributions were received from the San Rafael Elks and Kiwanis clubs, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, Cerutti Brothers, Richfield Service Station, Mrs. J. Rudolph, Alice J. Woodson, Alice Schmiedell, and R. A. L. Menzies.

Castro Sees Attack In Navy Move

Plots, Uprisings Spread To Bolivia, El Salvador

HAVANA (AP)—The Fidel Castro regime charged today that U. S. naval patrols in the Caribbean were an intervention in Latin-American affairs, a grave threat to world peace and a smoke-screen for an attack on Cuba.

President Eisenhower yesterday ordered U. S. warships and planes to seek out and prevent Communist-led attacks from abroad on Guatemala and Nicaragua.

The president acted on the written request of the two governments, targets in the past week of unsuccessful uprisings which they charged were being assisted by Cubans.

The action came as plots and possible uprisings were reported in two other countries, Bolivia and El Salvador.

The U. S. State Department said warships, including five destroyers and the aircraft carrier Shangri-La, were already patroling the high seas between Cuba and the Central American coast.

The department said, however, that any action against invasion forces would be limited to the three-mile territorial waters of Guatemala and Nicaragua.

The reaction of Cuban officials and the government-controlled press and radio was indignant.

The newspaper La Calle said the president's action was an intervention in Guatemala and Nicaragua and a grave threat to world peace.

Pastorita Nunez, a high ranking Cuban official as head of the government savings and housing institute, said in a television program that the uprisings in Central America, were a smokescreen to hide plans for an invasion of Cuba.

For weeks Castro officials have been charging that "mercenaries" were being assembled and drilled in Central American countries for a U. S.-financed invasion of Cuba.

"It's a coincidence," Miss Nunez said, "that these happenings are being produced in those countries where aggressions against Cuba have been denounced, that is in Nicaragua, Guatemala and Costa Rica."

Castro predicted last August that his revolution would light a rebellion against "Yankee imperialism" thoughout Latin America.

The United States later charged that thousands of tons of Soviet arms have been shipped to Castro.

Plots and uprising were reported afoot in El Salvador and Bolivia even as the last embers of revolt appeared snuffed out in Guatemala and Nicaragua.

Troops were reported mobilized in La Paz, capital of Bolivia, as a precaution against a possible uprising.

Communications were cut between La Paz and Cochabama, the country's second largest city, where peasants opposed to President Victor Paz Estenssore clashed with police, troops and other peasants last Mnday. About 100 sants last Monday. About 100 persons were reported killed

Last Sunday U. S. Ambassador Carl Strom was stoned and jeered by a leftist mob at Cochabamba, 150 miles southeast of La Paz.

Demonstrators marched on the police station and burned transportation offices in new disturbances yesterday. Disturbances also were reported in Santa Cruz, a rubber center on the Brazilian border 330 miles southeast of La Paz.

The military junta ruling of El Salvador, southern neighbor of Guatemala, reported last night it had thwarted a revolutionary plot. It gave no details. Unofficial reports said four army colonels were placed under house arrest after the plot was discovered.

President Miguel Ydigoras of Guatemala was given an enthusiastic reception in Puerto Barrios, chief Caribbean port, after the last of 300 rebels were put to flight.

Most of the rebels apparently escaped to the hills of nearby Honduras to the north. Guatemala planned to ask for their extradition. Only one rebel officer, the second in command, was captured.

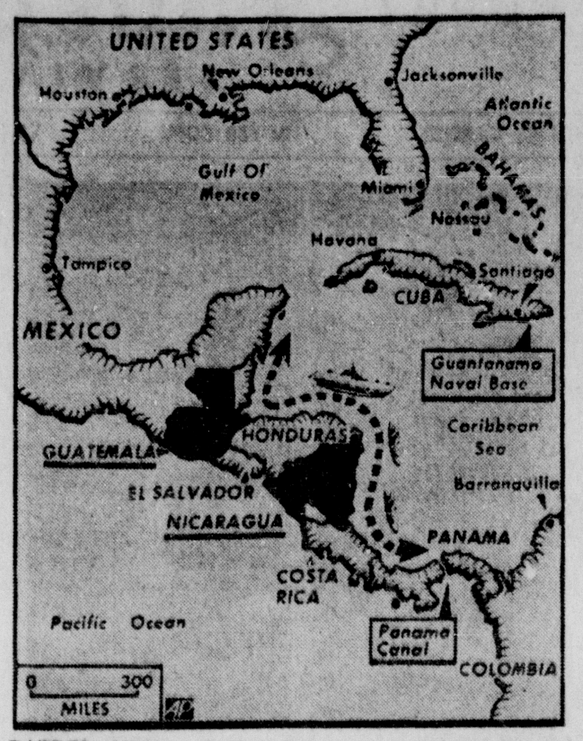

Ydigoras has charged that "dirty gold" of Castro was used to buy up officers who participated in the revolt.

Terroristic activity continued in the Guatemalan capital. Three bombs exploded last night but caused no casualties. A suspected bomber was caught. Ydigoras has threatened the execution of terrorists.

A member of Guatemala's Congress, Manuel Orellana Portilla, said he would introduce a move to declare war on Cuba if proof of Cuban meddling is presented.

The government of Costa Rica, southern neighbor of Nicaragua, said it found documents linking the revolt in Nicaragua with Castro's Cuba and communism. Costa Rica expelled a Cuban and several Nicaraguans linked with the revolt.

Nicaragua's President Luis Somoza has declared the Cuban government responsible for the uprising in which insurgents succeeded in capturing the cities of Jinotepe and Diriamba last week. They were driven out by about 1,000 national guardsmen.

Dependents' Proposal Explained

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has made it clear that a new order involving dependents will not force extensive separations of military families now overseas.

Secretary of Defenses Thomas S. Gates Jr. said late yesterday a presidential order to reduce the number of overseas military dependents by about 184,000 will be carried out mainly by:

1. Having military men now overseas return to the United States with their families at the end of their normal tours of duty.

2. Returning some military men with their families before completion of their regular assignments.

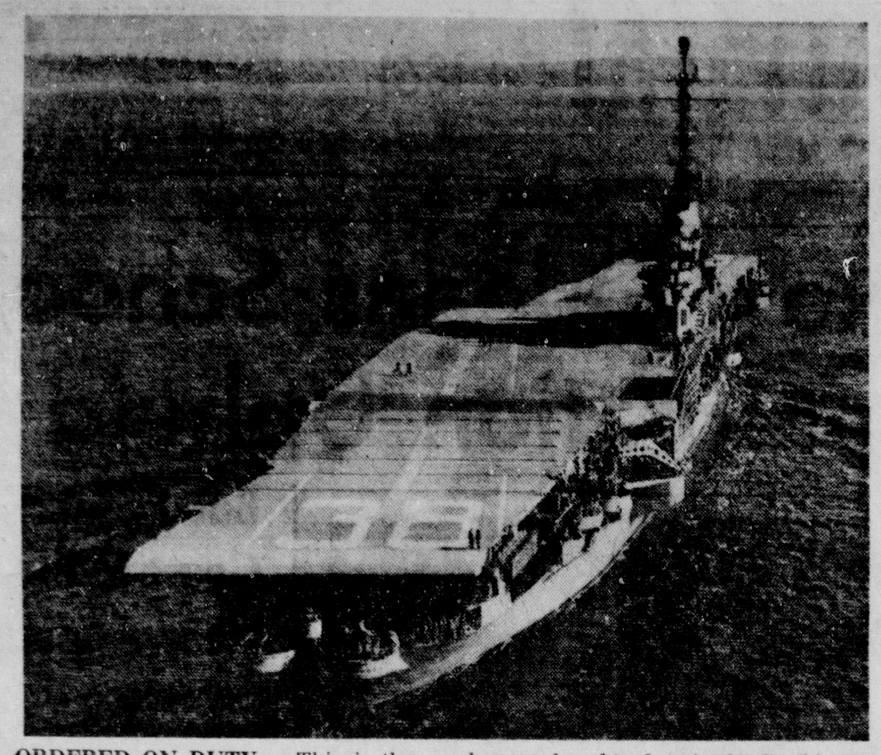

3. Reducing the number of military dependents sent abroad in the future.

Gates specifically excluded from the reduction program military units in Alaska, Hawaii, the Panama Canal Zone, the Mariannas, Marshall, Midway, Samoa and Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. He said the plan should be carried out without regard to rank or station.

The reductions will start in January at the rate of at least 15,000 monthly.

Gates detailed the program after Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker implied that the dependent reduction might affect combat effectiveness. He expressed sympathy for those affected by it.

The first school for girls in Turkey was opened in Istanbul in 1858.

Laos Premier Agrees To Reds In Cabinet

VIETIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Souvanna Phouma's neutralist government announced today it has agreed to formation of a coalition regime that will include members of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

A communique said that Laos, now largely supported by American dollars, will also accept aid from Red China and Communist North Viet Nam.

The United States has pumped about 300 million dollars into Laos since 1954 to keep the strategic Buddhist kingdom in in the anti-Communist camp. About 85 per cent of the aid has gone into the country's military and civil budget.

The communique announcing acceptance of Communist help was the first from peace talks that Souvanna opened with Pathet Lao negotiators here a month ago.

The exact composition of the coalition government "will be considered and agreed upon later," it said.

The coalition would be formed "as soon as possible," the communique said, and "must include representatives of people of all classes and patriotic qualified representatives of every political party including the Neo Lao Hak (the political arm of the Pathet Lao)."

The announcement said the Laotian government had given assurances it would "begin to accept aid from the Peoples Republic of China and the Communist Democratic Republic of North Viet Nam and will send goodwill missions to visit both countries to discuss and exchange views of economics and culture."

The agreements were the first concessions by Souvanna Phouma's government to these demands.

The Pathet Lao is led by Souvanna's half-brother, Prince Souvanna Vong. The Red Prince escaped from prison where he was held on charges of treason last May.

When Souvanna Phouma took over after a paratroop coup ousted the pro-Western Laotian government in August, he immediately made overtures to his Communist brother for a truce to end guerrilla attacks.

Souvanna Phouma's deal with the Communists came as his neutralist government was rocked by defections to rightist rebel Gen. Phoumi Nosavana, whose force controls the royal seat of Luang Prabang.

Phoumi, a staunch anti-Communist who was defense minister in the old pro-Western regime, had been offered the posts of deputy premier and interior minister by Souvanna Phouma but he refused to join the neutralist government.

Instead Phoumi started a revolt.

FRIEND HURT

Kennedy, Johnson Bag Deer

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy got two deer when he went hunting yesterday, but his friend, Rep. Terbert H. Macdonald (D-Mass.), came back with a bruised nose and no deer.

Macdonald, who was Kennedy's Harvard roommate, went hunting with Kennedy and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson on Johnson's ranch. Johnson also got two deer.

Macdonald came back from the hunt with a bandage on his nose. It was later learned that as he fired his rifle the first time the telescopic sight struck him on the nose when the rifle recoiled. He was not injured seriously.

Yanks Mistake Germans For Own, Brawl Ensues

ALTENSTEIG, Germany (UPI)—"Remember, men," said the U. S. Army captain before the start of an Army maneuver, "the other side has disguised some of its men as German civilians, so be on the alert."

The soldiers took him at his word. Half an hour later a patrol burst into a local bar and found three men drinking beer.

"On your feet," shouted the corporal. "We know who you are and you're coming with us."

They were not members of the "other side" at all. They were Germans and the ensuing brawl lasted 30 minutes with tables and chairs overturned and beer bottles sent flying. The patrol retreated.

Drunken Driver Draws $184 Fine

Bartender Mario John Ferrari, 47, of 16 G Street, San Rafael, must pay a $184 fine and remain on probation for six months for his first drunken driving offense.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Municipal Court. He was caught on North San Pedro Road near Merrydale Road in San Rafael on Oct. 30.

Farm Group Attacks State Labor Policy

BERKELEY (UPI)—The California Farm Bureau Federation has ended its annual convention here with an attack on federal and state labor policies and a recommendation that farmers do more to build their own farm labor force.

Official delegates from each county farm bureau included the statements in a 62-resolution policy statement yesterday that will guide the 65,000-member organization through the next session of the legislature.

The group also asked for legislation to break up labor union power, opposed a suggested surcharge on water, and called for a decrease in government control of farming.

The group suggested less dependence on the state department of employment's farm placement service, but at the same time said farmers should try to get a larger percentage of qualified workers from the agency.

Delegates said the U.S. Employment Service, which provides funds for the state agency, "is forcing agriculture to assume the burden of absorbing the unemployed, including many workers not suited for or desiring farm jobs, into productive processes of agriculture."

The farm leaders hit at proposals that the U.S. Department of Labor issue housing, transportation and wage regulations for domestic workers. They said although the issuance of such regulations was possible under the Wagner-Peyser Act, Congress did not intend it would "ever be used for the purpose of regulating domestic migratory workers."

Typewriter Stolen From LDS Church

The thief entered the back door, which may have been left unlocked, forced the doors to the office of Bishop Juan J. Lynn and the library, and ransacked the rooms, Patrolman Jerry Mattos reported.

Gable To Be Buried Beside Third Wife

COMBINED AP & UPI

HOLLYWOOD—Clark Gable will be entombed in a crypt adjoining that of his third wife, actress Carole Lombard.

Gable, who died Wednesday of a heart attack, bought the crypt for Miss Lombard, his great love of nearly two decades ago, when she perished in 1942 in a plane crash. He also purchased one for himself at the time.

Gable was stricken by his second, and fatal, heart attack when he appeared well on the road toward full recovery.

Private funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park at nearby Glendale. Only members of the family and close personal friends will attend.

The decision to entomb him beside Miss Lombard's Forest Lawn crypt was made by his widow, Kay, who is five months pregnant with Gable's first child.

His physicians, meanwhile, gave details of the fatal illness which ended the actor's three-decade legend as king of Hollywood leading men

The physicians said Gable's death resulted from a second blood clot in an artery supplying the back of the heart.

The doctors said that heart tissue damaged in the first attack was healing well.

Organist To Present San Anselmo Recital

Ludwig Altman, whom Pierre Monteux has called "one of the greatest organists I have ever heard," will present a recital at 4 p.m. Sunday at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

During his career he has introduced new works by Schoenberg, Casella Hindemith, Kohs, Milhaud and Piston.

His recital will be at Montgomery Chapel, Bolinas Avenue and Richmond Road, San Anselmo. It is open to the public with donations taken. This will be his only Marin County peformance this season.

The program will be divided into two parts: "Music of our Time," featuring works by Bloch, Schroeder, Piet Post, Searle Wright and Paul Hindemith; the second part, entitled "The City Council of Leipzig selects a new Thomas Cantor in 1722-23," will feature compositions by Telemann, Graupner and Bach.

Kennedy, Dulles Confer In Florida

COMBINED AP & UPI

PALM BEACH, Fla.—President-elect John F. Kennedy conferred with Central Intelligence Agency chief Allen W. Dulles nearly three hours today on global problems, including the possible threat of a com munist-led attack on Central America.

Kennedy's acting press secretary, Donald M. Wilson, told newsmen after the two-hour and 40-minute meeting that the next president and the CIA chief "discussed a wide range of matters" including tension in the Caribbean area.

Wilson said Kennedy would decline to comment on President Eisenhower's having rushed U. S. Navy units to the area in response to appeals from Guatemala and Nicaragua for help in defending against a feared "Communist-directed" attack from Fidel Castro's Cuba.

"Senator Kennedy feels it's improper for him to discuss actions of policies of the United States government at this time because he has no responsibilities until he assumes office inauguration day," Wilson said. "That is going to be his policy on all such matters between now and Inauguration Day (Jan. 20)."

Wilson made these other announcements:

1. Kennedy has deputized Paul Nitze, State Department director of policy planning during the Truman administration, to represent him at a meeting with Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Wilson said Spaak has sought a discussion of problems involving a 10-year plan for NATO which the American government proposed last December.

2. When Kennedy returns to Washington, D. C., next Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with his wife and child, he also will meet with AFL-CIO President George Meany to discuss unemployment problems.

Kennedy returned to Palm Beach late last night after a round of conferences—and several hours of successful deer hunting—with Lyndon B. Johnson, the vice president-elect.

Before leaving Johnson's LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex., Kennedy put out a statement saying they had a profitable discussion of plans and programs for the new administration which will take over from the Republicans Jan. 20.

Johnson and Kennedy plan to meet again for more planning after the vice president-elect returns from a NATO conference in Paris.

Man Burned As Blast Rips Apartments

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—An earth-shaking explosion blew an apartment dweller through a second story wall today and turned him into a human torch.

Phillip Lombardo, 41, was lifted from his bed and hurled through the wall. He struck the ground two stories below, got up and ran down an alley with his nightclothes ablaze.

Lombardo was taken to General Hospital with burns over his entire body.

Crime Czar Accardo Given 6 Years For Tax Evasion

CHICAGO (UPI)—Tony Accardo, reputed kingpin of the crime empire once ruled by Al Capone, was sentenced today to six years in federal prison and fined $15,000 for income tax evasion.

Federal Judge Julius J. Hoffman ordered "Tough Tony" to give up his life as a country gentleman on a $500,000 suburban estate for the cell of a federal penitentiary.

A federal court jury a week ago found the multi-millionaire gang czar guilty of a penny-ante tax dodge that saved him only $3,995 in taxes over a three-year period.

Judge Hoffman set Accadro's bond at $25,000 pending appeal. Attorneys for the former Capone lieutenant said he would make the bond.

Novato Council Due License Ordinance

A comprehensive business license ordinance for Novato will go before the city council Nov. 29.

The ordinance wording and the flat fees it proposes were worked out by a committee from the Novato Chamber of Commerce, a city council committee and City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. in a series of meetings which ended this morning.

The chamber committee will report to chamber directors before the city council meeting, to come up with final proposals. City councilmen Charles R. Johnson and Everett Pozzi will also present final adjustments to the council meeting. Chamber and council committees have reached general agreement on the ordinance.

The proposed ordinance sets a flat $25 a year license fee for city businesses, plus $2 yearly for each employee after the first one. It gives the city council final word on granting licenses, sets a maximum $500 fine for ordinance violations.

No licenses would be required for benefit, non-profit, fraternal, military or governmental "business," such as concerts exhibitions, lectures. Disabled veterans who are eligible to vote are exempt from business license fees.

Other fees tentatively set up in the ordinance:

1. Non-local businesses which deliver goods or services by vehicle in the city, $35 yearly plus $15 for each additional vehicle.

2. Non-local contractors, $15 a quarter or the local rate.

3. Non-local business, not specifically covered, $25 yearly

4. Street vendors and handbill distribuors, $120 yearly or $5 daily.

5. Vehicle street advertising, $180 yearly or $10 daily.

6. Auctioneers, $200 yearly or $15 daily.

7. Coin operated machines, $2 yearly; cigarette machines, $10 yearly; juke boxes, $25 yearly.

8. Amusement arcades, pool and billiard halls, ice and roller skating rinks, $50 yearly.

9. Dance halls, $100 yearly.

10. Circuses and carnivals, for which a charge is made. $300 for the first day and $100 each additional day.

San Rafael Man Jailed For Attack

Clayton Harvey Wagner, 40, San Rafael auto agency employee, was jailed yesterday on a charge that he raped a 13-year-old girl in Reno.

Sheriff's Inspectors Marco Melovich and Bowen Bridges arrested Wagner on Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael on a warrant of arrest from Reno. The inspectors recognized Wagner from "wanted" posters distributed throughout the state. The suspect has severe scars on his face from burns.

He was held in Marin County Jail for Reno authorities in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Cranberries Get Clean Bill Of Health

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has given the 1960 cranberry crop a clean bill of health.

Secretary Arthur S. Flemming of the Health, Education and Welfare Department said yesterday that all reports of this year's crop—expected to be a record one—have been "favorable."

Flemming said the U. S. Food and Drug Administration has been watching the crop "very closely," and had found no evidence of contamination by aminotriazole, a weed killer which has caused cancer in laboratory animals.

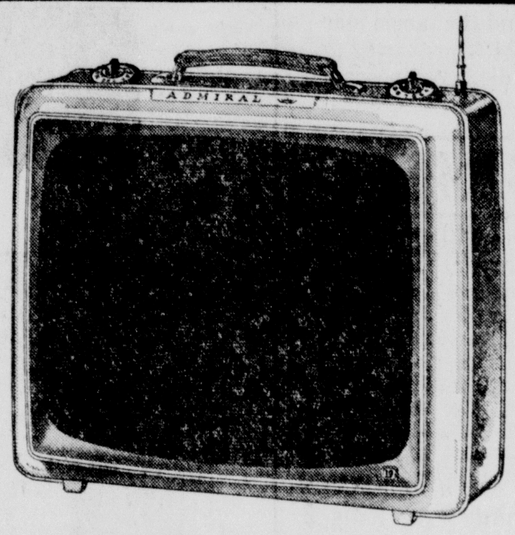

Flemming's disclosure three weeks before Thanksgiving last year that parts of the 1958 and 1959 cranberry crops had been tainted by the weed killer dealt a severe blow to the cranberry industry.

Although some shipments were cleared for consumption, many housewives, made wary of the cranberry by the Flemming didsclosure, used substitutes.

—In Northern California Bennie Ford is Mr. Boxing. He has been closely identified with the sport for many years. And he has promoted many of California's biggest bouts, some of them with world championships at stake. Ford, a Marinite who resides at San Anselmo, is also one of the most vociferous defenders of the often criticized ring sport. 'Dream Schools' Called Difficult To Come By

State superintendents and commissioners of education from across the country have been wrestling with that problem at a three-day meeting that ends here today.

It's easy to talk about the "dream schools" of tomorrow, they said, the new and beefed-up courses of study and the wonderful electronic devices that will make learning easier and better.

It's something else to translate dreams into classroom action.

"The idea of changing the high school curriculum is not new," J. Lloyd Trump of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals told the Council of Chief State School Officers Thursday.

"It has been talked about for years. But of all the major proposals that have been made since World War I, only two have been generally adopted—vocational education and extra curricular activities.

"Remember radio? Once radio was going to be a great boon to education, it was going to bring great ideas to all the people. But some people saw it as a threat to the teacher. And others said it was dangerous that some mysterious 'someone' would use it to dictate what people would learn.

"And the same arguments we once heard against radio we are hearing again today against educational television, teaching machines and other new techniques."

Trump referred to proposals for stiff new courses in seven fields of study, presented by a group of experts here, and asked: "Have we learned our lesson? Are we going to doom these great ideas to failure because we are too busy, because we don't have the teachers, the buildings, or the money?"

The play presented at Ford's Theater on the night of April 14, 1865, was Tom Taylor's celebrated comedy, "Our American Cousin," with Laura Keene in the leading role. President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated during the third act.

DOGGED DEER BEDEVILS HOUSEKEEPER

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI)—Housekeeper Christine Rose was going about her chores for Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Boyle Jr. yesterday when there was a bang at the door. Guests were not expected.

She heard hoofbeats thundering down the hall.

She started out of the kitchen and caught a glimpse of a deer sliding around a corner and into the bathroom.

Two hound dogs pelted in the open door only a minute behind and began racing wildly about the living room.

"I was terrified," Mrs. Rose reported. "The deer was slipping and sliding every time he tried to get up. The dogs were yowling in the living room.

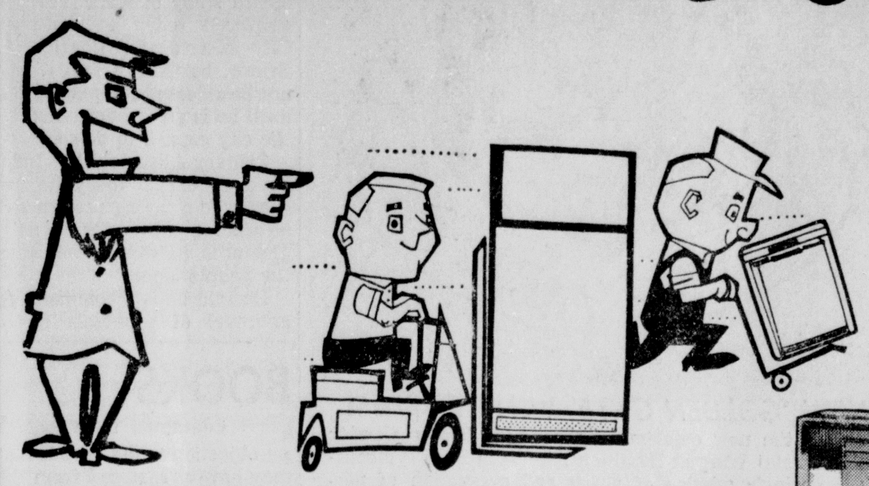

"The deer finally got his footing and came running down the hall. He ran into the living room and with one leap jumped over a chair and right through a window. He must have jumped 12 feet."

Mrs. Rose, who had sought cover during the melee, chased the dogs out a door a few minutes later.

Bank Proposal Passed By Fairfax Planners

Fairfax planning commissioners gave unanimous approval for a new Bank of America building at School Street and Broadway last night.

The eight commissioners (there is one vacancy) consider only off-street parking, which they approved. Final step is a building permit from Building Inspector Robert Roy.

Bids on construction of the one-story brick structure with peaked roof will be opened at 3 p.m., Nov. 30, by the Continental Service Co. of San Francisco, property management agents for Bank of America.

Plans call for demolishing the 39-year-old Bank of America building at Broadway and Bank Street in Fairfax.

The new building will be located on the west side of the old site. Main entrance will be from Broadway, but there will be a side entrance from School Street.

A black-topped parking area for 20 cars will cover the site of the old bank and the wooden building now housing the city council chambers.

City councilmen have been studying plans for a civic center in which the council chambers would be located in the present fire house.

Branch manager Joseph C. Crean said the plans for the new bank provide for 10 tellers' windows—twice the number in the old building.

In other action last night the planners voted to join the reactivated Marin County Planning Council for $25 per year. The council is designed to stimulate cooperation of the various planning commissions in Marin County. Daniel M. Miller, chairman of the Fairfax Planning Commission, will be the Fairfax representative.

The commissioners denied a two-lot subdivision requested by Melvin C. Bridges at 26 Redwod Road because of inadequate parking space.

NEW 'GOLDEN GATE' WING EMBLEM

Three Liquor 'Hijackers' Sentenced

Three of nine "hijackers" of a $75,000 load of whiskey stolen in Emeryville and abandoned in Fairfax in June were sentenced to prison and fined today.

They were Philip Granata, Berkeley restaurant operator, his son, Frank, and Harold Marsh of Sacramento.

The elder Granata was sentenced to four years in prison and fined $4,000 by Federal Judge Sherill Halbert in Sacramento. His son, Frank, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail and five years probation. A five-year suspended prison term also was imposed.

Marsh received a $500 fine, six months in jail, a suspended three-year prison term and three years probation.

The nine were charged with stealing the whiskey shipment from the Pacific Intermountain Express terminal in Emeryville.

The Granatas were convicted by a jury in federal court. The other seven pleaded guilty and were tried only by the judge.

The division's requests were described as a "status quo" budget by Ronald E. Miller, deputy chief of administrative services. No major acquisition or development program for Marin County are included. An $80,000 item is listed for completion of acquisition of the two parcels of the Golden Gate military reservations already declared surplus by the federal government. The amount will be added to the $250,000 made available in this year's budget for their purchase.

More than 60 per cent of the division's eight million dollar budget is scheduled for Southern California, Miller said. He called it "a complete washout" as far as Marin County is concerned.

Actually, it includes $35,000 for a new comfort station and $7,500 for water facilities at the south end of Stinson Beach; $3,500 for 35 new picnic areas at Tomales Bay State Park, and $1,000 for minor improvements there; $14,700 for a new comfort station on the top of Mount Tamalpais, and one new state park attendant for Angel Island. Nothing is in the budget for Taylor State Park.

Miller said there also is talk in the division about the possibility of establishing a conservation camp on Angel Island for island cleanup, construction of fire trails and similar work.

VOTES

counties of San Diego, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino.

Hundreds of thousands of votes for unpledged presidential electors and minor party candidates will cut further Kennedy's percentage of the national popular vote. Most states will not report votes for splinter parties until the official canvass. The last of these returns will not be in until next month.

Even if Kennedy winds up with less than a majority, he will of course still be the winner—barring an unexpected upset in the electoral vote lineup. His 300 electoral votes are 31 more than the 269 needed for election.

Sausalitan Files Assault Charge

Alan Bottarini of San Francisco was booked at the Marin County Jail early today on charges of assault and battery brought by Carl Cotton of Apartment 207, Ebbtide Apartments, on Bridgeway at Waldo Point in Sausalito.

Sausalito Police Officer Tom Zink said he was called to the apartment at 1 a.m. by Donald W. Lehman, who said he had been assaulted, and on arrival saw Cotton standing in the doorway holding a large stick of wood.

Lehman was in the living room, his clothes spattered with blood, mouth bleeding and one eye blackened. The door to the partment had been smashed in, Zink said. Chairs and tables were overturned.

Cotton told police Bottarini broke in the door, threw Cotton to the floor and smashed the furniture after a dispute that began at a party being held by Karen Hoover and Marilyn Silva in apartment 208.

4-H Club Plans Show Tomorrow

It'll be "down on the farm" tomorrow at the county courthouse.

A calf, sheep, rabbits, chickens and vegetables will be on display as part of a Novato Aggies 4-H Club project to show what club members accomplish.

The display will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Osteopaths' Suit Hits Corte Madera Ruling

Two Corte Madera osteopaths asked Marin Superior Court today to stop town officials from interfering with the practice of their profession in their home at 22 Mohawk Avenue.

The town councilmen have ordered Vernon V. Casey and his wife Gertrude, both osteopaths, to stop using their home as professional offices to treat patients.

The Caseys filed suit today against Corte Madera and William G. McBride, the zoning administrator for Corte Madera.

Before they bought the home, Mr. and Mrs. Casey allege that McBride and Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow Jr. orally assured them they could practice their profession at home as a "home occupation."

On that assurance, say the Caseys, they spent considerable money to convert the home for their practice. They charge that the town has no right to force them to stop using their home for treating patients.

Caesarean Birth Planned By Mrs. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Jackie Kennedy will enter a New York hospital in mid-December for the caesarean delivery of her second child.

It will be the second such delivery for the 31-year-old future first lady. A Washington physician said the risk involved in a caesarean delivery was "practically infinitesimal." The delivery will be made in a Manhattan hospital.

Mrs. Kennedy suffered two miscarriages before her daughter, Caroline, was born three years ago this Nov. 27 and this presumably was a factor in the decision to deliver the second child by surgery.

Del Mar Estates Open To Public

Del Mar Estates II, a 21-acre home development at 600 Tiburon Boulevard, will be open to the public starting at 10 a.m. tomorrow, Frederick C. Rowley, president of the Tiburon Development Corp., announced today.

The development includes three to five-bedroom homes in the $30,000-$35,000 bracket and features lots laid out so that all homes will have a view, unobstructed from other houses. The corporation has offices in Little Reed Heights as well as at Del Mar Estates. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Rowley said.

BUT NOT RELEASED

Marinship Planning Report Finished

Planning consultant Frederick Allen's report on his one-month study of Marinship was delivered today to Sausalito City Manager Charles A. Brown, but Brown said it will not be released for publication until he is given permission by the city council to do so.

Planner Allen told the Independent-Journal today he has suggested a zoning pattern and circulation pattern for the polyglot area in which "we leave the people alone."

He said he is recommending approval of proposals for a shopping center and office building and 75-unit garden apartment.

Allen added that he suggests a waterfront which will be "something of the nature of a Greenwich Village." His plan will have a great bearing to the waterfront of a great many communities up and down Richardson Bay, he said.

He said he has worked closely with members of the Marinship Property Owners Assn. and that "it would appear from the owners that they are content with the report."

BOOKS

est objection to the fairs is that they have progressed from the children's book business to the point where they will order any title in publication.

"Since the wholesalers give them the books on consignment and offer them discounts we cannot afford to give, their fairs obviously cut into our business," said Frank Pershina, owner of the Golden Hind Book Store in San Anselmo. "My business is far less than last year's—especially in children's books."

Book dealers are given discounts according to the number of books they buy at one time, Lidell explained. The new discount schedule of the San Francisco News Co., one of the dealers supplying the fairs with their stock, gives only 10 per cent on a single volume. The percentage increases to 37 per cent with the purchase of as many as 50 volumes of the same title.

"Obviously, this works a hardship on the smaller shops who cannot afford to stock too heavily," Lidell said. Since his is the county's largest book store, Lidell says he gets most of his books direct from the publishers. Unsold books can be returned at a slight loss, but the wholesale houses do not refund on unsold goods.

Mrs. Roth pointed out also that dealers must pay personal property tax on their inventory. "I pay the same inventory tax on my stock as I pay on a $30,000 home."

As to the legality of the P-TAs "going into business" at the schools, the activity is apparently perfectly proper, according to County Counsel E. Warren McGuire. His "offhand opinion" is that nonprofit organizations are permitted the use of tax-supported buildings under the state civic center act.

City ordinances do not require P-TAs and similar organizations to take out a business license for a book fair.

Mrs. Nilan said her organization takes out a temporary re-sale license with the State Board of Equalization and pays the required sales tax.

Weavers Exhibit Extended To Dec. 11

The Contemporary Handweavers of California textile exhibition at the M. H. De Young Museum in San Francisco has been extended until Dec. 11.

The display, which includes the work of a number of Marin weavers, was originally scheduled to close Dec. 4.

Judge Finds Man Guilty Of Assault

Robert W. Lane, 43, of Kentfield, who attacked Fairfax attorney Carl B. Shapiro and threw a typewriter at Shapiro and his wife, was found guilty today of assault and battery.

Lane, who works for a shipping company in San Francisco, sat impassively before Judge Joseph G. Wilson as Shapiro related what happened Oct. 19 at his law office in Fairfax.

Shapiro said Lane accused him of turning off the utilities at Lane's home in San Anselmo. Shapiro was attorney for Lane's landlady, who was trying to evict Lane and his family.

Shapiro testified he pushed Lane away about three times and threw a file divider to defend himself. When Mrs. Shapiro tried to call police, Lane grabbed the receiver from her. "He then picked up the typewriter and threw it like a shot put," Shapiro recalled.

Lane, who represented himself in the trial, had no witness and told the judge he had nothing to say in his defense.

William V. Zahn, 25, Succumbs

An autopsy was performed today on the body of William Victor Zahn, 25-year-old San Anselmo grocery clerk who was found dead in his room yesterday.

A note in the pocket of a pair of pants hanging in the closet read, "I just can't cope with this any longer." The note was unsigned.

Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo police said that, despite the note, evidence of suicide was lacking. The body bore no mark, and no poison was found in the room, Chief Buchignani said.

Zahn, a clerk at Drake Market in San Anselmo, had been absent from work two days because of a cold. Mrs. Johnson said she talked with him at 1 p.m. yesterday when she took him a glass of orange juice. At 5:45, she went to call him for dinner. Receiving no answer, she looked in the room and found him dead.

Zahn was a son of Victor Zahn, a Berkeley psychologist. The father told police his son had been moody and depressed.

West Envoys Disturbed Over South Viet Charge

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Some strongly anti-Western overtones are emerging in South Viet Nam just one week after paratroopers tried to seize power in a thwarted coup. The United States, Britain and France are getting the blame for the uprising.

British Ambassador Harold Hohler was reliably reported to have made a strong personal protest to President Ngo Dinh Diem last night.

American diplomats were known to be equally disturbed. Diem's anti-Communist government has been bulwarked by U.S. aid poured in at the rate of 250 million dollars a year.

Hohler's protest was over a handbill distributed in the name of the powerful Citizen's Anti-Rebels and Anti-Communist Committee which said that during the coup attempt the insurgents and political opportunists had the help of colonialists and imperialists, American, French and British.

The ambassador said this was "totally false," informed soures said.

Vietnamese charges, made on various government and private levels, follow two lines—that some "foreign elements" may have had a hand in encouraging the paratroops to violence, and that over the past months there has been a "campaign of disparagement" against the government.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Novato Council Should End Rash Of Secret Meetings

It is disturbing to us when the City Council of the county's newest city takes so lightly its legal responsibility to keep the people of Novato informed.

Novato City Council held four non-public meetings to discuss the problems of putting a road through a subdivision before Tuesday night's public meeting.

It is discouraging that new public officials would so soon attempt to circumnavigate the clearly defined state law governing them.

We can only hope that the councilmen have not fully realized their responsibilities in this regard and do not yet understand the full import of the Brown Act provisions which require them to meet in public.

Of its most recent private session one member excused its secrecy by saying, "It was purely discussion." Another declared, "It was not designed for the council to take action."

They seem to be overlooking the portion of the Brown Act which says this: "It is the intent of the law that their (public agencies) actions be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly."

This portion of the law means exactly what it says. The Golden Gate Bridge directors asked their attorney if the law means that committee meetings of the bridge directors must be public meetings. He answered in the affirmative.

In an opinion handed down just last month dealing directly with city councils, the state's attorney general cited the section of the Brown Act that "deliberations be conducted openly." Then he said this: "Under the Brown Act, all meetings must be conducted publicly, with the exception of meetings considering employment or dismissal of personnel."

We hope the Novato council is just getting its feet on the ground. Certainly we hope the councilmen have not adopted the attitude of "we'll do things our way and to heck with what the people know about them."

It is important that the people know why it was decided to put a road here rather than there. It is important that they know the reasoning that led up to the decision.

If they get the idea the councilmen are talking road problems in private, why wouldn't they be talking other things privately too? the people might well ask.

Such uncertainty or even mistrust on the part of the residents of a city toward their councilmen is not healthy. The obvious way to avoid it is to follow the advice of the governor of California: "Do the government's business in a department store window."

Acorn Season

Our Marin oaks have been giving birth to multitudenous acorns the past month. Some trees we have seen would make a Miwok Indian drool with delight and hunger.

Marin's squatty, little aborigines were great acorn eaters. Except for a few live oak acorns, they had to be ground and washed to remove the tannic acid and other impurities before they were edible. This was no easy task with the primitive equipment they had.

Some folks are a bit inclined to belittle our California Indians. These plump, unaggressive, little fellows were not their idea of the Noble Redskin. But we are prone to admire them.

They were quite backward in many ways, but they were well adapted to the conditions of Nature in this region. They learned how to use the lowly acorn as a food and thrived upon it.

We always think of the Miwok in acorn season.

Jersey Devil Is A Monster Born Of Myth, People Still Believe It

By JOHN KOLESAR
(For Hal Boyle)

The screams that residents of Dorothy, N.J., have heard in the night and those big tracks in the earth they have seen are probably caused just the way the state troopers have said—by Halloween pranksters.

For the Jersey Devil is a monster born and sustained by myth, press-agentry and reporters.

The myth has it that the Jersey Devil was born in 1887 in Estellville, a little community about 15 miles west of Atlantic City and five miles east of the hamlet of Dorothy.

Supposedly a Mrs. Leeds was expecting her seventh child, didn't like the prospect, and wished that it would be a devil. When the time came, it was born a devil, and immediately flew up the chimney and out into legend.

Since then, it supposedly has been seen a number of times.

What did the devil look like? It was cloven-hoofed, long-tailed, with the head of a collie dog, the face of a horse, the body of a kangaroo, the wings of a bat, half-human, half-animal. Sometimes it had 11 feet and exhaled fire and smoke.

How about the truth? Prof. Curtis D. MacDaugall, of the journalism school at Northwestern University, seems to have the most logical explanation.

He says the Jersey Devil is the concoction of Norman Jefferies, a press agent for C. A. Brandenburg's Museum in Philadelphia in 1906.

MacDougall, in his book on hoaxes, says Jefferies ran across the story of Mrs. Leeds in an old book and decided to use it in a publicity stunt.

THEN JEFFERIES topped the whole thing by arranging capture of the beast in Hunting Park, Philadelphia.

IT WAS a kangaroo—purchased in Buffalo, N.Y.—painted green and white and harnessed with bronze wings. The leap was prompted by a small boy with a stick.

Residents recently reported hearing screams and seeing footprints around Dorothy. Police say it was only Halloween pranksters. But local folks know better—it was the Jersey Devil, they say.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Matt Graham replied to critics of his work as Golden Gate Bridge director through a letter to the supervisors refusing to admit he had squandered taxpayers' money and declaring he had tried to represent "taxpayer, merchant and commuters." Carl Spring of Sausalito's citizens council complained to the supervisors that Graham answered only questions of his own choice.

20 YEARS AGO

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District accused the State Toll Bridge Authority and the Highway Division of diverting traffic from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Carquinez Toll Bridge recently acquired by the state.

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I liked your editorial of Nov. 10 on the election, especially your closing line: "And now, back to work."

You are too nimble to engage in a battle of semantics, but I wonder what you mean by "work?" I guess you mean, "Let's go back and do what we were doing before we started this campaign."

For most of the workers of both parties this is not only a desirable therapy, but necessary for economical survival. Some of them might well ask just what we think they have been doing these past three months — if it wasn't work!!

May I, however, take exception to the idea that we should now lapse into political inactivity until the next campaign of 1962? The workers of both parties, as well as the electorate of Marin, turned in an object lesson for the whole nation in their performance last Tuesday—92.4 per cent of the electorate voting!

What America needs is this deep political involvement of its citizenry, people who act instead of talking, people who think instead of vegetating, people who make the two-party system really work.

The election being over, I trust you will not accuse me of self-seeking for my party if I take this occasion to give particular public praise to our Republican headquarters workers and precinct teams. These people even went into the hospitals to glean the votes of the patients, and one of them wrote this note to me on election night:

"At 6:30 this evening—one-half hour before the polls closed—my precinct had 100 per cent Republican votes cast!! One Demo had failed to show up by my quitting time—shortly after 6:30. Otherwise the Demos did pretty well too . . ."

That is a masterpiece of understatement and a stunning tribute to those of both parties who consider political activity a priceless privilege of the free man.

On this Veterans' Day 1960, it is appropriate to remember America's free men of other times have bought this privilege for us at the price of their own life blood. The least we can do is go back to work—political work—to strengthen it!

Can't Courthouse Be City Hall?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In reading the articles on the new (San Rafael) city hall, we have been left to wonder about the use of the present courthouse after the new courthouse is finished in the meadows.

People we have asked have not been able to explain why the San Rafael city administration should not simply move across A Street into what should make a commodious city hall in the ideal location.

F. P. SHERRY
San Rafael

(NOTE: One reason is that the courthouse will not be emptied by the first phase of construction at the civic center. It will probably be 10 years or more before the courts, for example, are moved out of the courthouse.)

They Don't Look As Dark Now

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I deeply and sincerely want to thank you and all the many wonderful people in Sausalito and Marin County who contributed to the Robert Borzone Fund.

My thanks also extend to the many good hearted business men and women in Sausalito, who devoted their time and property in my behalf. I'm sure that each one of you knows that the funds given are being used to their utmost medical advantage.

I'm now reassured that my hours spent in service to the people of Sausalito were used to perform an appreciated task for a majority of deserving and thoughtful people.

Because of everyone, things don't look as dark as they could have. Thanking you again.

brought you all the way from why don't you be a brave boy and plunge into those waves?"

"I will, Daddy, I will," his son responded earnestly —
"Just the second you stop

Theaters Run Terror Movies Because People Go To See Them

It seems a group of organized, irate mothers, concerned about their children's film fare, put Don on the witness stand at a public meeting and called him to task for the generally low level of movies coming out of Hollywood.

According to reports, Don handled the situation with aplomb, common sense and reason.

When asked why the theater owners made available to children such terrifying movies as "Psycho," to name only one, and films dripping with sex, mayhem and murder, Don's reply was simple logic itself.

The answer was money.

THE REASONING behind his reply was that if patrons will stand in line to look at Gina Lollobrigidia's bosom, Marilyn's bedroom eyes and Hitchcock's terror, why should a theater owner bother with "The Life and Loves of Little Bo Peep?" After all, he is in business.

Exhibitors pay money for the films they show. They are chosen, Don tells me, on the basis of box office reports from other cities. If "Psycho" did a whopping gross in St. Louis, it stands to reason it won't fall flat on its face in Marin.

PERSONALLY, I think the mothers, many of whom call me from time to time to suggest I write a column on the evils of unacceptable films, are unduly concerned over the effect such pictures have on their small fry.

My own children, both of whom are now teen-agers, have seen their share of films I would not have chosen for them. I honestly don't feel they have had a lasting effect on their mental balance.

The few times in their lives they have waked up shouting in the dead of night were usually the result of much more mundane experiences than watching Mike Hammer scrag a lovely blonde or an invasion of earth by creatures from outer space.

When I have been able to make out the words of their loud nocturnal conversations, they were usually a replay of a healthy brawl with their classmates over a disputed football or a coloring set. My daughter also went through a period where she was terrified of owls, although I hardly think it likely Hollywood contributed to the fear.

I ALSO FEEL that the steady and seemingly unending stream of trash, both on the silver screen and over the magic lantern of TV, tends to dull the impact of a few real shockers. And, in my opinion, more grade-A harm is done children of today by the so-called "major" productions dealing with Hollywood's interpretation of American life and love than by their terror films.

I have spent far more time straightening out their warped interpretations of such pictures than I have soothing their nervous systems after they have watched something on the order of "I Was An Apprentice Bloodsucker."

In my youth, the films had much more lasting effect simply because they were so few and far between. When you saw Charlie Chaplin, W. C. Fields and Buster Keaton on an average of once a year, the enjoyment of the classic was something to remember for a long time to come.

The same holds true of the chillers. I still sit bolt upright in bed on occasion when I recall Lon Chaney in "The Phantom Of the Opera," a thriller to end all thrillers which I saw at least three times, circa 1925.

IN ANY CASE, mothers and fathers everywhere can take heart in the news that book sales are on the increase. Perhaps if the parents who are so concerned over their children's movie habits were to bother to increase their own libraries, their children might discover the joys of reading and demand less canned entertainment.

My statistics on mounting book sales, incidentally, come from Mrs. Mark Roth, owner of the Redwood Book Shop in Mill Valley. I find it hard to believe, but she tells me the national gross of books is now just slightly less than that of peanut butter.

"This is a healthy sign," Mrs. Roth opines philosophically. "Last year we were barely ahead of cranberries."

Japanese Voters Expected To Repudiate Anti-Americans

WASHINGTON—The anti-American, pro-neutralist, anti-defense treaty riots, which forced President Eisenhower to cancel his trip to Tokyo, are about to be repudiated by the Japanese people.

This is the predictable result of the Japanese general election on Nov. 20.

There are four indications of a decisive victory for pro-Western Premier Hayato Ikeda and the Liberal Democrats whose leadership is consistently anti-neutralist.

THE JAPANESE public has recoiled with displeasure and distaste at the organized violence of the Socialists and Communists.

The Liberal Democratic party of Premier Ikeda has been uniformly supported in local elections since the riots.

In recent elections for governors in rural prefectures, where the Socialists and Communists were united behind the same candidates, the voting strength of the Liberal Democrats was not even dented.

In American political terminology, the Japanese people quite literally "have never had it so good." They are going to vote accordingly.

Under the policies of the Liberal Democrats, who are conservative in their economics, the Japanese have experienced six years of unexampled prosperity and economic growth. While President-elect Kennedy aims to bring the U. S. rate of economic growth to 5 per cent, the Japanese rate of growth during the past year was a phenomenal 16 per cent.

THE EXPECTED victory of the Ikeda party, which unqualifiedly supports the Japanese-U. S. defense treaty, does not mean that the Japanese voters unqualifiedly support the treaty. There is no doubt that this election is turning more on economic policy than upon defense policy.

Premier Ikeda's program promises to double the average family income in 10 years —from $330 to $660, with a 25 per cent advance during the next four years. The record of the Liberal Democratic government has earned credit with the Japanese people and the more radical proposals of the Leftist parties, like government ownership of industry, have as little appeal in Japan as in Britain, Germany, and France.

But Premier Ikeda in nearly every speech of his campaign has made the defense treaty as a foremost commitment of his government. He is condemning the political riots of last June and he is making it clear that support for his party means rejection of the neutralist policies of the Socialists.

Premier Ikeda knows it is impossible and he is putting his pro-Western, collective-security position so prominently to the fore that the voters can have no doubt what course he will pursue.

COUNTY RUNOUT?

Jury Probe Asked In Resignations

Grand jury investigation into alleged pressures resulting in resignations of several Marin County department heads was advocated yesterday by Gibbs Lawson of Dillon Beach, a member of the county recreation commission.

Lawson, one of four speakers on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," declared he had heard "on authority" that high-level county employees had been told they would have to conform to "a new type thinking" in county government or lose their jobs.

If this is true, he said, it should be investigated by the grand jury.

The program sought to probe the reasons for recent resignations of County Administrator D. A. Jensen and County Counsel Leland H. Jordan, and the announcement of Planning Director Mary Summers that she will quit at the end of next year.

Other resignations in the courthouse are on the way, some of the panel members claimed.

One of the panelists, Mrs. Thomas McDougall of Mill Valley, said she had made a personal survey of reasons for the resignations and got answers varying from "looking for more highly paid jobs" to "rats leaving a sinking ship."

County Auditor Leon A de Lisle, a third panelist, said the officials have valid reasons for resigning. He pooh-poohed the "runout" theory.

The fourth panelist, W. J. Doll, a Dixie School District trustee, asserted bitterly, "We are turning the county over to the junior varsity."

The program will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, with Kitty Oppenheimer as moderator.

N. M. Republicans Really Prohibited

FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP)—New Mexico Republicans, relegated to the second spot on the recent general election ballot for the first time in years, instructed voters to vote for the bottom party on the ballot.

Result: The normally Republican community of Shiprock, just west of Farmington, gave 187 straight party votes to the Prohibitionists—the party listed on the bottom, two notches below the Republicans.

Stolen Repair Truck Found At S.F. Pier

An auto repair truck stolen from Joseph Faustine of San Rafael Wednesday was found yesterday by harbor police, parked in front of Pier 39½ in San Francisco.

Faustine, who operates at 423 Francisco Boulevard, said most of the good tools were missing from the truck. It contained about $4,000 worth of parts and tools when it was stolen from in front of the shop.

Major Leal Retiring From Army

Maj. George P. Leal of 72 Meadow Road, Mill Valley, is about to start selling Marin County real estate following retirement this week after 20 years of army service.

He has been serving as supply and logistics officer for the 40th Artillery Brigade at the Presidio. His military career began in 1940 when he joined the National Guard in La Jolla, San Diego County, accompanying his outfit to Hawaii before Pearl Harbor.

In 1942 he completed officer candidate school at Camp Davis, N.C., after which he served in anti-aircraft artillery defense until 1945 when he left the service. He was recalled to active duty the following year for service in Hawaii, the Philippines and Okinawa.

Before a 1951-2 Korea assignment, Major Leal attended officers' course at Fort Bliss, Tex. Since then he has served with the San Francisco-Travis AFB Army Air Defense.

Salesman Freed Of Beating Charge; Wife Disappears

A San Anselmo used car salesman was freed of child beating charges yesterday because his wife, the complainant and key witness, has disappeared.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court dismissed the felony charge against Arthur Burton Norwitt, 29, of 174 Meadowcroft Drive, because the prosecution could not proceed with the preliminary hearing.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said he has reason to believe that Norwitt's wife, Carol, is deliberately avoiding the service of a summons to appear in court as chief witness. San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani and Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio have been trying to serve the summons without success.

Garety said he believes Mrs. Norwitt is avoiding service either through coercion or unlawful influence of some kind.

"If we get evidence to prove this," Garety declared, "I intend to present the case to the grand jury for possible prosecution."

Norwitt was arrested last month on a complaint by Mrs. Norwitt. At that time, she was insistent on having her husband prosecuted for mistreating 4-year-old Candice George, her daughter by a previous marriage. She told police he grabbed the girl by the hair and flung her to the bathroom floor.

Education Aide Predicts Adoption Of Statewide School Test Proposal

A state education association official predicted yesterday that California will adopt the statewide testing proposal recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee on Education.

Dr. James Corson, executive secretary of the California Assn. of School Administrators, spoke at the Tamalpais Union High School district office in Larkspur to a meeting of the North Coast section of the association.

Corson said public confidence in testing was a result of encouragement by school people. He said it could be a good thing if the state became a kind of repository of data, if abuses of the program were guarded against.

The official said he thought the program could do some good, depending on how it was administered.

Corson forecast a "real knock-down and drag-out" fight, however, if the state attempts to adopt the citizens committee recommendation for statewide standards. This would mean the state would determine what child should be promoted. Corson said a single standard could not be used to apply to all pupils.

The official said one of the big issues in the legislature this year would be a proposal to allow state employees—including teachers—to use collective bargaining in setting of wage scales.

The group of administrators also heard Dr. Kenneth Brown, professional services executive for the California Teachers Assn. Brown discussed the eight professors' report on the San Francisco city schools and the CTA statement issued on the report.

He blasted the professors for failure to qualify terms used in their report. They did not look for individual differences in children or schools and showed "no modesty at all" in their report, he said.

Brown charged that the professors exceeded "educational propriety" by firing so many broadsides at education in general. That was why the CTA decided to make a statement, he noted.

Much of what the professors said was acceptable, but there were sharp differences of opinion, the executive observed.

Brown acknowledged that perhaps the CTA response was too harsh in its choice of words (he helped compile the response.) The word "reactionary" made the professors extremely angry, but it was not inaccurate because they wanted to go backward, he said.

The professors also reacted very angrily to the statement "academically petty and snobbish." Brown said maybe the CTA should not have used such terms, but they were accurate.

In no case did the professors consult "anyone in the field of education" before they came up with their recommendations, he claimed. They did not even consult their colleagues at Stanford and the University of California who are international experts in such fields as teaching of reading, he said.

One of the major purposes of the CTA response was to tell people, "Wait a minute; don't swallow this thing whole," Brown said.

Maybe the general outcome in the long run will be good for education," "if the scars left aren't too deep," he added.

No-Compromise Stand On Napa, Litho Use

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night adopted a no-compromise stand on purchase of nine acres of waterfront area at Napa and Litho streets for recreational use.

Chairman John R. Minton said the commission, pleased that the city council had indicated it favored acquiring all or part of the area, would notify the city fathers, "If the answer is up to us, we will not accept any compromise" on purchase of the full nine acres.

For the first time the commission spelled out specific uses of the area. They are: A lagoon for sailing small boats, a small children's playground, tennis courts, benches and walkways for viewers, a moderately sized fresh water swimming pool, and offstreet parking for persons using the facilities.

The area is owned by Sausalito properties, Inc.

The recreation commission also:

1. Heard a report from commissioner Alfred M. Arenz that Mrs. Jack Woods of Sausalito has agreed to give an artist's rendering of the development of a portion of South View Park.

2. Announced that a committee has completed a working draft of the long-range recreational development program and copies will be given to commissioners in one week.

3. Was told by city manager Charles A. Brown that 48 per cent of the annual budget has been spent, leaving $5,706.

4. Also learned from Brown that the city has collected $700 from building permits in the Buena Vista Heights subdivision, which the commission will use for maintenance and development of Bayside Park. Fifty dollars is collected on each building permit issued which is to go toward park development.

Jury Indicts Confessed Slayer Of 3

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Three murder indictments charging Chester Otto Weger, 21, with slaying three Chicago area women in Starved Rock State Park were returned today by the LaSalle County Grand Jury.

The panel filed six indictments against Weger before Circuit Judge Leonard Hoffman, three accusing him of earlier crimes against victims waylaid in lonely sections of another state park nearby.

The indictments came quickly after the former park lodge kitchen helper's confession yesterday and re-enactment of the killings.

The victims, prominent Riverside, Ill., matrons, were bludgeoned in a lonely park Canyon March 14.

Weger, a dishwasher at the park lodge at the time of the triple killing, broke down early yesterday and told authorities he slew the women during a robbery attempt. The prisoner, who has a sex offense record dating back seven years, denied sex was a motive.

Land snails are generally harmless creatures but a few sea snails are poisonous. The bite of a pretty Australian snail native to the Queensland coast may cause painful illness or even death.

Foundation Plans Night To Get Funds

A Sausalito Foundation night will be held Dec. 5 at the Valhalla Inn to raise funds for the organization, which is devoted to preserving the community's natural beauty.

It will be held from 4 p. m. to 2 a. m. and will include dinner and entertainment, although patrons will be required to purchase their own refreshments, publicity chairman John Minton said.

The staff of the restaurant will contribute its time to the foundation; the restaurant, normally closed on Mondays, will be open.

Tickets for the event may be purchased from foundation treasurer Alice Williams at Post Office Box 567, Sausalito, or from any of the following firms: Eastman-Ravizza Agency, Langsam Realty, Hettrich Realty, Marin Hardware, Sausalito Hardware, The Mart, The Tides, Hans Mose Union Station, Words and Music, Bob's Market, Vogue Cleaners, Valhalla Inn, Klein TV and, during the week prior to the foundation night only, at Sausalito Drug Co.

The oldest Volkswagen in America.

©1960 BY VOLKSWAGEN OF AMERICA, INC.

The oldest Volkswagen in America (a vintage '45 model) was found on a farm in Emerson, Nebraska. It was still working every day for Harold Kuhn, its owner. It was sought out not to put in a museum, but to prove a point: a Volkswagen may grow old, but never obsolete.

The 1945 Volkswagen was driven 1,500 miles to VW headquarters in New Jersey. It averaged about 22 miles per gallon. (Not nearly the mileage you'd get in a new VW, but not bad for a 15-year-old car.) At VW headquarters it was placed side by side with the newest Volkswagen in America (the 500,000th to come over).

You can't see too many differences in the two VWs. The new Volkswagen has: larger front and rear windows, heftier bumpers, new chrome strips and hub caps, different turn indicators. Otherwise, you might mistake the oldest Volkswagen for the newest.

If you took both cars apart, though, you'd find that almost every part has changed since '45. (Most new parts fit any older model.) Volkswagen keeps finding new ways to improve the VW to make it last even longer. Yet not one change in 15 years has made a VW obsolete. Volkswagens depreciate less than any other car.

Come in and see us for a new Volkswagen. Do it today. You'll be making a good long-term investment for tomorrow.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Although Halloween is several weeks past, youngsters regard it as reoccurring everytime they coax their parents into dining at Franchini's West End Villa. The animal masks you see there are actually children's menus—quite extensive ones, too, with eight different selections. Popular indeed are the small fry who've made a complete collection of bear, lion, tiger, dog, bunny and Santa Claus masks over many visits, for they are theirs to take home.

We dropped by here for crab cioppino last Friday night, this being almost a hallow'd custom which started with the late Pete Ostaggi for the crab season and has been followed by the Franchinis, father and son, who are most ideally suited, to my mind, to perpetuate West End traditions.

Give it time and one day the constant flow of diners will just naturally expand it into something much larger. Whether known then as West End Villa or Franchini's it will always be typically Marin—having a little bit of the old along with the new.

WORD from the Gambit, tiny bistro in Santa Venetia, is that chef Arthur McMillan is now serving a nightly buffet with a choice of two hot entrees, changed daily and priced very reasonably at $1.75.

Open from 3 p.m. to midnight seven days a week; meals which include short order selections are served from 6 to 10. Arthur is an expatriot from several fine San Francisco spots, so knows his cooking.

I'VE HEARD from Kirby Atterbury that he'll keep the Caprice in Tiburon open this year for Thanksgiving dinner served from 1 to 9 p.m. Last-minute reservations here will very likely be hopeless—better make them ahead of time. Regular menu and turkey dinners.

A NEW ORGAN BAR is Max Horowitz' latest innovation at his Colonel's Ranch Wagon, played nightly Sunday through Thursday by George Scrimger of Novato.

It's a Hammond with vibrachord and chimes attachments, bringing to this dinery the canorous sounds of dinner music those evenings through the week when the Gene Byrnes Trio is elsewhere engaged.

AND SPEAKING of organ bars, I've neglected to mention that Doris Gurley of Kentfield is replacing Monie Mulcahy at Sabella's Tuesdays through Saturdays since Monie left last Sunday on a six weeks holiday cruise aboard the President Cleveland.

WARMED to the point of good listening by a late hour peach flambe spiced with liberal dashings of liqueurs at Fleur d'Lys the other night, we learned of Robert Charles' inclusion among top restaurateurs of the country as set forth in "Great Restaurants of America," a new book by Holiday Magazine epicures Ted Patrick and Silas Spitzer, and an excellent guide for gastronomes to some of the outstanding eating houses from coast to coast.

It was written before Robert and Cherie Charles opened their San Anselmo spot and so dwells on their San Francisco cuisinery—else I am sure the former would have been included.

For what it is worth, and though this writer's testimony will never be spotlighted in the outside world to the extent of Patrick and Spitzer's, we'd like to add our compliments to the San Francisco Fleur d'Lys which we've tried,and of which San Anselmo's is a charming abridgement. The latter, however, has succeeded in conforming to Marin County's own standards.

May it someday receive equal recognition with its more celebrated prototype.

THE PROKUPEKS and the Nevls of Inverness Lodge have a new addition to their staff—Allen Vladimir Nevl Jr., born to Alena and "Vladya" senior this last Sunday. Mother and son are doing fine, but pop is all in a dither trying to decide where junior will best fit in—Inverness Lodge, Drake's Arms or the riding academy. We'll bet on the last named.

Grandparents Manka and Milan Prokupek are equally jubilant and dithered respectively—Milan will undoubtedly add six new cabins to the Lodge or expand the dining room — or something.

I HAVE a memo here from Harry Abras who evidently handled the transaction that Mrs. Edith Duthie, proprietor of the Coffee Office, San Anselmo has sold out to one Bob Stewart from—hmmm . . . well, I'm not going to call up this time of the night and find out. If you must know, why don't you ask him?

New Revue Opening In Sausalito

Written by Jerry De Bono and Larry Paxton, the original revue is in the tradition of new faces. It is directed by George Felker and has a cast of 15 Bay Area little theater performers, including Reta Bowen, Jean Gordon, Carla Geraghty and Ralph McGlothlen from Marin.

The play, scheduled to open off-Broadway in the spring, takes a satirical look at the '60s and an affectionate look at the '30s. It will play Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. at 668 Bridgeway.

The cast also includes Andra Wahl, Frankie Dewey, Anne Haslett, Helen Frye, Jim Levaggi, Jim Mulholland, Bill Asp, Glen Wilcox and Bill Willford. Tickets may be reserved by calling the theater.

Little Theater Slates Tryouts

Tryouts for the Sausalito little theater's first 1961 production, George Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance," will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the theater at 745 Bridgeway.

Fred Adair will direct the satire and will cast six male and three female roles for the production scheduled to open on Jan. 28.

MARIN FILMS

Good Suspense Drama Coming To Rafael

By LES DARD

A summary of the weekend films:

RAFAEL THEATER

"Midnight Lace" (color) is a mystery melodrama starring Doris Day and Rex Harrison. It is also one of the better offerings of its type in the 1960 film season. It opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.

Miss Day portrays an American heiress happily wed to Harrison, a British industrialist. Then one day she hears a queer, high male voice calling her name in a thick London fog—and a threat to kill. At home, the phone rings — the same voice, further threats to kill.

Enter Scotland Yard as the script begins to offer suspects.

Is it Roddy McDowell, the sneaky son of the charwoman? Or John Gavin, who reminds the Yard of a "telephone crank"? Or shifty-eyed Herbert Marshall? Could it possibly be flighty aunt Myrna Loy, whose behavior seems to belie a native shrewdness?

Suffice that the production has been handsomely mounted, Miss Day fitted with splendid clothes. The solution is a surprise and the whole business quite well done.

LARK THEATER

A hospital serves as the setting for this romp, which follows the day and night activities of the patients, old and new.

Wilfred Hyde White is the best known name in the cast of this holdover feature on the Larkspur screen, where it's breaking house distance records.

SEQUOIA THEATER

The jaguar is perhaps the most beautiful—certainly it is the most deadly—of the killers of the Amazon jungle.

Two jaguars, one spotted and one black, are the stars of Walt Disney's latest True-Life Adventure, "Jungle Cat," which opens Sunday on the Mill Valley screen.

Three Disney naturalist-cameramen spent two years following these jaguars from the snarls of their mating battle to growling tenderness with their offspring. It's all in color.

"Solomon and Sheba" (color) is a gaudy spectacle, filled with big battle scenes and starring Yul Brynner and Gina Lollobrigida.

Solomon (Brynner) is portrayed as a brilliant monarch whose growing wealth alarms Egypt's pharaoh. The latter sends his ally, the Queen of Sheba (Gina) to bring him down if she can.

Plenty of battle scenes mark this "De Mille type" drama.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Anatomy of a Murder," strictly a straight talk film based on the best-seller, is the current feature. And if at times it emphasizes anatomy more than murder, it's still also one of the most engrossing courtroom dramas in many a year.

NOVATO THEATER

"Let's Make Love" (CinemaScope, Deluxe Color) is a fast-paced comedy-romance which offers Marilyn Monroe (for the men) and Yves Montand (for the ladies). It opens Sunday.

Plot? Montand is a billionaire and MM is a hoofer-singer in and off-Broadway revue which plans a lampoon of Montand's many romances.

So what does Yves do? Why he drops in to see what it's all about. One look at Marilyn and he's had it. The remainder of this romp concerns the mating game.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

The reason for its excellence is Burt Lancaster as Gantry: a liar, a cheat, loud, cruel, an adulterer, sacrilegious, unscrupulous, funloving and lusty; Sinclair Lewis' 1927 Gantry in the flesh.

He is a salesman of shoddy wares who wanders into a revival meeting and learns that his fraudulent eloquence can leave the sinners hanging onto the tent poles. Roaring, slapping the Bible, hollering about "that old-time religion," he puts life into the revivals of Sister Sharon Falconer (Jean Simmons) and brings them both to the big time.

And it's in the big time that he is exposed. The finale possesses an Old Testament fury.

Estimate: Adult fare.

MOTOR MOVIES

"All the Fine Young Cannibals" (CinemaScope, Color) spins a tale of very mixed-up young people and the troubles they can get into without half trying. It opens Sunday.

It starts in a Texas town, where Natalie Wood becomes involved with Robert Wagner. When she discovers that she's "in a family way," she grabs an eastbound train and meets Yaleman George Hamilton.

Later, learning that she is pregnant and not suspecting that another may be the father, he weds Natalie, installs her in a mansion and floats off on a sea of liquor. (Everyone does).

Chances Held Slim For Higher Taxes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno) says chances are slim the 1961 legislature will go for higher taxes.

"We have just about exhausted our tax resources," commented Burns, president pro tem of the Senate, to the California Taxpayers' Assn. here next Thursday.

Sen. Burns noted additional funds could be raised through sales, ad valorem, excise and income taxes. But he said money might be saved by eliminating abuses in the state's welfare program.

'Nutcracker' Ballet Slated Dec. 11, 12

The Bay Area Ballet Company will perform the complete "Nutcracker" again this year at the San Rafael High School Auditorium, on Dec. 11 and 12 at 2:30 p.m.

Under the direction of Leona Norman of San Rafael, principal parts will be danced by Kathleen Weiss, Jody White and Helene Henderson of Marin. Ron Poindexter and Gwen Barker will be guest artists from the Pacific Ballet and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

The second act, with its choreographic demands, will be danced by members of the company. The party scene in the first act, however, will be performed by Marin County children.

Tickets for last year's performance were completely sold out 10 days before the concert. They are available this year at Hoy's, Marin Music Center, Miracle Music Store and the Tides in Sausalito.

'Laura' Sometimes Made The Seats Hard

By BRUCE COLEMAN

It was a perfect night for murder. The wind was blowing, rain was dripping over the old Tamalpais Valley Clubhouse and the script had the word written in.

But, for much of the presentation of the Tam Players' mystery drama "Laura," the players did not rise to the occasion.

The seats, which never seemed hard during the players' latest "Rhubarb Review," were tiring to the "Laura" viewers. Leading man Alan Burdick, as Mark McPherson, didn't seem to believe he was the inspector, although he had the part and looked the part and spoke the lines.

It was amazing, because he was the same man who took the audience by storm in his first stage part in "Taming of the Shrew." He was a swashbuckler of the first swash.

New to the valley, Mike Geisler, playing Waldo Lydecker, was quite strong in his part, that of the smooth-tongued jealous lover.

There were other moments when the chair softened. When Burdick got angry, he showed the most promise. When the attractive Laura (Harrie Batz) and her real-life husband playing Shelby Carpenter (Morrie Batz) fell into a diatribe, it seemed right real.

Hangdog boy lover Danny Dorgan (Lance Week) smarted under the mother-son relationship Laura meted out to him.

The two players supplying the laughs were welcome—Bessie the maid (Margot Reynolds) and Mrs. Dorgan (Lois Snow). Bessie, wearing grapes on her hat, got a lot of laughs, Mrs. Dorgan was funny when she drawled out her lines in the way you suspect a landlady should.

As for Olsen (Dan Mulcahy), his brief moment on the stage was not enough to get much of an idea of his prowess.

Directed by Jay Irving, the play will be presented again at 8:30 p.m. today, tomorrow and again next weekend.

Housing Starts Below Last Year

The department estimated yesterday that work was begun on 107,000 housing units. This represented an annual rate of 1,231,000, or 15 per cent more than the September rate of 1,066,000.

The improvement, however, failed to erase all of the decline from August to September, and left housing starts last month 11 per cent lower than a year ago.

Look For Levy, Curtice To Come Up With Surprise Play Tomorrow

HANLEY

Both Jack Curtice and Marv Levy may be expected to use one or two "new" plays in tomorrow's Big Game, just as Stanford and California coaches have been doing since 1892 when the west's oldest football rivalry started.

Actually they will not be completely original plays, unless Curtice or Levy is struck with a revolutionary gridiron idea such as Knute Rockne's forward pass concept that changed football from a battering-ran contest to a game combining both skill and strength.

The "new" plays introduced in the 63rd Big Game will be novel only in the sense that Cal or Stanford will be using them for the first time this season. Such plays, with their element of surprise, must work the first time they are used or their value is lost.

FACE RACED to his right in what had all the earmarks of a simple reverse which suddenly turned into a double reverse as he handed off to right half John Bond going the other way. Nothing new in that, but the innovation Curtice added to the double reverse surprised Cal's defensive right half who came up to cover, guessing wrong on Irv Nikolai's role in the play.

The Cal defensive half figured Nikolai merely was a decoy end since Bond was not noted for passing. This time, however, Bond uncorked a 40-yarder to Nikolai to the Cal three-yard line and a moment later Face scored on an end sweep.

THAT WAS the only pass Bond threw in that Big Game, but he practiced it for a week. It succeeded partly because of its surprise element, but chiefly because the entire Stanford team executed it perfectly, particularly the Indian line with magnificent blocking while the double reverse was forming behind the fullback's fake smash.

Success of all plays, "new" or routine, depend upon execution. There was never anything secret about Rockne's Notre Dame practice sessions. His biographer, Francis Wallace, relates that once Rockne put up a sign in South Bend reading: "Secret Practice. Come and bring your notebooks."

ON ANOTHER occasion, Wallace writes, Rockne sent an Army scout the plays he planned to use against the Cadets when he learned that the scout missed a Notre Dame game he was to cover. Notre Dame won with the exact same plays Rockne sent the scout but Army, misinterpreting Rockne's generosity as a ruse, prepared to meet different plays.

"It isn't the plays that win," Rockne said, "it's the execution."

Bears Four-Point Favorites Over Injuns; Game On TV

Stanford and California, coming off the most miserable combined football seasons in their long and illustrious grid careers, battle tomorrow in the 63rd "Big Game"—with nothing at stake except a bit of history.

The Golden Bears, coached by young Marvin Levy, are established as four-point favorites on the basis that they won a game this year (against Oregon State) and also had a tie (with Washington State) for a 1-7-1 mark. Stanford, without a single victory, is 0-9.

The game is a complete sellout with 76,780 expected—despite the fact that it will be televised (ABC) in the western half of United States; and also will be on two network radio shows with 17 stations participating.

The coaches are keeping their strategy secret. But the best guess is that Stanford, with Dick Norman passing and Dale Ostrander on the receiving end, will take to the air for most of its yardage.

California, with a stronger running attack, featuring fullback George Pierovich and halfbacks Billy Patton and Steve Bates, will stay on the ground and attempt ball control. However, quarterback Randy Gold can both pass and run and is expected to mix 'em up.

This is the second instance in modern times that Stanford has gone into the Big Game without a victory. The last occasion was in 1947 when Marchie Schwartz sent a club into battle with an 8-0 record. But for all except the final two minutes of the game, the Indians were in front.

Then came a freak play. California was on its own 20. Quarterback Dick Erickson took the ball from center and handed off to fullback Jackie Jensen, later to gain fame as a baseball star. Jensen fumbled the ball, picked it up and passed 15 yards to Paul Keckley, who then rambled 65 yards for the touchdown that gave the Golden Bears a 21-18 triumph. And the Bears were in the Rose Bowl with a 9-1 record.

In the 62 previous games, California has won 27, Stanford 25 and 10 have ended in ties.

Traditional Games Spice Coast Gridirons Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Jim Owens' powerful club, with an 8-1 record and ranked fifth in the Associated Press national poll, already has won the Big Five Conference title and wrapped up the Rose Bowl bid.

On the other hand, the California Bears and Stanford Indians have won just one game between them—the 14-6 triumph of California over Oregon State. Yet proving the pull of tradition, a capacity throng of 80,000 is expected to watch the two clubs in Berkeley.

UCLA, with only a 10-8 loss to Washington and a tie with Purdue blemishing its record, will be favored to trip cross-town rival Southern California at the Los Angeles Coliseum. UCLA counts on speed and the all around capabilities of tailback Bill Kilmer who can boost his bid for All-America.

Oregon has the speed for its traditional meeting with Oregon State at Corvallis. Quarterback Dave Grosz and halfbacks Cleveland Jones and Dave Grayson have been instrumental in giving the Ducks a 7-2 record.

Oregon State at 6-3 has two great tailbacks — sophomore Terry Baker and junior Don Kasso. The latter led the assault against Stanford last week while the former had been the national leader in total offense. No one will forget last year when OSC lost four in a row but came on to capture the finale from Oregon 15-7, after the Ducks had been 8-1.

Idaho and San Jose State start activities tonight at San Jose as Idaho aims for its second victory of 1960 and the Spartans hope to snap a three-game losing string.

Saturday night in an intersectional at Stockton, the College of the Pacific Tigers battle the Iowa State Cyclones. The Midwesterners are heavy favorites with tailback Dave Hoppman and fullback Tom Watkins the dual big guns.

USC Prexy Denies Anti-A. L. Quote

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The president of the University of Southern California has denied saying he doesn't want the American Baseball League to move into Los Angeles.

Dr. Norman Topping was quoted yesterday as saying he hoped to lodge a protest against such a move with Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, but was unable to keep a date with Frick.

Dr. Topping said later he is concerned about the future of intercollegiate athletics, as the disputed story said, but has not opposed establishment of an American League team here.

Topping denied he had an appointment to discuss the matter with Frick. He said he never asked for such an appointment.

Missing Ax Touches Off College Feud

BERKELEY (UPI)—The ax, traditional victory trophy of the big game between Stanford and California, was missing today from its resting place here.

Police said they were told the Stanford Union had received a call from the "fearsome five" who claimed to have stolen the ax. It was not known whether the group was made up of California or Stanford students, or whether it even existed.

California students assumed that Stanford men were the culprits and retaliation was swift. One squad from Berkeley set loose 175 dyed blue mice in a women's dormitory. Another plastered the Stanford campus with gold C's and a third bombed the Farm with propaganda leaflets from a low-flying plane.

ON THE WARPATH

A group of students at California then announced that they had somehow come into possession of the huge Stanford banner—a 10 by 35 foot strip of bunting which usually hangs behind the Indian rooting section during grid contests. They suggested the banner might be traded for the ax.

Money was also in the safe where the ax resided, but was not touched, according to the police.

Sausalitan To Pilot Boat In Internat'l

Drop Football? No! Say COM Students

College of Marin students last night gave a flat "no" answer to the proposal that football be dropped at the college.

In a letter signed by Barry McGough, president of the Associated Students, the student council said "the showing made on the field by Coach Harry Peiper and his team was something to be proud of."

The suggestion to discontinue football was made at the last board meeting by Trustee George G. Washburn.

"The opinion expressed at that time was a minority opinion, and did not reflect the feelings of the rest of the board," Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy said last night. "The majority of the board wholeheartedly supports football in its proper perspective as we do all other college activities."

This season, the college lost six of its games and cancelled the remaining games on the schedule because of injuries and eligibilities.

"It matters not who won the contest," the student council said, "but how the contestants conducted themselves."

The student council letter added that a committee of students was now studying the college athletic situation and would have recommendations for board action in the near future.

"The spirit and enthusiasm this semester have shown a magnificent increase," the letter added. "At no time has students' personal pride in the college been higher."

Ex-Fairfax Pro Leads Almaden

SAN JOSE (AP)—Eddie Joseph, former professional at the Meadow Club in Fairfax, racked up seven birdies for a 5-under-par 67 yesterday to take a two-strok lead in the opening round of the $7,500 Almaden Open Golf Tournament.

Joseph, now a pro in Oroville, is two strokes ahead of Joe Greer of Yakima, Wash. and Gary Loustalot of Sacramento.

Two of Joseph's successors at the Fairfax Club are five strokes behind him at 72. They are Bob Moore, now a pro in Salinas, and Leroy Silva, the current Meadow Club pro.

Star Is Suspended

DETROIT (AP)—Jeanne Omelenchuk, Detroit speedskating star, has been suspended from competition in 1960-61 by the Amateur Skating Union.

Season's Climactic Weekend; Only Two Games Worth Shouting About

CONNOLLY

Comes it now the climactic weekend of the football season with "Big Games" a dime a dozen. All across our fair land the oversized representatives of the bloom of youth will be knocking heads in traditional battles.

From the Harvards and the Yales to the Stanfords and the Californians, this is the time to do or die for dear old Alma. Some of the hardest doing and dying will be done by the old grads the night before and the night after the game.

This mass psychiatric treatment will release enough frustrated inhibitions to put half the brain shrinkers out of work. Unless the good wife piles 'em back on again on Sunday morning by pointing out what a fool you made of yourself.

From where I sit there are only two games worth shouting about. The first involves the U. of Kansas and the U. of Missouri, a game which will make or break the Mo. Tigers as the nation's top team. It has been Kansas' tough luck to run into Syracuse, Minnesota and Missouri on weekends when each of those three teams has been ranked number one in the national polls.

Even Veep Nixon didn't run into tougher competition than that.

THE OTHER important game involves our own Bears and Indians fighting it out in Berkeley for the bottom rung of the Big Five ladder.

Let Washington have the top spot. ANYONE can WIN. This Big Game will determine the Egghead Championship of the West. Loser take all.

Off the record, California should lose hands down. It boils down to a contest between coaches. Certainly Phi Beta Kappa Marv Levy of California should have no trouble losing to a Stanford coach with the disgustingly plebian name of "Cactus Jack." On the other hand, Coach Curtice of Stanford has done a remarkable job of running up a perfect string of nine straight losses this year.

THAT'S HARD to beat, and will probably put Cactus Jack in line for an honorary degree if he should pull through a loser.

What the Bay Area teams need is a quarterback like the one who won the Big Game by calling for "Play 13," a little used strategem. After receiving congratulations, the puzzled coach asked his quarterback how in the world he had come up with that particular play.

"Nothing to it, coach. I just looked around, saw two of my linemen standing there, and added up the numbers on their backs. Eight and six. Thirteen. Nothing to it."

"You nincompoop!" sputtered the coach. Eight and six are fourteen."

"Hell, coach," said the quarterback. "The way you do arithmetic, we'd NEVER win a game!"

ALMOST LOST in the shuffle is the come-back game of the San Francisco 49ers with the hapless Texans at Dallas on Sunday. After two weeks off the locals should move better than in their last outing and should have a chance to try their "new" offensive weapons, Ray Norton, Abe Woodson and C. R. Roberts.

Don't be surprised if the 49ers find they have their hands full. The Texans have not won a game this year, and you can bet that they have picked the San Franciscans as their best bet for a win. No team, not even Stanford, WANTS to lose 'em all. Look out for an "up" Texas team against a "down" and overconfident bunch of 49ers.

Humboldt Rooters Zaniest Of 'Em All

EUREKA (UPI)—It's a little late for politics, but if they could vote here today, Humboldt State's football coach Phil Sarboe could be elected president of everything in the area except the corner bank.

The populace of this Northern California lumbering and fishing community is ga-ga over Phil since his football team has posted a 9-0 record this season and a string of 18 wins in a row. One battle remains on the regular slate—against Lewis and Clark on Thanksgiving Day.

If Phil was popular before, the thing that has made the people love him all the more is the "slight" he received from the Northern California Football Writers Assn. Monday.

That organization named Joe Verducci of San Francisco State the region's "coach of the year." This despite the fact that Sarboe's team defeated the 'Gators.

"We wouldn't have minded if the writers had chosen Cecil Coleman of Fresno State as the top coach of the area," said one of the Humboldt State athletes who helped burn San Francisco sportswriters in effigy. "We wouldn't have a beef in the world. Fresno State has a fine football team and an unbeaten record, too. But to name Verducci after he lost to us is hard to believe."

Everywhere in Eureka and in neighboring suburbs of Arcata, where Humboldt State is located, the talk is about the Lumberjacks' football in general and Sarboe in particular.

Yesterday, for instance, Mayor Dalee M. Dolson proclaimed a "Phil Sarboe Day." And a special assembly was called at the college to name Sarboe "Coach of the Year."

This, by all odds, probably is the zaniest, mixed-up town in the country when it comes to college football.

Caravans of 500 fans plus the band travel by car and bus 300 or 400 miles each weekend to see the team play when it has an out of town engagement.

In a time when most college football attendance is down in the west, the Lumberjacks turn 'em away at the gate. They play in a stadium that seats about 6,500—but regularly show before seven to eight thousand per game.

And that isn't all. The game itself is played a bit differently here. For instance, all practices are held indoors in a huge field house—because the fall weather up here is unpredictable.

The makeup of the team is different than you might find at Harvard. For instance, one of the linemen—Manuel Simas—a 5-foot-10, 230-pounder, is a 27-year-old bartender and has seven children.

And what more could any fan ask?

JV GRID SCHEDULE

Terra Linda's First Season Big Success

While the varsity high school football teams in the Marin County Athletic League roared to a seasonal halt last week with everything from winless to unbeaten records, brand new Terra Linda High, fielding only a junior varsity squad, proudly and quietly brought its first season to an end with a commendable 5-2 won-lost record.

The pioneer club, headed by mathematics instructor and former San Rafael High line coach Pete Limm, went undefeated in the last four tilts, scoring its widest margin with a 33 to 6 victory over Lowell High School's sophomore team of San Francisco. In the final game on Terra Linda's schedule, the Marin gridders nailed down their highest point total in any one game by smashing Lincoln High School Junior Varsity, 38 to 20.

It is believed Terra Linda will continue a junior varsity schedule until 1962 when it can enter official Marin League competition with upper classmen on the squad. This year's team was made up of sophs.

Starting an athletic program at a new school presented some problems, but Coach Limm pointed out, "We're coming along as fast as can be expected."

In its first season Terra Linda was handicapped by the lack of some facilities. For the first three weeks of practice the players, after tackling, blocking, etc., on a dirt field, had no showers to look forward to, at least until they got home. There were no lockers either.

"It was a little confusing those first few weeks," said the personable coach.

The players are now provided with lockers and hot showers, which they welcome because they still practice on dirt field.

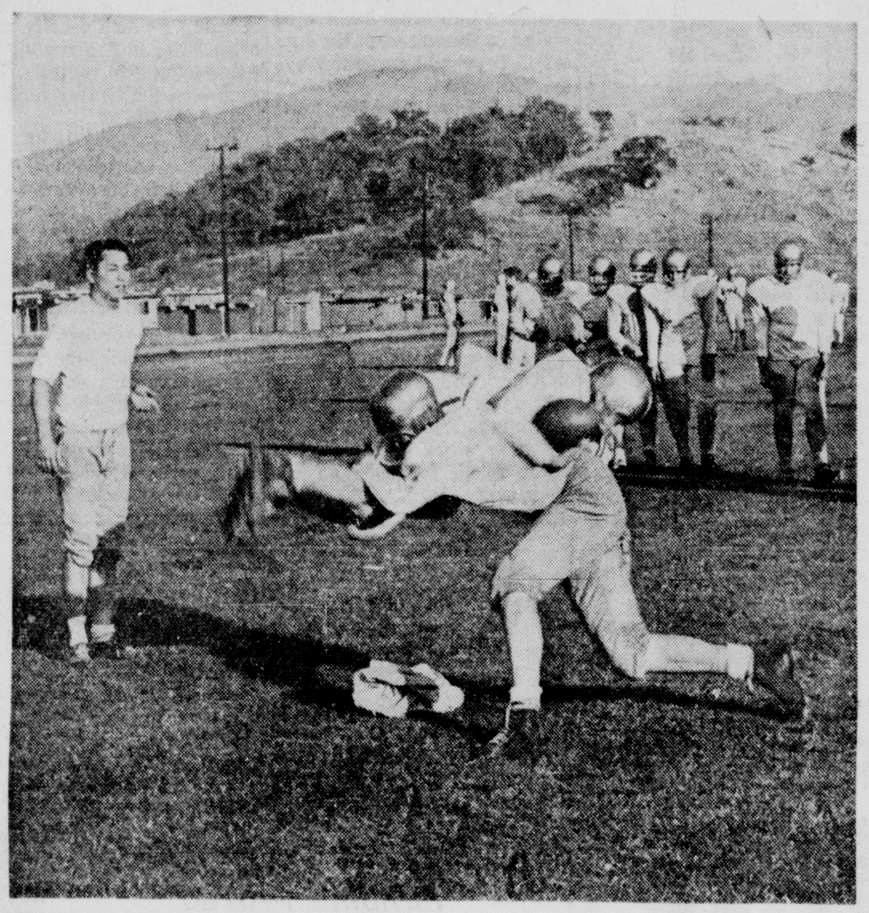

Whether these rugged conditions had something to do with the team's fine 5-2 record would be only for speculators. Limm, during his college days at San Francisco State, was a first-string linebacker under the two-platoon system, and firmly believes that what makes tough teams is blocking and tackling.

"We are a balanced club with no special phase of attack; so training next season, as it was this season, will be in fundamentals," said Limm.

For a brand new team and school with the responsibility of attempting to initiate what may be a tradition of 5-2 records or better, Terra Linda High is well on its way if the Vacaville game is any example of a future trend.

Almost half of the 400 students in the school, including some faculty members, attended the game against the Vacaville Junior Varsity at Concord. Terra Linda not only had more fans than the home team, but won a 14-13 thriller over the home bodies.

Terra Linda's games and scores for 1960 were as follows: Lost to Del Valle J.V. at Concord, 33-to-6; beat Marin Catholic J.V. at Kentfield, 34 to 14; lost to Novato at San Rafael stadium, 25-6; beat Lowell High J.V. at Terra Linda, 33-6; beat San Rafael sophomores, 37-14; beat Vacaville J.V. at Vacaville, 14-13; and beat Lincoln High J.V. at Terra Linda 38-20.

Fred Haney Resigns From Television Job

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fred Haney, ex-manager of the Milwaukee Braves, says he is not rejoining NBC-TV on its baseball "Game of the Week" series next season.

Haney said his announcing job will be taken over by Joe Garagiola, who has been an announcer for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Haney resigned as the Milwaukee pilot after the 1958 season so he could spend his time with his family here. He said he is not interested in another managerial job.

Smith, Roberts To Start For 49ers Against Dallas

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—San Francisco's 49ers stick to the usual starting alignments when they play the Cowboys at Dallas on Sunday.

One exception, previously announced by Coach Red Hickey, will have J. D. Smith at halfback and C. R. Roberts at fullback.

The switch became necessary with the ankle injury suffered by veteran Hugh McElhenny two weeks ago. Smith moves from fullback into Mac's halfback spot, with Roberts, former Southern California star, moving into the starting alignment.

John Brodie starts at quarterback, although the veteran Y. A. Tittle was reported sufficiently recovered from a groin injury to see action if needed. R. C. Owens opens at the flanker.

Hickey made no changes in his defensive platoon.

Perkins Vs. Santos

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Eddie Perkins of Chicago and Chico Santos of Oakland, former Portuguese lightweight champion, meet here tonight in a 10-round boxing match. Perkins is favored.

Glasses are being developed to protect the eyes of space travelers from sudden brightness outside the earth's suffused atmosphere.

Pittman Leader In Cajun Classic

The 23-year-old Pittman had a two-stroke edge on the pack by virtue of a 6-under-par 34-31—65 round over the flat, 6,531-yard Oakburne Country Club course yesterday.

Tied in the runnerup spot at 67 were Frank Boynton, Orlando, Fla.; Jon Gustin, Gladwyne, Pa.; Jay Hebert, Lafayette; Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif., and veteran Frank Stranahan, Crystal River, Fla.

Jacques Plante of the Montreal Canadians has won the Vezina Trophy for goal tending five times.

PRO CAGER JUST RESTING

Raiders May Play Final Home Games At Candlestick

The Oakland Raiders now hope to play their final three home games in December at San Francisco's Candlestick Park instead of Kezar Stadium.

Approval of the move is expected to be granted next Wednesday by San Francisco's Park and Recreation Commission.

"If the Raiders meet the conditions, we very likely would have no objection," Commission President Walter A. Hass Sr. said yesterday.

If it is permitted to play at Candlestick, the American Football League club would pay 10 per cent of its net receipts and a $2,500 minimum — the same rent paid at Kezar.

Raider President Chet Soda said the move would enable Oakland to avoid a Dec. 16 night game at Kezar against Denver and a chewed up field for another game that otherwise would follow a 49er game by 24 hours.

Oakland's revised schedule would be: Dec. 4, Sunday, Los Angeles Chargers; Dec. 11, Sunday, New York Titans; Dec. 17, Saturday, Denver Broncos. All would be day games.

The Raiders would be the first football team to use Candlestick Park, the stadium the city built to accommodate the Giants when the baseball club moved here from New York.

The football club, without a home base in Oakland, was recently considering use of a high school field in San Leandro in a move to draw a larger following among fans on the east shore of San Francisco Bay.

Tournament Postponed

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)— Rain caused postponement until Sunday of today's play in the New South Wales Tennis Championships.

The delay will not affect American plans to travel to Brisbane Sunday to prepare for the first Davis Cup interzone final against the Philippines starting Dec. 22.

STEVENS

In case you happen to talk to a pessimist and he insists that bass fishing in the local areas is over for this year, (and if he is smaller than you), grab him, hold him and wash out his mouth with soap. He's lying.

I venture an opinion that more fish are being taken in more sectors of the San Pablo Bay and the Suisun Bay at the present writing than for many, many years at this time of the year.

The storms of Saturday and Sunday kept a great many avid anglers at home—or chased them back to the harbors. But—get this! On Saturday, with the wind howling, the boat bobbing up and down like a cork, and the white-crested waves hammering away at the hull, the Dowrelio No. 6 managed to stick it out until after noon. Results: 16 limits of striped bass.

ON SUNDAY, also a miserable day for fishing, Bill Esmond and his Happy Days No. 4 netted 12 bass to 14 pounds, the Happy Days No. 3 came in with 22 bass to eight pounds and the Dowrielio No. 5 took eight fish to five pounds. All the above catches were made in the Suisun Bay.

The Suisun Bay has been a steady producer of nice bass for a long time. Charlie Souza of the Sportsmen's Center reported George Cabral, Dick Silva and Lou Silva limiting out in that area on Thursday of last week, and George Cabral with Jim Romero repeated the next day. On Thursday the fish ran from nine to 12 pounds and on Friday from 10 to 14 pounds.

FRIDAY WAS good to almost everyone fishing in the San Pablo and Suisun bays, the Napa River and off McAvoy. For example: Happy Days No 3 netted 28 bass to 13 pounds, Dowrelio No. 5 had 18 fish to six pounds on the morning trip; the No. 6 boat took 29 bass to six pounds, the Jackpot had 48 stripers and the Little Caesar came in with 23.

Then came the stormy weather. No skiffs ventured out and several party boats were forced to return to port. No rowboats out of China Camp over the weekend and the same on Monday. On Tuesday, Alice Quan told me that five new skiffs went out and five skiffs returned with limits for each angler aboard. Nice fish, seven and eight pounders and taken off the Sisters, the Black Buoy and the Pump House.

Also on Tuesday, the Dowrelio No. 5 accounted for 10 limits to six pounds for the morning trip alone, off Buoy 10. The Jackpot tried farther downstream, around Buoy 5, and collected 13 bass to 11½ pounds.

THE McAVOY sector was hot last week until the storms, and picked up where it had left off, beginning on Monday.

Bullheads seem to have landed the larger fish in the Suisun Bay and off McAvoy, but some mighty fine results have been made with sardines and clams. (It's been a long time since I have heard of anyone using clams. Used to be the best bet of all before the sardines took over as bait).

SCORING KING ELGIN BAYLOR IN TV GAME

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Red-hot Elgin Baylor, record scoring star for Los Angeles in the National Basketball Association, leads the Lakers into action against the Detroit Pistons in a nationally-televised game tomorrow.

It goes on at 11 a.m. in the new Los Angeles State College gymnasium, with this area blacked out.

Detroit has had a big week, twice defeating the Cincinnati Royals and then the champion Boston Celtics.

California Deer Kill Heading Toward A Record

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's 1960 deer kill is climbing closer to an all-time state record.

Already, tags have been returned for 74,450 bucks taken during the season ended Nov. 6 with a month remaining before the deadline.

That bests the 1959 total of 73,483—previously the second highest in history—and it should reach above the 1954 record of 75,602 by the time counting ends Dec. 15, the State Fish and Game Department says.

Jr. Statesmen Start Annual Convention

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A group of teen-age "lawmakers" meets here today to discuss abolition of foreign aid, the electoral college, the presidential interregnum, professional boxing, billboards, trading stamps and a host of other controversial matters.

Debating the issues will be some 600 students representing more than 50 high schools at the annual convention of the Junior Statesmen of California.

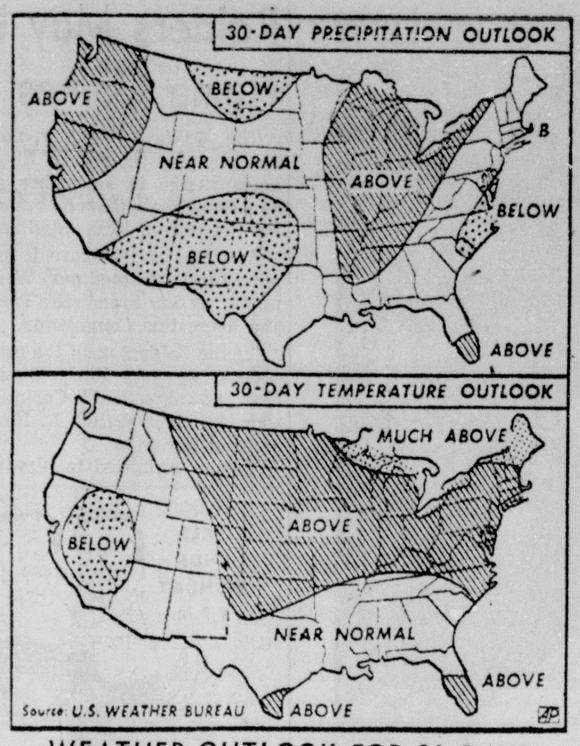

Among other proposals presented by Junior Statesmen chapters to the organization's mock legislature are measures calling for repeal of the Conally Amendment, which keeps the United States from submitting to all orders of the International Court of Justice.

Others oppose "socialized medicine," water fluoridation, government subsidies to airlines, and the state bounty on wildcats.

Still others would increase immigration quotas for Asians and Africans; would allow former presidents, vice presidents and speakers of the house to serve but not to vote in congress; and would tighten drunk driving penalties and policies against Cuba.

Closer to home, resolutions call for allowing 18-year-old boys to vote; prohibiting use of student teachers in science, mathematics and language courses; providing high school courses in comparative religions and parliamentary procedure, and starting language instruction in the third grade.

They also would conduct an educational campaign to show "that the Communist Party is taking an active part in fomenting juvenile crimes."

The account of a student at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., showed that her expenses for the year 1843-4, including tuition, transportation to Weymouth, Mass., and a trip to Boston, amounted to $97.96.

Fluoridation Lost In 13 Other Areas

Fluoridation went down the drain in 13 other communities besides Marin County in last week's elections, an Associated Press survey disclosed today.

The largest city defeating fluoridation at the polls was Cincinnati, where the measure failed 107,782 to 83,685. It was the second rejection in seven years. Fluoridation also failed of approval across the river in Kenton County, Ky., 17,690 to 10,621.

As of Aug. 2 this year, public health officials reported nearly 44½ million persons were drinking fluoridated water in 3,835 communities, compared with about one and one-half million in 100 communities 10 years earlier.

Fluorides had been added to the water in 1,932 communities serving 37½ million persons, while the rest had naturally fluoridated water.

In the 10 years, 100 communities have dropped fluoridation once it was begun, with 13 later resuming again.

Fluoridation usually has been begun at directive of city health and other officials, without submission to popular vote.

Other communities rejecting fluoridation last week:

Sacramento, 40,529 to 31,868.

Saginaw., Mich., 15,632 to 11,842 with 12,000 not voting. Saginaw had begun fluoridation in 1951 by directives of the city council, but it was defeated at the polls in 1954 by 226 votes.

Joplin, Mo., 8,251 to 6,742.

Mapleshade, N.J., 2,450 to 2,278.

Freeport, Ill., 6:586 to 5,203, the third time fluoridation was rejected.

Faribault, Minn., 3,073 to 2,418. Faribault had previously fluoridated water by city council vote.

Willmar, Minn., 2,921 to 2,038.

Waukesha, Wis., 5,712 to 3,612.

Antigo, Wis., 2,076 to 1,473.

Montello, Wis., 293 to 258.

Word Omitted In Housing Story

Speaking before the Marin County Board of Supervisors on the proposed ordinance to prevent discrimination in housing, Leonard Cornell said, "Time and again we have found real estate values do NOT drop when minorities move into white neighborhoods."

The word "not" was omitted as the story appeared in print.

Master Plan Ordered By College Board

College of Marin trustees last night instructed the college administration to draw up a contract for the services of Falk and Booth, San Francisco architectural firm, to begin a master plan for the college.

The decision to hire the architects, whose services also include engineering, was reached after interviewing several firms, the trustees said. Mark Falk, Corwin Booth and two of their staff members appeared at a previous board meeting with samples of their work. The board also visited their architectural plant last week, president Elizabeth M. Deedy said.

The first job of the architects will be to draw up a general plan, taking into consideration the use value of existing buildings and projecting the college needs in accord with the expected increase in students.

The trustees read a memorandum from the county counsel saying that, in general, district employees acting as student chaperones would be covered by the school's public liability policy in cases of damage or accidents caused by students under their jurisdiction.

A report by Charles D. Mastin, college librarian, noted that books are now arranged by subject for the first time.

In other action last night, the college trustees:

1. Approved attendance of Irwin Diamond, dean of students, Calvin Reimcke, basketball coach and Mrs. Lorna Blair, mathematics teacher, at conferences at district expense.
2. Approved remodeling of a frame building near the science building into a practice room for the music department at cost estimated at $1,700.
3. Introduced Herbert Blanchett, newly-hired coordinator of publications, who will start work Dec. 1.
4. Adjourned until Dec. 13 at 8 p.m.

Absent last night were trustees George G. Washburn and Robert E. Oliver.

College Board Grants $40,000 In Pay Hikes

Salary increases totaling $40,436, to be granted over a two-year period, were approved for teachers, administrators and non-teaching employees at College of Marin last night by the board of trustees.

The raises will be retroactive to July 1.

The present salary of each employee will be raised by one-half the difference between his present salary and the salary the revised schedule calls for. The remainder of the increase would be granted next year.

The new pay schedule was drawn up by a sub-committee of the board made up of Trustees Elizabeth M. Deedy and Kent O. Seymour.

Although Trustees George G. Washburn and Robert E. Oliver were absent when the board approved the increases, Mrs. Deedy said the full board had been appraised of the new schedule and their suggestions or objections had been requested by the committee.

No replies were received from either of the absent members, Mrs. Deedy said.

The board noted that $43,022 is available in the present budget for salary increases "or other purposes" without reducing reserves below the $250,000 estimated for operating expenses between July 1 and Dec. 31, 1960.

Teacher increases would represent a 5.89 per cent hike and would total $23,500 over the two-year period. Non-teaching salaries would be raised by $13,556, a 10 per cent increase.

Administrators' salaries would be upped $3,380 and would include the vice president, dean of instruction, dean of students and principal of the adult school.

No increases were recommended for the director, business manager or counselor since they had been hired after July 1.

The trustees also submitted a schedule of other junior colleges throughout the state showing the new College of Marin salaries to be on a par with other institutions.

Corinthian Yacht Auxiliary Organized

The first monthly luncheon of the newly organized Women's Auxiliary to the Corinthian Yacht Club was held Wednesday at the clubhouse. Lunch was preceded by a cocktail hour and members and their guests heard a discussion and demonstration on the art of Japanese floral arrangements by Mrs. Winston Jones of Tiburon.

And as will be true of all future luncheons those who wished remained for cards. Mesdames M.S. Green and Edwin A. Gratonik were chairmen for the event.

The auxiliary will be composed of the wives of the members of the club. Endorsement and acceptance of the group was granted by the board of directors of the club at their October meeting and since then a steering committee has been working to write the by-laws and organize the group. On this committee has been Mesdames Robert Evans, Belvedere, chairman; Edwin Kingsland of Novato, secretary; William Spindler of Belvedere, publicity and membership; James Rear of Belvedere, entertainment; John R. Malone, treasurer and Rampton Harvey.

Purpose of the auxiliary will be to help in getting the wives of new members acquainted with the facilities of the club and to meet other wives. The group will also plan many of the club's parties and assume other jobs designated by the board of directors of the club.

Among the plans for the coming year are a Tom and Jerry-Egg Nog dinner party on Friday, Dec. 9 from 6 to 8:30 for members only. The auxiliary is already working on the arrangements for this affair which the women hope will be an annual event.

Other plans include the annual Easter Brunch and Easter egg hunt for the children, decorating the clubhouse for the various holidays and the monthly luncheons which will be open to members and guests. These will be held the third Wednesday of each month and will feature fashion shows and speakers.

The steering committee hopes to have the by-laws completed by the first of the year so that formal organization of the group can then take place.

'Treated Like Honored Friends' Say Marin Visitors To Japan

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The Samuel Newsoms of Mill Valley and the George Wheelwrights of the Green Gulch Ranch in Southern Marin have just returned from Japan where they had the fascinating experience of living in Japanese inns like the Japanese themselves.

At the end of October the foursome left San Francisco on a Japanese freighter and arrived in Yokohama. Since Newsom had lived in Japan five years and can speak and write the language, he was able to guide the group to the most interesting spots, where they saw and experienced what isn't usually available to tourists.

"And making it much easier," said Wheelwright, "was the fact that Sam has a great talent for getting along with the Japanese."

An authority on Japanese gardens and oriental art objects, Newsom wrote the first of his three books, "Japanese Gardens," when he lived in Japan, and he and his wife now have the "Greenwood Tree" in Mill Valley.

In view of this interest the high point of the trip for the Newsoms was Kyoto—according to Mrs. Newsom, "The centuries old cultural center of Japan." It was of such world-wide reknown, she said, that during World War II pressure was successfully brought to bear on the military to take extra precautions against bombing, and it suffered no damage at all.

Another high point of the trip, Mrs. Newsom said, was staying in an ancient Buddhist temple at Koyasan on top of a mountain, which they reached by cable car.

For the Wheelwrights the loveliest spot was Amanahashidate, literally "The bridge that reaches to heaven." The "bridge," Wheelwright explained, is a string of little islands across a bay. There were no English or American people there at all.

But all four of the travelers agreed that living in the Japanese inns was especially delightful.

HONORED FRIENDS

"On entering one of these inns you are given wooden shoes to replace your own, and if you arrive in the evening, the first procedure is the hot bath. They take your clothes away, and you may not see them again until you leave the inn.

"Everyone washes first—for cleanliness—before going into the hot bath, which is really for the effect of the heat. On coming out of the bath you are given a light inner kimono and an outer heavier one, and that is what you wear from then on even if you go out shopping or walking in the garden or on the streets.

"When you go to your room, you are greeted by your personal maid, who prepares and serves dinner in your room. While she removes the dinner things, you are supposed to go walking, either in your private garden—every room in many Japanese hotels has its own garden—or in the streets.

"Japanese streets are likely to be dull, for the people don't believe in exposing beauty publicly, but inside everything is considered from the artistic standpoint.

"Even the food is so beautiful you hate to spoil it with your chopsticks.

"One of the old sayings," Wheelwright quoted, "is that American food smells best, Japanese food looks best, and Chinese food tastes best.

"While the guests are out walking the maid lays the bedding on the floor, and when you return, you go to bed in your inner kimono, lying on the mats and pillows stuffed with rice hulls and covered by quilts, one sometimes of silk with a sheet sewn over it, and a feather one on top of that.

EYE APPEAL

"In the morning," Wheelwright continued, "the first thing the eye sees is the exquisitely grained wood in the roof. Everything is selected according to eye appeal.

"To some this way of life might sound primitive, but it's actually very sophisticated."

Above all the Wheelwrights and Newsoms were impressed with the good will of the people. "Japan and America must get together and be good friends," was the feeling often expressed Mrs. Newsom said.

Before returning to this country the Wheelwrights went to Hong Kong and returned home a week earlier than the Newsoms.

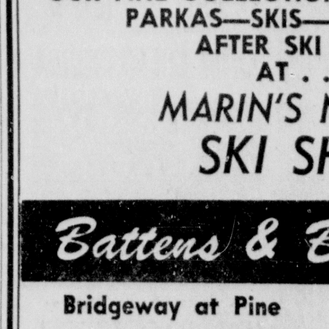

Newsom hopes to have his latest book on "Bonsai for Westerners" off the press by Christmas. It will describe procedures for producing the famous dwarf trees, based on Japanese methods but using short cuts.

While the Newsoms were gone their eight-year-old daughter Chipps and five-year-old son, Sambo stayed with the family of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Aird in Mill Valley.

Glamor Prevails At Style Show, Luncheon Of St. Rita's Guild

Glamor took over when St. Rita's Women's Guild of Fairfax held its fashion show and luncheon Wednesday at the Meadow Club. Attractive members paraded gowns which would be wonderful for any holiday party. Shown also were luxurious house coats and lounging attire and some coats and suits. Smart hats and exotic jewelry complemented the outfits.

Mrs. George Genis appeared on the runway in a black matte jersey dress. The low cut bodice had rows and rows of ruffled organdie. Mrs. Louis Ardito was dashing in a three piece red jersey knit. Her overblouse was a leopard print. A camel wool jersey dress with long and full chiffon sleeves of the same color were the sports coordinates modeled by Mrs. Donald Stader.

Lovely and feminine was the white chiffon evening gown worn by Mrs. Leo Tormanen and her red crystal necklace and earrings were a delightful accent. Perfect for a formal party was the luscious purple satin short evening dress, with interesting slit sleeve detail and bows on the shoulders. The full skirt emphasized the slender waist of Mrs. Robert MacLean, the model. A "Golden Girl" cocktail dress of gold brocade was modeled by Mrs. Warren McGuire. The high neckline had its one "built in" jewelry, beading and rhinestones. Rust accessories were worn by Mrs. Armand Pelleriti with a wool plaid in green and beige. Her jewelry was gold. A brass tweed shade was the coat of Mrs. Daniel Kelly, which had a dyed to match beaver collar. Mrs. Daniel Miller, who gave a lively and informative commentary said, "When in doubt, dye to match."

Mrs. F. M. Lara was a show stopper in a stunning gold brocade sheath and slightly fitted matching long coat. Mrs. Edward Chouinard was all ready for a dancing party in a red satin gown which had a softly rounded neckline and full skirt. Petite Mrs. Robert Stout modeled a pumpkin colored bulky knit sweater with gold and green plaid tapered pants. Designed for the holidays was the gown of Mrs. William Kessel, solid gold sequined bodice and gold chiffon skirt. She carried a long satin fringed stole in a shade of spice. Mrs. Arthur O'Leary was models chairman and Mrs. Jack Herrero, fashion coordinator.

Under the direction of Mrs. Edward Monaghan, decorations chairman, the club was colorful with glittering Christmas ornaments. The members also made decorations for the home. These varied and attractive wares sold at a table in the lounge.

Frilly white net Christmas trees decorated the tables in the dining room where luncheon was served before the style showing. Mrs. Edwin Ezekiel was chairman of the waitress contingent and Mrs. Charles Donnellan, co-chairman. The waitresses, all members of the guild, had gay holiday aprons of net.

Members and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Lawrence McCormick, president, Mrs. Keith Yetter, general chairman, and committee members including those on the hostess committee headed by Mrs. John Courter.

Old Cook Books Sought For Display

A call for old cook books was issued today. They are wanted for a display at San Rafael Hospital to mark the re-publication of the hospital recipe collection, "Favorite Fare," under auspices of the Women's Auxiliary.

"We are interested in all old cook books," said Bell, "and particularly those published in the various Marin County towns. We have as a starter copies of the 1898 and 1906 San Rafael Cook Books, loaned by Miss Edythe Foster."

Marin residents who are willing to lend their old cook books for the display are asked to see or telephone Bell at the hospital, where he is senior laboratory technologist.

Junior Museum Movie Lecture Series To Begin On Nov. 29

Do you have that secret or not so secret desire to travel? Merely because of the nature of our organized lives it is next to impossible to see all the faraway places of our dreams. The Junior Museum of Marin will give you a chance to enjoy all the pleasures of travel through the special presentation of a color movie-lecture series featuring authorities in their field to take you on these visual trips.

The "World Around Us" Series will begin Nov. 29 and will include five special programs, one each month through April 17. Blumenfeld Theaters have donated the use of the Fairfax Theater for this Junior Museum project.

Tuesday, Nov. 29 — "Mysterious Yucatan; For Countless Centuries the Home of the Gifted Maya Indians," presented by James W. Metcalf.

"Nepal is no longer 'Forbidden,' but it is still remote . . . still off the beaten path . . . and still has a ring of mystery. Earl Brink's color camera has captured this strange and primitive land in all its living glory."

Monday, Feb. 13 — "Polynesian Paradise," presented by Arthur Dewey.

"Alice and Arthur Dewey filmed this paradise in the glowing colors of Gauguin's oils and Michener's words—all recorded against an authentic background of lovely island music."

Monday, March 20—"The Penguin Egg and IGY," presented by Dr. Carl Eklund.

All performances begin at 8 p. m.

Season tickets for the five showings will be available for the entire series. Frank George of Redwood Travel Agency, a tour guide and lecturer, will handle the tickets exclusively at the agency office on Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Jr. High Camp Fire Girls Dry Ski Lesson Set Tonight

All Junior High Camp Fire Girls of District 2 are invited to attend a dry land ski lesson tonight from 7:30 until 9 at the E Street School in San Rafael.

The lesson precedes a ski trip which is planned for this winter, and is essential for all girls who plan to go. Instructor for the lesson will be the Austrian skiier, Johnnie Yankow.

Other activities of Junior High Camp Fire Girls by individual groups have been a trip to the opera and a camping trip to Kilowana. Mrs. Thomas E. Gilboy of Kentfield is leader of both a seventh and an eighth grade group, with co-leaders Mrs. Richard Williams, and Mrs. Andrew Stockton. They purchased a block of tickets to the opera and took both groups of girls, with several other guests to hear "Gianni Schiiei" and the ballet, "Con Amore," with Sally Bailey. They had box seats to the matinee performance, which was given in English, making it a memorable occasion for 20 Camp Fire Girls and leaders.

Those who attended were Lois Richert, Laura Klein, Beth Voorhees, Kathy Magruder, Melanie Lines, Pamela Myers, Wendy Williams, Alexis Arnold, Marian Gilboy, Josette Sommers, Andrea Stockton, Joan Kimball, Janice Van Gutman, Kathy Mullen, Cindy Doherty, Ann Woodhull, Lynn and Kathy Schmitz, Joan Weiners, Karen Brainerd, Cherilyn Gilboy.

Many of these same girls spent the weekend of Nov. 11 and 12 at Camp Kilowana, earning requirements for Torch-Bearer and Fire Maker Ranks. Between storms the girls blazed a trail to show their ability in woodsmanship. While it rained, they helped prepare Kilowana for winter by cleaning and painting.

Gilliam To Attend Gift Gallery

Appearance of Harold Gilliam, author of "San Francisco Bay," will be the highlight Sunday of the closing afternoon of the Family Service League's Christmas Gift Gallery.

Gilliam will autograph copies of his new book, "The Face o San Francisco," a geographic and historic study of the city, illustrated by 200 photographs taken by Phil Palmer.

Gilliam will be present at the Frances Young Gallery of the Marin Art and Garden Center Sunday from 3 to 4 p. m. Books ordered on any days of the gift display, Friday, Saturday or Sunday, will be autographed if the purchaser requests.

Over 200 people crowded the display at the champagne opening. Hostesses who assisted Mrs. Arnold Weiser in passing refreshments included Mesdames W. B. Everest, Barry Brennan and E. Allen Steinau Jr., from Belvedere; Robert Elliott, Martell Smith and William Searles of Mill Valley; Theodore Olsen and David Hawkins of Corte Madera, and Russell Dwyer, Joseph Wilner and A. N. Green of Kentfield.

The weekend hours of 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday and 11:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday are for the convenience of working people who would like to select Christmas gifts from the 200 items displayed by 42 Marin shops. The show is open to the public free of charge.

Mother Wants Mink For Christmas Gift

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new study of our shopping habits shows that mamma overwhelmingly wants mink for Christmas.

But the same study shows the average American family spends $147 on Christmas giving, which just about rules out mink for mamma unless it's third hand or just a set of collars and cuffs instead of a coat.

What women listed first in their preferences for Christmas presents ran—quite naturally, I'd say—to costly items—mink coats and fur pieces and jewelry and perfumes, a new car, even a trip.

But those surveyed apparently held slim hope of getting their number one choices, because they very practically listed a bunch of other welcome gifts—mostly items for the home. Twenty-six per cent would be pleased with household goods, 24 per cent listed some item of clothing with sweaters high in the ratings, and five per cent asked for a sewing machine — the one household item most often mentioned.

Major appliance choices ran to refrigerators and dishwashers. In small appliances, the electric mixer was mentioned most frequently.

Other household items on the wanted list included hurricane lamps, furniture covers, records, tablecloths, stereo equipment and electric blankets.

Only two per cent of the women asked for money.

The study, which the makers believe is the first large-scale one in the gift buying field, was done by the Market Facts Research Organization, for the Chicago Printed Spring Co., which makes gift wrappings.

Market Facts talked with 149 housewives in each of three major markets — urban and suburban areas of Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia. The average age of the women, all married, was 40. The average family size was 3.67 members. Average family income was $6,550 yearly.

Projecting its findings, the researchers predicted an exchange of 1.5 billion Christmas presents this year, costing $7.35 billion. Non-Christmas purchases (for mother's and father's days, for weddings, showers, birthdays and so on) add up to more than Christmas spending—an estimated $10.5 billion annually.

The researchers found the average price paid for a non-Christmas gift was $7.48; the average price paid for a Christmas gift is $4.91.

The lady of the house does most of the Christmas shopping for the whole family — 83 per cent of all purchases, says the survey.

The women were pretty positive of what they wanted for Christmas, but 42 per cent did not know what they would give their husbands.

Band Box Guild And Juniors Plan Future Events At Meets

Divided by age but united in spirit is the newly reorganized Band Box Club composed of students and former students of the John Robert Powers School in San Rafael.

By popular consent Band Box was divided into two clubs: the Band Box Guild, which is composed of women 21 years of age and over, and the Junior Auxiliary Band Box, which includes teens to 20-year-olds.

Separate meetings were held recently to schedule events for the holidays and the coming year. Both groups decided to provide activities for members which will be both social and community service in nature.

The first meeting of the Junior Auxiliary Band Box was held at 1000 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. Members present were Charlotte Huebner, Gail Barnett, Susan Brown, Dianne Rogers, Gail Sanders, Marilyn Kascel and Margo Moulton.

Among events scheduled by this group was a Band Box Revue to be held at the Marin Jewish Community Center Monday night, Dec. 5, which will include a fashion show presented by the beginning and professional classes, and a play entitled "The Ring of Enchantment," performed by the professional drama class.

Other future events will be an open house on Dec. 27 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stansell, Christmas carols at the Cedars home in Ross, an ice-skating party at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco, a fashion show at the Napa Hospital, a hayride, a party to attend the "Nutcracker Suite" ballet, and a spring fashion show for the professional graduating class.

Officers were elected and committees set up for the coming year and hostesses were selected to assist in the Band Box Revue, which will be a joint venture of the two groups.

Instead of an admission charge for the revue donations will be accepted to be given to the Family Service Agency to use in any way the agency considers most beneficial.

The Band Box Guild also agreed to assume aid to retarded children as its project for the coming year, with special emphasis on the Point 2 retarded children's school in Mill Valley.

On Dec. 8 Guild members plan to attend the fashion show and luncheon at Ondine's in Sausalito.

Grandmothers Donate To Park

Members voted to add 100 dollars to the recreation fund for Novato's future park. They also voted to donate a check to the high school bleacher's fund.

Members brought groceries for Christmas baskets and it was agreed that turkeys would be purchased.

Mrs. Ethel Murphy, president, greeted Mrs. George Hall, a new member. She also appointed Mrs. Wayne Tharp as welfare chairman; Mrs. A. J. Cain, chaplain, Mrs. Ross Stangle, sunshine lady; Mrs. Frank Green, publicity; Mrs. L. Brunsing, program chairman; Mrs. M. G. Freeman, subscription.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. Brunsing, 32 Grove Lane on Dec. 14. At this time the Secret Pals will be revealed.

Music Topic Set For Park P-TA

"The Eternal Triangle and Instrumental Music" will be the topic of discussion at Park School auditorium Monday evening starting at 8 p.m.

All parents of children enrolled in the instrumental music program of the Mill Valley Elementary School District have been urged to attend.

David Reed, instrumental music teacher for the district, will discuss the importance of communication and cooperation among parent, student and teacher in order to have a successful music program.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

Guidance Counsellor

Child's Confidence Wanes When He's Not Important To Parents

Do you have a timid child, or baby who is afraid, shy and worried? He needn't stay that way. Self-confidence can be built.

The job starts at birth.

The way you treat your baby gives him his image of himself. Does he know he's important to you? Does he sense your love for him? Does he feel safe? If he does, then his image of himself is good and he is secure.

Weaning and toilet training have much to do with self-confidence. Do you yell, scold, punish and expect the impossible? Then his anxieties grow. He feels inadequate and unworthy. You should take it easy. Show pleasure at his progress; don't punish his unavoidable slips.

The third difficult period comes when he starts school. Is he rushed into reading too fast? Does he fail, and fail again? Then he decides he's dumb and his shyness increases. Does he succeed and enjoy school? Then he gains self-confidence.

His health matters greatly. If he has allergies take him to the right doctor. If he doesn't get enough sleep rearrange his schedule. If he lacks muscular coordination give him corrective exercises. If he lacks the skills boys need on the playground help him acquire them.

Your present attitude will either help or hinder him. Are you sarcastic? Do you make him feel foolish? Do you punish him more heavily than needed? Then his fears continue.

Do you support him, let him know you're always on his side, give him opportunities to prove he's growing up? Then his doubts recede.

The Laughter Of Children
Is Part Of An

EICHLER HOME

We've never won an award for making children happy (although we HAVE won more awards than any home builder anywhere). And we can't promise that your children will be happy and laughing, EVERY DAY of the year—but this we do know: YOUR children will have more freedom and fun in an EICHLER than any other home built today.

WHY? Because EICHLER homes in sunny, charming Terra Linda Valley were architect designed especially for today's young families. 4 and 5 bedrooms, always 2 or 3 baths, radiant heated floors that children can play on in the middle of winter. Phillipine mahogany paneled walls everywhere that will withstand even the fiercest onslaughts of the young ones. Patented kitchen cabinet doors that are removable for easy cleaning and no hardwood for the children to smudge.

ROOM galore inside and out for play. And every home has a delightful private play area for the children. More freedom for the children, less work for you and more time to enjoy EICHLER'S exclusive inner court . . . Complete privacy and open to the sky.

If you're looking for the car that's one-in-a-million, then see this one before you do anything else.
Original couple bought it new from local Olds. dealer in '55 and traded on new Electra Buick.
It's all Arctic white without so much as a scratch on the original paint. The blue interior is absolutely as clean as the cars on our floor.
Has all the extras including power steering, power brakes, hydramatic, radio, heater, w/w tires and the works.
It's so clean you'll have to call the original owner, to make sure it's real.

Gallery Show To Continue

With 112 Marin artists represented, the Rental Gallery Show presented by the Marin Society of Artists will continue until Dec. 6 at the Frances Young Gallery in Ross.

More than 200 patrons attended the opening of the show Nov. 13, buying or renting 45 paintings or mosaics to decorate their homes and offices.

The gallery is open from to to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays.

The gallery offers a wide selection of crafts, which are for sale, and paintings and mosaics rent for fees varying from $5 to $11 for three months. A work may be rented for one year maximum.

Judging the works for the show were Winifred Kock of San Rafael, Warren Brandon and Nat Levy of San Francisco, Frederick Herschleb of Ross, and Robert Carleton, Corte Madera.

Soviet Film To Be Shown In Novato

The Soviet film, "The Stone Flower," will be presented next Wednesday at 7:30 in the Novato High School gymnasium by the Novato Community Ambassadors to raise funds for the American Field Service program.

"The Stone Flower" is based on a volume of Russian folk legends by Pavel Bazhov. It is the tale of a young stone carver and travels into a dream realm of artistic ideals, with unusual use of a new color process.

A short film, "Bayaderka Ballet," showing the traditional Russian ballet performed by the ensemble of the Leningrad State Academy Theater of Opera and Ballet, will also be shown.

The American Field Service provides exchange of high school students between the U. S. and other countries.

Chrysler Ready To End Production Of De Soto Cars

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. will halt all production of its De Soto line next month and there will be no car with the De Soto name plate for at least another year.

Chrysler said the halt of production will end that name on cars of the size and description of the current models.

The corporation is considering introducing a small sports car in 1962, and using the De Soto name, but the De Soto passenger car will come to an end.

Dodge and Chrysler divisions of Chrysler already are signing up dealers who carry De Soto.

Consultant Service Seeks Incorporation

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan announced Management Technology International, a San Francisco industrial consulting service, has filed articles of incorporation with his office, to be capitalized with 2500 no par shares.

Directors of the company were listed as Burwell A. Wilson and Fred Weissler of San Francisco and Wilbur L. Reed, 68 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera.

In Theater Drama

Decorations To Be Sold At Center

Made by members of the Center's Decorations Guild, sponsor of the annual event, the decorations will be appropriate for use on buffet tables or for formal dinners and luncheons over the Christmas holidays.

Each arrangement will be an original creation of one of the Guild members, according to Mrs. Marion F. Ludlow of San Rafael, Greens Sale chairman.

Currently on display and available to pre-sale shoppers are many other articles from the Guild work rooms, where a dozen or more members of the group meet every day to prepare for the mid-December event. These articles include wreaths of varying sizes, miniature trees ranging in height from six inches up, door swags, wall plaques, and novelty items.

Games Planned For Club Funds

A game party will be held at 8 p. m. today by the Stinson Beach Parent-Teacher Club at the Stinson Beach Community Center, in an effort to raise funds for youth activities.

At the club's meeting Tuesday members voted unanimously to sponsor the newly formed boys' club being directed by Deputy Sheriff Peter A. Lampros.

Parent-Teacher Club volunteers, according to President Adelaide McCready, will assist the Stinson Beach Progressive Club at a general meeting to be held at 8 p. m. Dec. 7 at the center to discuss unionization of Stinson Beach and Bolinas School Districts.

Yank To Join Russ Scientists

PALO ALTO (UPI)—C. Stewart Gillmor, 22, Stanford University student, will soon join Russian scientists in the Antarctic for a year's study, the university announced yesterday.

Gillmor of Kansas City, Mo., will conduct a study of ionospheric effects for the National Bureau of Standards laboratory at Boulder, Colo.

The trip was being sponsored under the auspices of the 12-nation Antarctic treaty, which provides freedom of study for scientists invited to any of the bases on the frozen continent.

Malta has been a British Crown Colony since 1814.
